WATCH TUESDAY ELECTIONS FOR 1932 HARBINGER

Control of House Is Also in Balance.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 1.—[Special.]—The political pot is beginning to boil. Five contests decided by elections on Tuesday and a number of state elections will furnish the setting for the first skirmishes between the Republican and Democratic hosts on the eve of the pitched battle over the presidency next year.

The elections to be held in the house of representatives may settle whether that closely divided body will be organized by the Republicans or the Democrats and in any event these and other trials by ballot that day will indicate whether the tide of popular favor is still running against the party in power in Washington to the degree disclosed by the congressional elections last year.

If the Democrats should capture two more seats or governorships or extend their normal voting strength in any of the contests the results would be hailed by the Jeffersonians as a harbinger of success in the presidential election. The Republicans will look the worst is over if they can hold their own.

Fresh Rumblings of Revolt.

The last week has been enlivened by fresh rumblings of revolt against the Hoover administration. First Senator Hiram Johnson [Rep., Cal.] broke forth with a denunciation of the President, charging that he is bringing the country into the league of nations by sending a delegate to sit with the league on the Sino-Japanese dispute in Manchuria.

Mr. Johnson spoke of recourse to the ballot to undo what Mr. Hoover has done, which many politicians construed to be an intimation that Mr. Johnson contemplates entering the race against the President for the nomination.

Borah Also Flirting.

Senator William E. Borah [Rep., Idaho], it has also been disclosed, is flirting with certain groups planning organized opposition to the renomination of the President. A good many politicians regard it highly conceivable that Senators Borah, Johnson, and Robert M. La Follette [Rep., Wis.], and Gov. Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania, will pool their opposition to the President in the direct presidential primary states, each one working with the support of the others in the particular state in which to run count on doing the most damage to the President. The Hoover opposition is known to have its eye on Illinois as a fruitful field for its endeavors.

Notwithstanding these ebullitions of discontent with the administration on the part of the anti-Hooverite leaders who look for any other result than the renomination of the President, who in the paper delegations from the Republican rotten boroughs of the south will have one-third of the convention in his vest pocket to begin with.

Smith and Roosevelt Tilt.

Of outstanding interest in the New York elections will be the referendum on a constitutional amendment authorizing scientific reforestation which is sponsored by Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, leading candidate for the Democratic nomination for President and is opposed by Former Gov. Al Smith, titular head of his party.

The congressional by-elections will be in two districts in Ohio, one in Michigan, one in Pennsylvania and two in New York. Three are Republican, two Democratic normally. The only one in which upsets are reported as possible are the Longworth district in Ohio and the Vincent district in Michigan. There are now 213 Republicans, 214 Democrats, one Farmer-Laborer and seven vacancies in the house.

The Republicans hold their ground in every division at the time of the presidential election, provided there are no deaths, will be 217 Republicans, 216 Democrats, one Farmer Laborer, one vacancy. Whether a Republican or Democratic speaker is elected will depend on the votes of Magnus Kvale [Farmer-Labor, Minn.] and Wisconsin La Follettetes threatening to vote for Representative John Garner of Texas, should he the Democratic candidate.

J. RAGLAN PATCHMORE SUBMITS TO INTERVIEW

DISCUSSES TRIP TO SOUTH AND BACK—OFFERS SEVERAL REMEDIES FOR DEPRESSION

Mr. J. Raglan Patchmore, who has been a chronic sufferer of the depression of 1893 as well as the charter member of the army of unemployed, returned to the city two days ago after a short trip toward the south.

He was still short of breath when

Mr. Patchmore was still out of breath—

found by a reporter last evening. His breath was coming in shorts. Except for the marks of two days' perspiration, unusual in Mr. Patchmore, he was looking the same as usual, only more so.

"There have been alarming rumors of your return to the city," said the scribe, pleasantly, "in spite of optimistic reports to the contrary, doubtless circulated by the City Beautiful commission."

"Yeah," remarked the noted Apostle of Inertia.

"It is believed the alarming rumors were started by professional bear operators to break the market, but stocks have stood firm except for the rails and public futilities, which lost ten or fifteen points."

The rumors were circulated by bear operators.

Mr. Patchmore took a cigar from the sidewalk and relighted it. He was not impressed by the drop in rail values because he always uses the ties more than the rails. However, he tactfully changed the subject, the only thing he has changed since the depression of '93.

"Yes," said he, briskly, "I had to hurry back to the city, in which movement I had the hearty cooperation of numerous public officials along the way. I broke several nonstop records and when I reached Chicago I was going so fast that I nearly ran into the lake—and that would have been terrible!" As he thought of this he probably turned pale.

"You take a very pessimistic view, Mr. Patchmore. This is no time for pessimism. However, tell me the story of your travels. The newspaper readers are always interested in your travels, and the more you travel the more they are interested."

"Well," began the Rest Magnate, "it was this way. I spent the summer safely in Chicago while the fever of harvesting activity passed the contagious stage in the country. Then there was a change for the worse in the weather, with predictions of snow flurries. So I started south before the city found itself in the grip of a demand for snow shovelers."

"You visited a number of cities, I suppose," supposed the reporter, sharpening several pencils.

"Yes, but I didn't stop. There has been a great change in the community attitude toward tourists who are traveling solely for their health. Formerly I was greeted by the city greeters and invited to be a guest of the cities for ten days, sometimes for thirty and sixty days. They wouldn't take no for an answer. Now I was met at the outskirts of the cities and personally conducted to the outskirts on the other side of the cities."

Formerly I was met by the city greeters.

"What was the reason for this extraordinary behavior?," asked the reporter, aghast—or at least two-thirds aghast.

"They thought I was trying to steal a job away from the local job seekers. The idea! I've never taken a job away from any man. If there were a million jobs I wouldn't take one for fear of depriving some honest workman of a job."

Unwilling to deprive any one of a job.

"It's probably due to the number of people out of work during the depression."

"What depression?" asked Mr. Patchmore, politely.

"Hadn't you heard there was a depression—a slowing up of industry and a shortage of work?"

"No, I hadn't heard," answered the Rest Specialist. "How should I have heard of it? In fact, I've noticed less change than formerly but I supposed it was because everybody was so busy they were in a hurry. They hurry past me whenever I try to float a long term loan."

"Well, it's surprising you haven't heard at least some rumors about this depression. It's been causing talk. Everybody's prescribing remedies to cure it. It seems to be a case of too many doctors. By the way, Mr. Patchmore, perhaps you could suggest a remedy. You are the greatest authority on depressions."

Mr. Patchmore was in deep thought for some moments, scratching his head first with a toothpick and then more earnestly with both hands. In this way, a remedy was eventually flushed from its hiding place.

"Of course I have a remedy," he said at length. "People should stop hoarding their money. They should put it in circulation, and anything I can do in this emergency will be gladly done. They should go to work and thus decrease competition with those otherwise inclined. The banks should stop lending money to Europe at a time when Europe is talking about renigging on the debts they already owe us. Let them lend their money here at home! They wouldn't lose any more lending to me than they are losing in lending to Europe. We should have energetic leadership! I have always believed in leadership and I have always led, sometimes by a good distance and sometimes by only a few inches. And lastly"—here a strangely eager light sprang into his eyes—"there should be a wider distribution of wealth!"

Mr. Patchmore, viewed from the south.

I have always believed in leadership.

The reporter handed him a dime and an instant later Mr. Patchmore disappeared in a cloud of dust.

EVIDENCE BARES JAPANESE PLOT TO GRAB MUKDEN

BULLETIN.

LONDON, Nov. 2.—(Monday.)—(AP)—A Reuters Agency dispatch from Tokio today said Japan declared she is unable to accept China's proposal for direct negotiations on the Manchurian problem on the basis of the resolution adopted by the league of nations council Oct. 24. The dispatch said the Japanese government insists on the recognition of its five fundamental points as a prerequisite to the withdrawal of troops from the area.

BY JOHN POWELL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MUKDEN, Manchuria, Oct. 6.—[By Mail.]—While opinion among American and European business men here is divided on whether Japan's extensive military intervention in south Manchuria was justified, there is complete unity of opinion that the original incident which precipitated the intervention could not have been committed by Chinese troops.

This refers to the alleged blowing up of the tracks of the South Manchuria railway at 10:30 p. m. on Sept. 18. The writer has not only visited the scene of the explosion, along with official American observers, but has talked with numerous Chinese and foreign residents of the Manchurian capital and to date has not found a single individual who believes the Chinese troops were responsible for the incident.

Deny There Was Explosion.

Chinese peasants who till their cabbage farms along the right-of-way of the railway declare there was no explosion on the night of Sept. 18. They also denied that Chinese soldiers were hiding in the field nearby. This controverts the Japanese allegation that at least 300 Chinese soldiers were hiding in the field and that fire was opened on the Japanese troops in the vicinity.

This point is considered important, because upon it hinges an issue which is of international consequence: did the Japanese military establishment deliberately precipitate the Mukden incident and occupy all strategic points in South Manchuria without the knowledge or consent of the Tokio cabinet?

Japanese Versions Conflict.

The Japanese military authorities themselves have issued several conflicting statements. The most authoritative report, issued from Gen. Honjo's headquarters in Mukden on Oct. 2, fourteen days after the incident, said that a squad of Japanese soldiers was holding "night" maneuvers along the railway tracks when they heard an explosion 158 yards away. Turning about they observed in the moonlight some Chinese soldiers running away. The Japanese fired, according to the report, and killed four of the Chinese.

The commander of the Japanese squad, Lieut. Karumata, immediately sent two of his men for reinforcements. One of the couriers ran back about a mile and a half to where a Japanese company of some 140 to 150 men were also holding "night" maneuvers. The other man went to the nearest telephone and summoned reinforcements from the barracks at Mukden.

Charge Chinese Open Fire.

The Japanese report claims that while this was going on Lieut. Karumata and the remainder of his squad were being subjected to heavy rifle fire from some 300 Chinese soldiers in an adjoining field. Reinforcements, consisting of one battalion of about 700 men, arrived and launched an attack on the Chinese North barracks, nearby, in which, it is alleged, were from 7,000 to 10,000 soldiers. The barracks was captured.

None of the reports issued by the headquarters of Gen. Honjo said anything about Japanese artillery fire which supported the Japanese infantry attack on the barracks. This, observers point out, was obviously a strange omission, as the ruins of the barracks give evidence of wreckage caused by high explosive shells. One reason which is cited in explanation of the Japanese omission is that the artillery fire was directed from heavy guns, probably 6 inch howitzers, which were fired from fixed positions in the Japanese concession in Mukden, at least five miles from the barracks.

It required considerable search to find these gun positions, but according to authoritative report in Mukden, the guns were found on permanent concrete foundations on a vacant lot surrounded by a high board fence ad-

Hunt Aliens Smuggled to U. S. by Ring

Terror was spread in Chinatown yesterday. Forty federal agents and uniformed policemen invaded the district around 22d street and Wentworth avenue, searching for smuggled aliens. About 500 Chinese were questioned, 150 were temporarily detained, and 42 were locked up for the night to await deportation orders.

Twenty-eight immigration inspectors and 12 city policemen arrived in Chinatown in squad cars at 3 p. m. Before they were out of their cars Chinese were running as if their lives were at stake. They scrambled onto street cars, into taxicabs, and up narrow stairways that led to secret exits in the rear.

Paul Reveres Hit the Trail.

Paul Revere set out in all directions shouting warnings in Chinese as they passed each shop front and waving at heads that peeped out of windows above.

The raiders had a list of 70 addresses found by undercover men to be frequented by smuggled aliens. They hurried to as many of these places as possible before all the occupants had fled. All those seen leaving the addresses on the list were chased, many of them being pulled off street cars by their coat tails and others seized when they became jammed in narrow doorways.

Soon after the first suspects had been questioned and the word had spread that it was an alien smuggling and not a narcotic investigation, the American born Chinese gathered fearlessly around street corners and sought to help their brothers in distress.

Crowds Gather in Shops.

Shops which had not been listed by the undercover agents were soon filled. Noses were pressed against window panes as slant, inscrutable eyes peered out into seething 22d street.

All persons found in the shops visited were questioned.

"Have you got a chock chee or a chee gee?" they were asked. If they had a chock chee, a permit of entry as a laborer, or a chee gee, which covers all other forms of legal status, the prisoners were compared with the pictures on the documents and released.

Those without papers were hustled to a Chinese gambling house at 204 West 22d street for a second weeding out process. After the questioning there, those remaining in custody were loaded into patrol wagons and taken to the detective bureau for the night.

An Old Chinese Custom.

This questioning grew monotonous for the federal agents and the policemen. Every one of their prisoners who could not prove by documents that he had been born in this country gave his birthplace as San Francisco and his age in the thirties.

This is a Chinese custom dating back to the San Francisco fire of 1906, according to the immigration inspectors. The Chinese know that the vital statistics of San Francisco were destroyed by the fire, and that if they give their ages as more than 25 they have a chance to escape.

The routine of examination is: 1. "Where were you born?" 2. "How old are you?" The Chinese know this, and they answer in order, "San Francisco," "thirty-six."

Garason Gives Demonstration.

Murray W. Garason, special assistant secretary of labor, demonstrated this. He selected a Chinese at random and asked the questions in reverse order.

"How old are you?"

"San Francisco," was the answer.

"Where were you born?"

"Thirty-six," said the Chinese.

The aliens are so audacious in their

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 1.—[Special.]—Behind the huge marble pillars and the cavern-like entrance of 55 Wall street, the home of the National City bank, known in the street as "the Rockefeller bank," there is a quiet room where many of the major industrial and financial problems of the moment are discussed and settled every day.

This is the office of Charles E. Mitchell, chairman of the board of the National City group, chairman of the board of the International Banking corporation, director of the Corporation Trust Company of New York, the Discount corporation, International Telephone and Telegraph company, Anaconda Copper, etc.

A Colonial Atmosphere.

It is said that the panic of 1907 was settled in the library of the elder Morgan, in the midst of beautiful objects of art. The destinies of business, banks, and labor that come here for settlement have the advantage of a colonial atmosphere, pure and serene. Down the street a block, in the cornerstone of the old subtreasury, the first president is engraved in rock as he prays in the wilderness at Valley Forge.

It is not a long step from this appeal to the answer, for in the Mitchell office, which looks more like a drawing room at Mount Vernon than a business headquarters, Washington is shown in various engravings at the height of his power directing the first steps of the new nation. There is power and assurance in his face.

In the actuality of the scene before us lies another unfoldment. The smartly dressed, gray haired man, carnation in his buttonhole, who sits at the mahogany desk at the head of this room, with its cream white woodwork and walls, its antique chairs and pictures, fireplace and grandfather's clock, illustrates the direction that events have taken. He is one who directs the course of billions of financial power over the sea of modern industry.

Turns to Foreign Exchange.

Having just come from a conference on silk and another on copper and having in prospect a meeting of Federal Reserve bank directors, he now turns his attention for a minute to foreign exchange and, learning the condition of the yen, the lire, and the pound, directs the course of the day in this channel.

What is this man thinking about as to the future of America and its next scheme? What new leadership does he find on the national horizon? Are we in a temporary trough or headed for some new kind of deep experience in human progress?

It is found that there is little to be learned along this line. Those who thrill at Wellsian preachments or socialistic prophecies of doom will find little of interest in the calm outlook here. This is a definite philosophy that good for the people flows from above, and there should be no further tinkering with the sacred, if somewhat brutal, laws of supply and demand. Furthermore, world business is not a theory for political debate and insular prejudice, but a fact that must be met.

A Summary of Views.

The immediate situation is seen as follows:

There has been a run on America, from without and within. The first started in London and Paris and spread to central Europe and then the far east. There was a fear that America was going to fall, that the dollar

6,000 Blaze Away at Ducks; Some Too Soon

The legal season for duck hunting in Illinois opened at noon yesterday, and some 6,000 hunters invaded the small lake region in Lake county. The majority went to Grass, Fox, Pistakee and Nippersink lakes.

Weather conditions were ideal and the holiday released hundreds of hunters from their offices and shops. Moreover, there were plenty of ducks. The only disturbing factor was the scattered and watchful presence of deputy state and county game wardens.

Along the shores in weeded blinds, and on the lakes in boats, the shooters were in readiness, awaiting only the stroke of noon to cut loose with a roar of gunfire on the hunting front.

Open Fire Too Soon.

But something happened. At 9 minutes to 12 an overanxious hunter on Grass lake let go, his charge tearing into a flock of coots. The starting signal was premature, according to the watch of Deputy Warden Walter R. Hamberger of Fox lake, but the hunt was on. All over the lake hunters banged away to save their own shots, as the report startled the game.

Deputy Hamberger motioned to Deputy Henry Kern, and between them they bagged three premature hunters and confiscated their guns. They circled Grass lake, unable to halt the 9 minutes of illegal hunting, but caught no more time violators. However, they arrested three men for failure to possess licenses and six men for firing from illegal blinds. Deputy Francis Baker, touring other lakes, bagged ten technical violators. Guns of all were confiscated, and held in lieu of bail. The prisoners were taken to Lake Villa, and ordered to appear today before Judge C. H. Keller.

Only One Casualty Reported.

Only one casualty was reported. He is Otto Rundquest, 45 years old, 6123 Langley avenue. Some unseen hunter fired his way, peppering Rundquest with shot. Dr. Francis Rollins of Fox Lake gave first aid. Rundquest's condition is not serious.

The duck season this year is from Nov. 1 to Nov. 30, inclusive, and on all Lake county lakes but Fox lake, from sunrise to sunset. Fox lake is a refuge and hunting there is limited from noon to 1 p. m.

AUTO, 5 OCCUPANTS PLUNGE 30 FEET OFF STREET; ONLY 1 HURT

An automobile containing two men, two women, and a child plunged through the railing at the north turn of Western boulevard at 31st street early this morning, rolled down a thirty foot embankment, and came to a rest bottom up fifteen feet from the edge of the drainage canal. Only one of the five passengers was hurt.

William R. Holmes, pilot on the freighter Margaret, which was docked in the canal several hundred feet east, heard the crash and ran along the water edge to the wrecked machine. All the occupants were imprisoned inside. Holmes smashed in the door and dragged them out one by one.

They were taken to St. Anthony's hospital, where it was found that Ollie Worden, 30 years old, 721 Ayers court, a mechanic, had received a broken back and may die. His wife, Ann, 26, and their child, Junior, a girl, 18 years old, were shaken up, as were the other passengers, Frank Malinski, 33, 3009 North Christiana avenue, and his wife, Julia, 20.

Malinski, who was driving, failed to notice the jog in the boulevard as it approached the canal and continued straight on, his car tearing through the protective railing and plunging to the bottom of the steep embankment.

Condition of Dr. Frost Is Reported as Serious

Dr. Edwin B. Frost, blind director of Yerkes observatory, Williams Bay, Wis., was reported in a serious condition last night in the Billings Memorial hospital, where he is undergoing treatment for gall bladder disorder. He was taken to the hospital on Monday. Mrs. Frost has been at the noted astronomer's bedside continuously. She said last night that Prof. Frost had a difficult day, with considerable suffering. However, at the hospital this morning it was said Dr. Frost had a good night and appeared somewhat better.

Little Girl in Halloween Dress Dies in Fire Tragedy

Little Elaine Kristensen, 7 years old, had a new dress Saturday. It was a filmy thing of cotton, a Halloween dress the color of a pumpkin and with black cats painted on it. She wore it yesterday to play. In the alley in the rear of her home at 5414 Cortez street there was a bonfire. Elaine's dress was ignited and it burst into flame. She died at the West Suburban hospital last night.

Gunman Steals Taxi and Goes on a Rampage

A drunken gunman in a stolen Yellow cab went on a rampage of robbery on the northwest side late last night, committing between eight and ten holdups in rapid succession and dodging police squads meanwhile.

A squad commanded by Sergt. Dominick Mahon sighted him shortly afterward at Logan boulevard and Albany avenue and fired a dozen shots, riddling the rear of his cab, but failing to hit him. The chase ended in the 2000 block, North Western avenue, when the taxi crashed against an alley fence. The bandit escaped on foot.

Robs Driver of His Cab.

The rampage of robbery started with Robert Simon, 1361 North Kimball avenue, the driver of the cab. Simon picked up the bandit as a supposed fare near the loop. At Sacramento and Edgewood avenues the passenger drew a gun, took Simon's cap, $2.75, and forced him from the machine.

A few minutes later the pseudo-chauffeur held up Sidney Olson, 1120 Elmwood avenue, Oak Park, and Miss Alice Erickson, 2351 North Keystone avenue, at Bingham street and Frances place, robbing them of $4 and a watch. Others robbed were George Jacobson, 3614 Belle Plaine avenue, in front of 2625 North Mozart street; John J. Pasowicz, 2052 Lemoyne avenue, at Altgeld street and Campbell avenue; Paul Stockowich, 2942 North Washtenaw avenue, at Richmond street and Wellington avenue, and Elmer Karcher, 3105 North St. Louis avenue, in front of his home.

Other Robberies Reported.

Jacobson lost $8, as did Stockowich. Pasowicz gave up $7 and Karcher $1.50. Two other holdups were committed at Kedzie avenue and Franklin boulevard and at Altgeld and Richmond streets. Two more complaints were received, but no details were given.

James Simpson Jr. Breaks Ankle when Horse Falls

James Simpson Jr., son of James Simpson, chairman of the board of Marshall Field & Co., is suffering from a broken ankle he received on Saturday when his horse stumbled and fell in jumping a ditch on the Simpson farm near Waukegan. He was out yesterday on crutches. He is a candidate for the Republican nomination for congress.

was not safe any more. That run has been stopped.

The fever at home is still here, although the banking situation is much better than it was ten days ago. There was a time then when there was a hurry call every day for a meeting on an emergency situation. There are some spots that are not in good shape yet. The southwest is nervous, too nervous. Chicago is taking care of itself. Detroit will take care of herself. Cleveland, despite surrounding trouble, is still strong.

One result of all this is that industry is learning something about banking, and the future will see a much closer alliance and a better understanding between these. It has also served to show up our rotten banking system and definite good should come from this.

As for advice to the people generally, it is useless at this time. They cannot be preached out of a depressive frame of mind and no amount of talking is going to dissipate the fact that millions are unemployed. It is a time for action, and for unity in action.

The time has its uses. The leaves of the tree of adversity are for the healing of the nations and the people. People and nations that have gone through trouble together understand each other better ever after.

This country is inherently the richest on earth, and if we put our backs into it and unite to meet this situation we can work out into a sound and permanent prosperity, and we can stand by ourselves despite Europe.

Politically, it should lead to saner legislation. It should not be made a criminal act for men in the same line of business to get together and talk things over for the sensible regulation of their production. Present restrictions lead to waste.

Day to Day Battle.

This is a day to day fight without knowing just what is around the corner. We did not know that England was going off the gold standard, for instance. But there is nothing in sight as a result of all this that leads to any thought of major changes in the social or political structure here or abroad. Men are growing together and a more human spirit has been born. We have learned that we cannot set fire to our neighbor's house without endangering our own. And the heart of America has been shown to be sound and quick to help in the time of trouble. A man in need today does not have to pick up a stone to throw at his neighbor, for that neighbor is ready to reach into his own pocket to help, even though he is pressed himself.

World leadership will pass to Wall street when it has demonstrated its ability to lead and not before. We have been learning a lot in the last three or four years and have found out that we do not know so much about world affairs.

National Planning Discussed.

The National City bank publishes a bulletin every month in which its point of view and economic studies are made known to investors and public. Mr. Mitchell goes over this carefully before it is published. The current issue discusses the popular subject of national planning as follows:

"Nothing in their history or traditions supports for a moment the view that the American people would want a perfectly ordered and stable world at the price they would have to pay for it. Their facility in cooperation would increase, but as individuals they insist on being free. The more complete and compulsory the regimentation provided in the various planning schemes advanced for this country, the more visionary they are, and the less likely ever to win support.

"On the other hand, the less complete the program, and the less supported by legal compulsion, the less effective national planning would be. This is the dilemma upon which the whole argument may be said to break down.

"The system upon which it is urged that overhead planning should be imposed is a system of individual effort, in which each person is free to engage in any honest work within his capacities. Any one who originates a new product, or an idea for a new service, is free to develop it, to obtain capital for promoting it, and to engage in the business of selling it. Any one who can improve upon an old method of producing anything, cheapening the cost of the product and making it available to more people, is free to enter into competition with existing producers.

"The system is one of rivalries and constant change, in which miscalculations are made and confusion occurs, but it has achieved a phenomenally rapid economic progress, raising the standard of living for every one, and has created the reserves which are enabling the people of the country, helping one another, to withstand hard times."

Views on Russia.

Many today are looking at Russia for a way out of economic distress. The National bank view of this is as follows:

"Russia's endeavor is an emergency effort, its main objective being to speed the creation of means of production at an abnormally rapid rate. The effort is possible only because the government rigorously limits the current consumption of the people through a rationing system, and exercises a monopoly on the resulting savings, which it applies to its gigantic construction projects.

"As to the applicability of such methods to the United States the testimony of Prof. Charles A. Beard, an advocate of 'national planning,' will not be considered 'stand pat.' In the Forum magazine for July he said:

"'If capitalism were cursed with all the evils ascribed to it by communists [and it has plenty to its credit], still the American people, on a fair and free count, would vote one hundred to one for keeping it rather than enslave themselves to the kind of political and economic despotism regnant in the land of the former Tsars.'"

Says Problem Will Remain.

"There are many questions and uncertainties involved in the Russian experiment. Omitting all other considerations, even if the experiment achieves its immediate object it will not have solved, any more than our own war time success solved, the problem of keeping world business, highly developed and highly interdependent, in the equilibrium by which alone it can function harmoniously.

"The best way to maintain the equilibrium is to keep the world politically in order, and to leave the governor of the machine, which is prices, free of artificial control. If the world is dissatisfied with this method it will have to submit, not to national planning, but to a world dictatorship."

Business Skies Reported Brightening in All Sections

New York, Nov. 1.—(AP)—A brightening of the business skies was seen today in encouraging reports gathered by the Associated Press from all sections of the United States.

Improvement in the industrial and banking situation was disclosed in every major area. In some the acceleration was marked, while in other zones a strong, confident undertone was found.

In New England, official reports showed some indications of a business upturn and much of the industrial activity that normally pervades that region. The boot and shoe and hat industries have averaged considerably better than last year.

Decided signs of stimulation were recorded in the South Atlantic tobacco and cotton areas. Florida hotel operators reported prospects of a good season with some expansion of their interests.

Banks to Reopen.

In the middle south similar conditions were found. The attitude was decidedly optimistic toward impending reopening of banks closed during the worst of the slump.

In the middle states industrial operations received a quickening message with the weekly statement of the magazine Steel, which reports that automotive buying is coming along, structural steel requirements are gaining moderately, rail orders stand fairly good, steel works operations are steadier, and softness in raw materials prices is more pronounced.

These reports tallied with others from the western states where utilities, crude oil, and wheat had launched themselves upon a fairly active upward trend. Dollar wheat or better was believed by Chicago experts to be in sight, after a general advance of 27 per cent in four weeks, as foreign buyers bid for American grain.

Coupled with brighter news from New England, the National City Bank of New York forecasts better times on the basis of the return of public confidence in banking power and credit. The statement said the liquidity of the country's larger banks, which possess about 40 per cent of the nation's total banking resources, is such they are enabled to extend valuable assistance to many smaller institutions.

Boot and Shoe Output.

The monthly New England review of the Federal Reserve bank of Boston reported for the third quarter of this year a 16 per cent gain over last year's same quarter in the boot and shoe output, a major Massachusetts industry. Mills reported a 28.1 per cent greater consumption of raw wool in the first nine months than last year's corresponding period, with the volume steadily improving.

Rhode Island manufacturing plants increased their pay rolls slightly, the review stated, and New Haven, Conn., reported the impending enlargement of a firearms plant and the addition of another employing 100 persons.

Maine reported employment conditions improving in some localities in October.

Pittsburgh reported between 3,000 and 4,000 men would return to their jobs tomorrow in the Edgar Thompson Steel works, a U. S. Steel subsidiary, on rail orders. The Monongahela railroad reported it needed 2,500 more cars in October than September to haul coal and coke in the Pennsylvania and West Virginia areas.

Chicago Buying Stimulated.

The Chicago area yielded gains in activity of numerous kinds. An increase since October a year ago of 6.3 per cent in electrical consumption in 5,000 communities in 31 middle western, eastern and western states, was reported by Middle West Utilities. The increase has been a steady one since January.

All lines of merchandise in Chicago showed decided buying stimulus last week, the Association of Commerce report stated.

LEADERS RENEW EFFORTS TO AID TILLERS OF SOIL

Land Utilization Policy Is One Objective.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 1.—(AP)—Truth may yet be found by American farmers in the adage, "It's an ill wind that blows nobody good."

Struck by the weakened structure of agriculture, undermined by ten years of adversity, congressional and administration leaders and heads of organized farm groups are renewing their efforts to bolster the foundation with sound economics.

A practical land utilization policy, tax reduction, new rural credits and adjustment of production to consumption—all these today claim more serious attention than ever before.

Meanwhile price advances in wheat and cotton have added millions to their farm values and boosted rural purchasing power.

Stone Sees Definite Gain.

No one is more pleased than Chairman Stone of the farm board, who believes that at last the trend is definitely upward.

Congress undoubtedly will be belabored with farm relief proposals as never before. They will range from the old favorites—the equalization fee and the export debenture—to extension of rural credit and farm debt moratoriums.

While they are being debated, Secretary Hyde is expected to push his plan to line up farm leaders on a land utilization policy which will include recognition of the need for farm tax reduction. He has called a meeting for next month in Chicago to start the movement.

Roosevelt Gives Views.

Such a policy may be found in both party platforms in 1932. Hyde is outspoken for one that would lead to retirement of unprofitable lands. Gov. Roosevelt of New York, Democratic possibility for Presidential candidate, in a recent magazine article stressed the need for land utilization.

Mr. Hoover already has announced he will ask congress for $60,000,000 to strengthen federal land banks and make more credit available. New agricultural credit corporations are being formed.

All these developments, plus the increasing interest shown by business and industrial captains and organizations, may help to lift American agriculture from the marshy places to the firmest highest ground it has ever reached.

CERMAK WANTS A WRINGING WET FOR PRESIDENT

Favors Lewis, but Might Support Roosevelt.

New York, Nov. 1.—[Special.]—Only a "wet" who is not a "pussyfooter" will satisfy Chicago and Illinois Democrats as the presidential nominee of their party next year, it was declared today by Mayor Anton Cermak of Chicago. He arrived in New York on a mission which includes the furtherance of the cause of Senator James Hamilton Lewis for President and a "get together" with New York politicians.

GEN. J. H. LEWIS.

The visit here, which probably will last until at least Wednesday night, was an unexpected decision, according to the mayor, and came while he was in Pittsburgh Saturday afternoon witnessing a football game. He admitted, however, that he was here for "some politics and a little rest." He will urge the Democrats to give the national convention to Chicago.

With a group of political friends and Chicago officeholders, Mayor Cermak arrived at the Pennsylvania station shortly after 8 a. m., to be met by a battery of cameramen. He posed for several pictures and then went to the Hotel New Yorker, where he and his party settled themselves in an room on the thirteenth floor.

Denies Being Peace Maker.

From 10 a. m. until 3 o'clock in the afternoon he met interviewers. On many subjects the mayor was reticent. Among them were Al Capone and the tax problem of Chicago. On politics Mayor Cermak talked willingly, though he refused to commit himself or Chicago Democrats to anything definite in the future except that the party should have a "wet" candidate for President and that Senator Lewis of Illinois had the qualifications.

Occasionally fingering a small rose in the lapel of his coat, the mayor denied he wanted to stop any talk about his visit here as a "peace maker" between Tammany Hall and Gov. Roosevelt.

"If there are any little local troubles here," he said, "they are not any business of mine and certainly I would have no right to take any part in them."

Calls Lewis Strong Figure.

Senator Lewis of Illinois, Mayor Cermak declared, should not be considered only a "favorite son" of Illinois for the Democratic nomination. "In fact that he was elected last year by a majority of nearly 700,000 votes over Ruth Hanna McCormick, he said, puts him a strong figure in the party and one who, in the opinion of Chicago and Illinois Democrats, is entitled to the nomination.

"Whether Senator Lewis is nominated or not, however," he said, "there is one qualification that the nominee must have, and that is that he is an out and out wet, not a pussyfooter who is likely to step from one foot to the other."

Asked if Gov. Roosevelt would satisfy, he said: "If Gov. Roosevelt was wet enough for Alfred E. Smith and wet enough for New York to be elected governor, he is wet enough for us."

Names Other Possibilities.

Others who, the Chicago mayor said, had a following in his state and the quality in the desires of local leaders were Gov. Albert C. Ritchie of Maryland, former Senator James A. Reed of Missouri and Former Gov. Smith.

Senator Lewis, he said, will have all of the votes of the party in Chicago and "probably all of the fifty-eight votes of the state delegation."

Mayor Cermak will see Democratic leaders tomorrow. Among the first he will talk with will be Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City. He will also see former Gov. Smith and John J. Rascob, chairman of the Democratic national committee. He also "hopes," he said, to see Gov. Roosevelt.

ROBERT F. CARR IS MADE ILLINOIS CHIEF OF DEMOCRAT DRIVE

Robert F. Carr, business man, member of the school board appointed by Mayor Cermak, received notice yesterday of his appointment as chairman of the Illinois committee of the victory campaign of the Democratic party. Under the national leadership of John W. Davis, Democratic Presidential nominee in 1924, a drive is being made for $1,500,000 as a "national preparedness fund." Mr. Carr is to present Mr. Davis in this state.

ROBERT F. CARR.

"There has never been a greater national need or a greater opportunity for Democratic victory," wrote Jouett Shouse, executive chairman of the Democratic national committee, to Mr. Carr. "You will proceed at once to enlist as members of your state victory campaign committee a group of friends of the party who will lend their wholehearted efforts in Illinois to the party's preparedness drive for victory in 1932.

"That victory must result in more than the placing in the White House of a Democratic President. It must give him the essential backing of strong Democratic majorities in both branches of congress."

PRIESTS BALK HOLDUP MEN IN CHURCH RECTORY

Two bandits failed in an attempt to rob the rectory of St. Bartholomew's Roman Catholic church yesterday when two priests and a housekeeper, surprised at their dinner, raised an alarm.

The men obtained entrance to the rectory, at 4937 Patterson avenue, by telling the Rev. Sidney J. Morrison, pastor of the church, that they wished to arrange for a funeral. When they entered one of them forced Father Morrison into his office at the point of a gun.

The second robber, who kept his hand in his coat pocket, but did not exhibit a gun, walked to the dining room. There he found the Rev. Francis McLaughlin, assistant pastor, the Rev. Bede Murphy, a visitor, and Mrs. Margaret Bannon, the housekeeper. He ordered them to accompany him back to the office.

However, each ran out a different door of the room. Father McLaughlin went to the second floor and telephoned the police, and Father Murphy and Mrs. Bannon ran into the street and called for help. At that, the robbers fled, driving away in a small sedan. There were several hundred dollars, the Sunday collection, in the safe in the rectory office.

Ecuador Merchants Shut Stores; Oppose Sales Tax

GUAYAQUIL, Ecuador, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Retail merchants went on a selling strike here today against the country's sales tax, which congress proposes to continue in effect, and closed their stores. The wholesale and retail merchants associations held separate meetings and adopted resolutions protesting against the tax.

FIVE KILLED IN TWO HALLOWEEN AUTO ACCIDENTS

Four Die in One Crash; Eight Badly Injured.

Two automobile crashes, in which four parties of Halloween celebrators figured, cost five lives early yesterday. Eight persons were seriously hurt.

Two men and a woman were instantly killed, a third man died later, and four other persons were hurt, three critically, when two automobiles collided with terrific force at California avenue and Howard street. Both cars were wrecked and one was burned. A young man was killed and four members of his family and two other women were injured in a second collision at Mannheim and Roosevelt roads.

Four Die in Crash.

The four survivors of the north side accident were either unconscious last night or too dazed to tell how it happened. Those killed in that accident were Mrs. Eleanor Bennett, 23 years old, 2110 Sherman avenue, Evanston; Louis W. Du Charme, 45 years old, 1700 Juneway terrace, and Anthony Renzo, 30 years old, 2106 West Railroad avenue, Evanston, all of whom died instantly, and George D. Joyce, 45 years old, 1732 Juneway terrace, who died yesterday afternoon at the Rogers Park hospital.

Mrs. Joyce and Mrs. Du Charme, wives of the two dead men, are in a critical condition in the same hospital. Albert C. Bennett, husband of Mrs. Bennett, and her sister, Miss Ruth Almquist, 17 years old, were taken to St. Francis' hospital in Evanston. Bennett will recover, it was said there, but Miss Almquist was in a coma last evening.

The Bennetts, Renzo and Miss Almquist had attended a Halloween party and were on their way to another in Chicago at the time of the accident. They were in costume. The Du Charme and Joyce couples had been at another celebration.

Youth Killed, Four Hurt.

James Hilliger, 24 years old, 9627 South Hamilton avenue, was instantly killed in the Mannheim road crash. He failed to stop at Roosevelt road when driving south on Mannheim road and his car was struck by a car driven by Jerry Kolina, 23 years old, 4342 West 22d street.

Hilliger's father, Frank, 48 years old; his mother, Mrs. Leona Hilliger, the same age; his brother, Harold, 12 years old, and Mrs. Hilliger's sister, Miss Marie Williams, 30 years old, were in the car with him. They were all taken to the Westlake hospital in Melrose Park. It was said there that the parents are in a critical condition.

Kolina was only slightly hurt, but Miss Florence Dostler, 22 years old, 916 Windsor avenue, one of his companions, received a broken arm, and Miss Esther Noll, 40 years old, 531 Arlington place, was severely cut. Kolina was held by Westchester police for the inquest into James Hilliger's death.

Toll Raised to 1,066.

These five deaths and two others raised the 1931 Cook county auto toll to 1,066. The other victims:

Anton Voda, 24 years old, 1914 Loeffler court. Killed when he was hit by a motor truck in Racine avenue at 20th street, and hurled in front of a south bound Racine avenue street car. The truck driver, Stanley Strowecxk, 19 years old, 2926 Lyman street, was held.

John S. Scott, 55 years old, 4951 Vincennes avenue, colored. Died at the county hospital of injuries received Saturday when a hit and run driver struck him at Polk and State streets.

Robert Stafsted, 10 years old, 1515 West 70th street, suffered a fractured skull last night when he was struck by an automobile, whose driver failed to stop, at 70th street and Ashland avenue. The lad was getting off a southbound surface car when the accident occurred. He was taken to the Holy Cross hospital.

DIES IN BARBER COLLEGE.

Bose Spears, 60 years old, a night watchman in the Weeden Barbers' college, 1231 Madison street, was found dead there yesterday of heart disease, seated in a barber's chair.

4 KILLED AS TRUCK LOADED WITH STONE CRASHES INTO AUTO

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 1.—(AP)—Four persons, two men and two women, were killed early today ten miles north of Towson, as a truck loaded with eight tons of stone crashed into a closed passenger car. A fifth person was injured critically and was brought to a Baltimore hospital.

Police identified the dead as Griffith Hale, 34, driver of the truck; Luther W. Whitehorn, Mrs. Edith Brice, 28, and Mrs. Lulu Butler, 23, all of Baltimore. The injured man was James H. Rooney, 30, also of Baltimore.

Train Kills Three in Auto.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Nov. 1.—(AP)—Three Grand Rapids residents were killed today when their automobile was demolished by a Michigan Central passenger train at Dutton, Mich., near here. The dead: R. K. Riser, 67, consulting engineer; Mrs. Eva Burdick, 72, and Geraldine Chaffee, 14, daughter of Owen R. Chaffee, wealthy furniture dealer.

FORD APPROVES FORD TRACTORS MADE IN RUSSIA

[Copyright: 1931: By the New York Times.]

MOSCOW, Nov. 1.—The Industrial Gazette today publishes a facsimile letter from Henry Ford approving two soviet Fordson type tractors made at the Putiloff works in Leningrad and sent to Dearborn, Mich., at Mr. Ford's request.

During October the Putiloff plant produced 2,745 tractors in 25 working days, while the Stalingrad plant made 2,330 International type tractors, slightly surpassing its monthly program. Yesterday the Amo plant at Moscow completed its first month's program of seventy-five 2½ ton trucks. The daily production of the Amo plant reached 12 yesterday, and is scheduled to attain 50 by the end of the year.

The construction of the huge automobile plant at Nijninovgorod was completed yesterday and will begin the production of Ford cars on Jan. 1. Finally, pig iron and steel production at Kharkov reached the peak figure of 12,0000 tons and 9,500 tons, respectively, for Oct. 29, and the Donetz coal fields set a new record on Oct. 30 of 135,000 tons.

FORECAST LONG REVENUE FIGHT IN LEGISLATURE

Special Session Expected to Last Six Weeks.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Despite Gov. L. L. Emmerson's hope for fast action in the special session of the general assembly for which he will issue the formal call today or, at the latest, tomorrow, it is the general opinion of legislators that the meeting will drag through five or six weeks.

DAVID E. SHANAHAN.

Gov. Emmerson has expressed the opinion that if the lawmakers would get down to business immediately on the revenue relief program and would consent to work five days a week, instead of the two or three days characteristic of an ordinary session, they could complete their labors in three weeks. But members experienced in such matters believe that twice the governor's estimate of the time required will be used up before the special session can clean up its calendar.

Hasty Action Is Opposed.

Speaker David E. Shanahan of the house of representatives and Representative Michael L. Igoe, minority leader of the same chamber, were among those who expressed the opinion that the assembly should not act too hastily on the program of the governor's revenue conference which has proposed a state income tax and a tobacco tax as an offset to the burden now placed on real estate.

These leaders consider it certain that there will be opposition to both the new taxes. In previous sessions bills for the imposition of an income tax have been defeated by a narrow margin, largely by the argument that such a tax is not permissible under the state constitution.

Under the present financial conditions it is said there is an inclination to "take a chance" on the courts, but serious disagreement is in prospect concerning the income tax rates.

Labor Hits Income Tax Plan.

The revenue conference, presided over by John G. Oglesby, former lieutenant-governor, recommended an income tax rate that, it is said, will be impossible of enactment because of political considerations. The bill recommended would provide an exemption of $1,000 for unmarried persons and a 1 per cent tax on taxable net incomes of $1,000 or less.

The representatives of organized labor contend that this is altogether too low a starting point.

Addressing the governor's conference on Saturday, when the program was approved, and professing to speak for John Fitzpatrick and Edward N. Nockels, president and secretary respectively of the Chicago Federation of Labor, Ald. Oscar F. Nelson, vice president of the federation, asserted that the individual exemption should be $2,500. He also registered an emphatic protest against the tobacco tax.

Voices Economy Demand.

That downstate will have a voice in the preceedings of the special session was indicated by an open letter addressed to Gov. Emmerson by Representative James T. Burns of Kankakee.

"In my opinion," this letter read, "your call should embrace the subject of retrenchment. The last session appropriated several hundred thousand dollars for the salaries and expenses of scores of 'rabbit shepherds' for instance, and if these patriots, who do nothing for their pay, were separated from the payroll, the people would have cause for rejoicing.

"The salaries and perquisites of every individual on the state payroll from the governor down should be adjusted, downward mostly. And the proposed special session should be allowed to initiate this most necessary economy."

JACK WILSON, STAGE VETERAN, A SUICIDE, POLICE ANNOUNCE

New York, Nov. 1.—[Special.]—Miss Frances Earle and John Patrick, who were slated to appear today in an act featuring Jack Wilson, blackface comedian, at the Scully theater in Boston, called today at the Hotel Marie Antoinette to find Wilson unconscious from a bullet wound in his head. The comedian was still clad in his pajamas and a target pistol lay on the bed beside him.

Wilson was rushed to a hospital but he died early tonight. Police listed his death as suicide. They said they learned from friends that the comedian had been ill for nearly a year and suffering from injuries received in an automobile accident.

In 1920, while Wilson was appearing with Kitty Gordon at a Chicago theater, Miss Gordon shot Joseph A. Hack, an acrobat, and investigation disclosed that the pistol from which the actress was supposed to fire blank cartridges had been used by Wilson for double duty as a stage "prop" and guarding Miss Gordon's jewels. Wilson had overlooked one of the loaded cartridges. Hack recovered.

JURY DUE TO GET MOTHER'S POISON CASE TOMORROW

Lebanon, Ind., Nov. 1.—[Special.]—Closing arguments will begin here tomorrow in the case of Mrs. Carrie Barrett Simmons, 47 year old Hancock county farm wife, who is charged with murder of her two younger daughters. The case is expected to go to the jury late Tuesday. It has now occupied five weeks, thus becoming the longest murder trial in Indiana history.

STEAL AUTO FROM COUPLE.

Two robbers held up Burchard Tieman, 7323 South Oakley avenue, and Miss Martha Borchart, 6543 South Bishop street, early yesterday in front of Miss Borchart's home, taking $55 from her and $1 and his automobile from Tieman.

LLOYD GEORGE URGES BRITISH LABOR PARTY TO JOIN HIS LIBERALS

MANCHESTER, England, Nov. 1.—(AP)—David Lloyd George, leader of the remnants of the Liberal party, today suggested in an interview with the Manchester Guardian that "advanced Liberalism" and Labor cooperate to attain their common ends. The Liberal leader inferred that he was aiming at a union of his straggling forces with Labor members in the house of commons and progressives in other parties for the furtherance of a common program.

While criticising the late Labor government he contended that "nothing can be achieved by barren and bitter anti-Laborism."

"Labor must now realize," Lloyd George said, "that their area of recruitment and the recruiting conditions they impose are too narrow for them to become a truly national party for at least a generation. I criticize the late Labor government for remaining inconscious of the importance of the rural problem in Great Britain."

This, he said, was fruitful ground which Liberal, Labor, and all progressive minds could cultivate for the benefit of the nation without touching upon grounds of divergence.

12 TORIES TO SIT IN MAC DONALD'S 20 MAN CABINET

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Nov. 1.—Prime Minister MacDonald returned to London from Chequers tonight and was immediately visited by Sir John Simon, national Liberal leader. Tomorrow Mr. MacDonald will confer with Stanley Baldwin, Conservative leader, and Sir Herbert Samuel, acting Liberal leader, regarding the reconstruction of the national government. The membership of the cabinet, which, since August has been restricted to ten, will likely be doubled.

It probably will consist of 12 Conservatives, 4 National Labor, 4 National Liberal and one Lloyd George Liberal members. A final choice has yet to be made, but well informed circles forecast that the new cabinet will include Stanley Baldwin, Neville Chamberlain, Sir Philip Cunliffe-Lister, Sir Samuel Hoare, Lord Hailsham, Sir Kingsley Wood, Sir Herbert Samuel, Lord Reading, Sir John Simon, Iran MacPherson, Lord Sankey, Philip Snowden and J. H. Thomas.

Tomorrow Mr. MacDonald will preside at a cabinet meeting to be attended by the ministers of the late national government. The business will relate chiefly to arrangements for the opening of the first session of the new parliament on Tuesday.

TEACHERS CLAIM THEY CAN NOW BE PAID IN FULL

Call Upon Officials to Make an Effort.

Asserting that the city and school board can find the money to pay the employes of the board of education in full, the joint board of the teachers' unions yesterday drafted a letter addressed to Mayor Cermak, City Treasurer James A. Kearns, and members of the school board and city council, requesting them to find the funds.

JAMES A. MEADE.

The letter expressed the gratitude of the teachers to the city and school officials who cooperated in getting them their September salary, the first month they have received since April.

"One month's salary after waiting six months," the letter said, "has been a mixed blessing, since creditors are insistent and the holidays are approaching. All other employés of the city have been paid to date, and we are convinced that with the will to do so, money can be found to pay all the board of education employés up to Dec. 1."

In discussing the alleged ability of the city and school board to pay the teachers, James A. Meade, president of the Men Teachers' union, said, "It appears that the city has available money. Teachers are going to demand that they not be discriminated against further."

The Federation of Women High School teachers, through the aid of eighty Cook county women's clubs, are interviewing state representatives, asking that school relief be considered first at the special session; that a bond issue for salaries long overdue be passed, and that income tax legislation provide increased revenues for schools.

BALCHEN TO FLY IN CHARITY AIR SHOW SUNDAY

Noted Pilot Wires He Will Arrive Saturday.

Bernt Balchen, pilot on Admiral Byrd's trans-Atlantic flight and again on the antarctic expedition, last night notified THE TRIBUNE through his agent, Fred Benham, that he would definitely participate in the charity air show to be held over Grant park next Sunday afternoon for the benefit of Chicago's unemployed.

BERNT BALCHEN.

Balchen will fly to Chicago from New York in a Bellanca monoplane, arriving next Saturday afternoon, he said. He is wholly in sympathy with the charity air show, he said, and will be glad to participate.

Balchen has shied away from the limelight that fell upon him following his many famous flights. He is known among the pilots of the nation as one of the foremost in the country, and his record of achievements over the Atlantic, the polar wastes and the antarctic, as well as on several mercy flights through treacherous weather, bears out his reputation.

Plan Safety Measures.

Maj. Reed G. Landis, chairman of the Illinois aeronautic commission, last night said he plans to seek the appointment of a patrol of air police by the commission, for the purpose of providing full safety measures at the charity show. The patrol will be composed of skillful pilots in fast planes, who will supervise the acrobatic performances from the air and see that the lives of spectators as well as the pilots are not endangered during the show.

Additional safety measures are planned by Maj. R. W. Schroeder, notably an emergency landing field in Grant park on which the participating planes might land if it were necessary, and a number of coast guard patrol boats along the lake shore, to act in the event of a forced landing in the lake.

Tell of Show on Radio.

Yesterday afternoon Maj. Schroeder and Dr. Ralph E. Heilman, dean of the school of commerce of Northwestern university and an official of the joint emergency relief committee, spoke over W-G-N briefly in behalf of the charity air show. Maj. Schroeder told of the phenominal response that has been received to the call for famous pilots to participate in the charity show. He is manager of Sky Harbor airport, and is in charge of all arrangements for the show, proceeds from which will be given to the Joint Emergency Relief committee.

Dr. Heilman told of the need for funds for unemployment relief in Cook county this winter, and said the committee is counting on the charity air show's receipts to help swell the fund. He pointed out that every cent collected will go to the committee, as no expenses are being paid by the committee, or from receipts, for the air show. He complimented THE TRIBUNE on its whole hearted cooperation in making arrangements for the charity event.

The public was again urged to purchase stickers for their automobiles at any of the three TRIBUNE public service offices, or in the lobby of THE TRIBUNE Tower, in order to have preferred parking in Grant Park. Special entrances to the park are to be set aside for the use of cars bearing air show stickers.

British Society Girl in Egypt; Flies to Cape Town

FLYERS WHO HOLD DISTANCE RECORD IN CITY FOR 2 DAYS

Russel Boardman and John Polando, who established a world's record for long distance flying last summer by their flight from New York to Istanbul, Turkey, landed at the airport yesterday afternoon for a two day visit.

Boardman and Polando flew from New York in their record breaking Bellanca monoplane, the Cape Cod, accompanied by Fred Benham, their business agent. They took off at North Beach, Long Island, yesterday morning at 6:55 o'clock and fought head winds all the way to Chicago.

Their record flight took place last July 28, when they started from Floyd Bennett field, near New York, and flew to a field near Istanbul, an official distance of 4,999.54 miles. Their plane is powered by a Wright J-6 motor.

Boardman, Polando and Benham are staying in the bungalow on the roof of the Hotel Sherman. They were greeted at the airport by representatives of the city, the Air Corps officers' association and the press club. A luncheon and a banquet will be tendered the flyers today.

Boardman and Polando said they intend to return to Chicago next Sunday to participate in the charity air show, to be held over Grant Park.

RAID CHINATOWN AND SEIZE 42 IN DRIVE ON ALIENS

Neighborhood in Furor as Squads Arrive.

efforts to evade the Chinese exclusion law, immigration inspectors say, that they claim to be American born when they can scarcely speak a word of English, and declare they were born in San Francisco, before the fire, when they are obviously no more than 15 years old.

Gambling Houses Invaded.

Most of the places visited by the agents were gambling houses where Chinese sat around tables, smoking long stemmed pipes and playing their curious games with little colored cards or small blocks of inlaid ivory.

Some of the addresses on the list were shops, and in these imperturbable merchants balanced their accounts with the abacus. While a shopkeeper tolled off the sales of smoked meats, dried fish, pickled poultry or oriental fruit by sliding the beads, his terrified customers tried to explain to the federal men that "Sister (or Boss) has chock chee."

The questioning was continued late into the night at the detective bureau, where the Chinese were seated on benches in cells, like blackbirds on a fence.

Arrests Follow Long Inquiry.

Yesterday's seizures followed six weeks of investigation carried on under the direction of Mr. Garsson. The population of Chinatown, estimated at 7,000, is said to have doubled within five years. The number of smuggled Chinese aliens in Chicago and the suburbs is estimated at more than 1,000. The immigration officials said four leaders of a smuggling ring were included among the 42 held, but they refused to divulge their names.

The Chinese are landed in Canada, Mexico, or Cuba and then smuggled into this country. One of those held last night admitted that he was smuggled in two years ago with 115 others from Cuba. Smugglers are paid from $250 to $3,500 for bringing in an alien, the inspectors say. In some cases the alien enters into a contract to pay the smuggler 25 per cent of his earnings for life.

Protests Are Answered.

A number of Chinese lawyers, officials of business men's associations, and one Chinese consul protested to Mr. Garsson that their race was being made the object of discrimination. But they were informed that the investigation into alien smuggling was general, and that 200 persons, of various nationalities, had been deported since the drive was started six weeks ago.

Mr. Garsson was congratulated by other Chinese leaders, who declared their district was overrun by smuggled aliens and expressed a desire to have them cleaned out.

CAPONE SPENDS HIS 2D SUNDAY IN COUNTY JAIL

Al Capone spent his eighth day and second Sunday yesterday in the county jail, where he is being held without bail pending appeal from his conviction and sentence to eleven years' imprisonment for income tax evasion. His attorneys, Michael Ahern and Albert Fink, still refused to say whether Capone will soon voluntarily go to Leavenworth penitentiary, where he can get credit for his service, or stay in the jail while his case is rushed through the United States Circuit Court of Appeals.

Ganmen Get $1,200 in Raid on Oil Company Offices

Aviation Notes

Chicago's new air passenger terminal at the airport at 63d street and Cicero avenue, built by bond issue funds, will be opened today by Col. Clarence M. Young, assistant secretary of commerce for aeronautics, for the Chicago Airlines Ticket Office association, which is composed of all lines operating at the airport. A luncheon will be held at noon at the Palmer house by the association, after which the building will be opened.

How fast transportation saves business men valuable time has been demonstrated by Norman L. Waggoner of San Francisco, who flew to New York over United Air Lines, via Chicago, boarded the Ile de France and reached Paris in six days. He returned by boat and plane from London in six days.

The Edgewater Flying club, 357 North La Salle street, largest and oldest in the United States, with more than 200 members, plans to hold the second annual aviation ball in the gold room of the Congress hotel next Saturday night. All proceeds of the affair will be used to buy new flying equipment for the club.

HOMES COLLAPSE AS QUAKE HITS CITY IN MEXICO

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Dispatches from the state of Oaxaca, Mexico's earthquake center, indicate that severe damage may have resulted from a shock that was felt in Mexico City at 5:37 p. m. today.

A correspondent of the newspaper Excelsior said the earthquake was very strong in Oaxaca City, causing the populace to flee into the streets. Many fell to their knees praying. The electrical power failed and some houses collapsed, but because of the confusion the number of casualties has not become known.

Oaxaca City is the capital of the state, with about 40,000 population. It was partially destroyed last Jan. 14 by an earthquake that killed approximately 100 persons. Messages from Cordoba and the city of Vera Cruz said the quake was felt there, but no damage was done.

Bernard Hendrickson, a brother, made the identification. He said that Dale had been working on a farm near Kouts, Ind., until recently.

GIRL CONFESSES SHE HELPED KILL UNWANTED WIFE

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 1.—(AP)—Clara Fish, 19 year old domestic, confessed to police late tonight that she administered ether to Mrs. Reba Maddux last Thursday afternoon in a woods near suburban Kirkwood, and that Maddux, after dark that night, went to the place where Mrs. Maddux had been left unconscious and then killed her with a razor.

This was the fourth confession made by Miss Fish and followed one late yesterday in which she claimed she killed Mrs. Maddux after the latter had failed in a suicide effort.

Maddux was arrested and taken to the Kirkwood police station. He had been questioned Saturday after he testified at a coroner's inquest, but was released.

Miss Fish was a roomer in the Maddux home in Webster Groves, another suburb. In her last confession, which came voluntarily after the girl had talked for an hour with her uncle, Irwin N. Fish, and her brother, Patrolman John Fish of the St. Louis police department, Miss Fish said that two months ago Maddux told her he wished to "get rid" of his wife, and asked her to aid in killing her.

She said she lured Mrs. Maddux to the woods where the body was found Friday afternoon, opened a can of ether she previously had purchased, smeared some ether on a handkerchief, and after getting Mrs. Maddux in a prone position sat on her while she held the handkerchief to her face. When the woman became unconscious, she said, she departed.

Returning to the Maddux home, she said, she and Maddux pretended alarm over Mrs. Maddux's disappearance and made inquiries and began a search. About 7 o'clock that night, she continued, Maddux left with a razor, also purchased by Miss Fish, returning about two hours later. The next morning, Miss Fish said, Maddux told her he had gone to the unconscious woman and slashed her throat.

FOOD SITUATION FOUND GRAVE IN MANY SCHOOLS

Hungry Children's Fund Still Needs Cash.

Cash contributions to the Hungry School Children's Fund will be received at the following Tribune offices: 1 South Dearborn street, 1101 East 63d street, and 4139 West Madison street.

BY KATHLEEN M'LAUGHLIN.

Although November arrives with slightly improved prospects in the employment outlook, reports from the far south side of Chicago indicate how serious the situation has become, especially in the steel mills and adjacent districts. Complaints have been made to teachers lately that school children sent on errands to the grocery frequently have their purchases stolen from them by hungry adults.

To relieve the distress behind these conditions as much as possible, children of hundreds of the families affected are receiving breakfast and lunch at their respective schools, either through the Hungry School Children's Fund, or by the efforts and pleas of their teachers to their own friends. Of the $10,000 turned over to the board of education ten days ago by THE TRIBUNE from the fund, a large share already has gone into providing daily fare for boys and girls in more than sixty Chicago schools.

Further contributions are necessary to handle the emergency adequately. Scarcely a school in the system but can produce a score of needy children, some of them counting as many as 75 per cent of their enrollment on the relief list. The food given them at the school is for the most part their main meal of the day and frequently it is their only meal.

More milk than is being distributed to the children could be used with excellent effect, according to Miss Frances Swain, head of the household arts department of the board of education and executive of the fund. Large purchases of milk are being made, practically every meal that is furnished by the Hungry School Children's Fund including that as a vital article of diet.

Milk dealers who wish to contribute additional quantities, however, are assured that it will be most gratefully received, and will in no way conflict with the amount now being purchased. Any milk that is donated by any company, Miss Swain advises, will be apportioned to children who are physically in need of it, but who are not on the lists of beneficiaries of the fund. Many of these children are being cared for by other agencies, such as neighborhood clubs, but there remains a great need for more milk to be supplied.

Donations to the fund may be mailed to the cashier of THE TRIBUNE, at Tribune tower, accompanied by the coupon appearing with this article.

She urged that sets no longer wanted by their owners be sent to the Sheldon branch of the Lane Technical High school at 1130 North State street, or to the Radio and Television institute, 2130 Lawrence avenue.

"We hope to have one radio in each classroom," said Mrs. Pelton.

ACTS TO SPEED PAYMENTS BY CLOSED BANKS

Swanson Will Use Grand Jury as Weapon.

State's Attorney John A. Swanson announced yesterday that he would use the power of his office and of the grand jury to bring in funds to closed banks so that dividends to depositors may be forthcoming more speedily. The new plan outlined by the prosecutor will result in the summoning of persons having unpaid loans from the various banks to explain why they have not paid over to the receivers the money involved.

Mr. Swanson's plan is to use the grand jury to find assets which are reported to have been covered up by the many persons who are indebted in large amounts to some of the banks. The conspiracy law will be the weapon on which the prosecutor will rely to bring about quick payments by those who have assets and refuse to settle up for the benefit of the depositors.

Aids to Help Depositors.

Although the method to be employed may be considered by some legal authorities as out of the sphere of the prosecutor's duties, he has decided to use extralegal means if necessary to help out the depositors, who have been pouring complaints into the office of his special staff assigned to the bank investigations.

In his statement Prosecutor Swanson reviewed the progress so far made in his bank investigations, and pledged action in the investigation of the chain of Bain banks just as soon as the audits in all twelve of these defunct institutions are completed.

Audits in five of these banks are now nearly finished and it is likely, it is said, that action against individuals, in cases where the evidence warrants it, will be taken from time to time before the expected general action when all the audits are complete.

New Task in Prosecution.

The task of investigating the closed banks is one which was never before presented to a state's attorney in Cook county, it was pointed out. At no previous time has any prosecutor had more than three banks under investigation at one time.

Assistant State's Attorney Henry Ayer, who is in charge of the bank investigation bureau, said that many of the depositors are clamoring for criminal action before the evidence is complete. He said the banks have to be taken up in the proper order so that the limit set on prosecution by the statute of limitations does not expire before grand jury action can be taken.

Mr. Swanson in his statement pointed out that his inquiry started at the time of the closing of the City State bank on Nov. 2, 1929. Four indictments naming fourteen defendants have been returned in connection with the investigation of this bank.

Investigating Staff Grows.

"On June 9, 1931, the chain of twelve Bain banks closed and many others were from time to time added to the list," said the statement. "The work increased to such magnitude that at present we have thirty-two auditors, two investigators, two stenographers and six assistant state's attorneys assigned to it.

"We have ten auditors and one investigator working on this chain of Bain banks. As soon as the audits are complete and we have the entire picture of this banking chain before us, we shall be able to determine the question of criminal liability.

"Thus far 73 indictments have been returned by grand juries, naming 57 officers, directors, employes and other defendants in bank cases.

Lists Banks in Indictments.

"These indictments were returned as a result of the investigations of the following banks: The City State Bank of Chicago, Exchange State bank, Peoples State Bank of Maywood, Binga State bank, Millard State bank, Citizens Trust and Savings bank, Laramie State Bank of Chicago, First Italian State bank, and Citizens State Bank of Melrose Park.

"The auditors have turned in their reports on the following banks, which are now under consideration: The Builders and Merchants Bank and Trust company, Capital State bank, First Italian State bank, Fullerton State bank, Home Bank and Investment company, North Town State bank, Novak-Steiskal State bank, and Progressive State bank.

"As soon as it is determined that evidence of the commission of criminal acts in the conduct of the affairs of any of these banks is sufficient to present to the grand jury, each case will be promptly presented, at which time indictments will be requested.

"Auditors and investigators are now at work on the following banks and investment companies:

Stony Island State Savings bank, Sheridan Trust and Savings bank, Columbia State Savings bank, Cicero Trust and Savings bank, Boulevard State Savings bank, Central Oak Park State bank, Lincoln Trust and Savings bank, West Central State bank of Chicago, South Side Savings bank and Trust company, West Englewood Trust and Savings bank, Citizens State bank of Melrose Park, Edison State bank, Armitage State bank, Ridgeway State bank, Triangle State bank, Chatham State bank, West Highland State bank, Bryn Mawr State bank, and Garard Investment company.

Points Out Size of Task.

"Anyone familiar with the preparation of a case which involves the examination of voluminous records can well appreciate the task now presented to this office. This work will continue until we have finished the examintion and investigation of the records of every state bank closed in Cook county.

"All of this work is being done by auditors and others at the sacrifice of other activities which should be carried on by this office. When the appropriation was made for the state's attorney's office, this stupendous task and necessary expense was not contemplated and we have had to proceed as quickly as possible with the funds available.

"The work of the auditors is progressing quite satisfactorily. The cases now pending in court are approaching trial. We are ready to proceed to trial in each of these cases where the defendants have been apprehended.

The Campaign for Cash.

"I have directed that, in addition to the work of investigating for the purpose of ascertaining whether the banking laws have been violated and criminal acts committed, the receivers of the various closed banks be requested to furnish a report of the unpaid loans for the purpose of questioning any debtor concerning the matter in which each loan was obtained and what property, if any, the debtor has, thereby assisting the depositors to obtain payment of any sums due.

"Our auditors are requested to furnish similar reports. Any debtor who refuses to furnish all the information required will be promptly subpoenaed before the grand jury and such action requested as is deemed proper in each case. The full power of this office will be properly used to assist the depositors and to prosecute any one guilty of the commission of crimes in the operation of these closed banks."

TAX OF CENT A MEAL FOR BARNARD GIRLS TO HELP THE JOBLESS

New York, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Tax of a cent a meal for unemployment relief was self-imposed upon Barnard college students today.

"If one thousand girls eat three meals a day for thirty days," said Dorothy Kramm, chairman of the fund, "and pay their penny taxes, we shall have close to $1,000 at the end of November. We haven't decided yet where the money will go."

There will be no technicalities under which the tax may be evaded, she explained. Meals to be taxed are both intra and extramural. Teas, sodas, and other extra "eats" will count as meals.

GUNMEN HOLD UP 40 IN ROADHOUSE; BEAT CONSTABLE

Five bandits invaded Jigg's Place, a bungalow roadhouse at 4415 North 64th court, in Norwood Park township, early yesterday, and held up forty patrons in the place. Their loot was approximately $500.

William Reed, a constable in the township, was drinking at the bar with four other men. The robbers stripped him of his gun and star, and later returned to the place, irked because they had been unable to start his automobile for use in their getaway, and slugged him with a gun butt. He was not seriously hurt.

The gang rode to the roadhouse in the taxicab of Leo Schutt, 4717 North St. Louis avenue, who was unaware that they were bent on robbery until they paid him off with some of their loot, he said. The gang had visited the place a few hours before the holdup, waiters said.

Highway police of the Morton Grove station believe the gang is the same which has robbed several other roadhouses in the district recently.

STABBED TO DEATH IN QUARREL.

Oliver Perry and Harry King, Negroes, had a quarrel yesterday in their home at 556 East 45th street and King stabbed Perry to death. King escaped.

Bandits Pose as U.S. Agents to Kidnap and Rob Victim

Six robbers who carried badges and posed as prohibition agents kidnaped Michael Benedict, 12316 Avenue K, and robbed him of $250 early yesterday. They intercepted Benedict as he was returning home from a Halloween party and forced him to admit them to the house while they searched it for valuables. Then they took his money, carried him off in their car, and pushed him out a block from the house, he told police.

HALF OF BUDGET SAVING BORNE BY ARMY AND NAVY

Enforcement of Dry Law Alone Untrimmed.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 1.—[Special.]—Approximately 100 million dollars will be slashed from the cost of operating the national defense establishment during the coming year if economies ordered by President Hoover are made effective. Of this amount representing close to 10 per cent of the annual expenditures of the armed services, the navy is slated to account for $60,000,000 while the army loses the remainder.

While all government departments, with the possible exception of justice, which finances prohibition, are accepting cuts in their budget estimates ranging from 5 to 20 per cent, the White House economy ax apparently is falling heaviest on the forces charged with defending the nation in time of war. Before completing his task of pruning budget estimates for the 1933 fiscal year, the budget director is expected to lop off in excess of 200 millions from the estimates submitted in September by cabinet officers and heads of separate departments.

Defense Bears Half of Cut.

On the basis of a 300 million dollar cut, a figure which would still permit federal expenditures for 1933 to exceed those for 1932, the army and navy would supply approximately 50 per cent of the reduction. Attempts on the part of the armed services to make their shore establishments and army posts bear a proportionate share of the reductions have been made, but apparently will not be successful because of political pressure brought to bear at the White House.

On April 24 President Hoover submitted figures to the press indicating expenditures for the 1932 fiscal year would run in excess of 4 billion 112 millions. Of that sum he listed 740 millions as appropriations provided for the army and navy. The navy figure was given as 388 million plus. That of the army was, including new housing and aircraft, 342 million plus.

The Hoover program, as outlined today, calls for cutting the total army and navy figure down to around 640 millions. The navy submitted estimates of 329 millions for 1932. The budget office is now trying to bring this down to 240 millions without hitting too many politically valuable friends of the President. The army asked for a little less than it received for this year, eliminating $24,000,000 for housing and other structures, and is now expecting to stay within a maximum of 300 millions for the next year.

The interior department is postponing certain projects it had planned and is accepting an 8 per cent cut. No move has been made to cut down expenditures for the construction of Boulder dam, the huge domestic water and irrigation project, which this year takes $25,000,000 of the interior department's 100 million dollar appropriation. On the contrary, this project, which will supply water for certain California cities and add new farm lands to a national agricultural section already producing huge surpluses, has been speeded up to the point where it is six months ahead of schedule.

It is understood the agriculture and commerce departments are cutting their budget estimates by in excess of 10 per cent. Both departments are cutting out certain activities operating this year. New construction will be reduced to a minimum. The treasury is cutting some activities, but the huge district public buildings program is going ahead at top speed. So far as could be ascertained today no steps are being taken to slow up the construction of the big cabinet department buildings which, when erected, will be pointed to as monuments to President Hoover and Secretary Mellon.

Ask More for Dry Enforcement.

According to reports, not denied, Ames W. Woodcock, director of prohibition, is asking for additional funds, notwithstanding the depression and the slashing of national defense.

When asked to slash $61,000,000 from its estimates the navy submitted a program calling for reducing enlisted personnel by 4,000, the placing of approximately one-sixth of the fleet on reserve or in a decommissioned status, and the closing down of the Boston and Charleston navy yards. Activities at twenty other stations and shore properties were recommended for curtailment.

The President was represented by congressional callers as much annoyed by the items calling for cuts in shore properties which would rouse political opposition. One congressman left, stating that the President felt the navy had loaded the economy report with political dynamite designed to wreck the whole program.

A Philadelphia delegation protested against the postponement of construction of the $3,000,000 hospital there and left the White House convinced that the President would allow that project to go ahead, regardless of what happened to men and ships. Mrs. Edith N. Rogers, Republican representative from Massachusetts, talked to administration officials and left, stating that of course Boston will not be closed. Senator Ellison D. Smith [Dem., S. C.] and Representative Thomas S. McMillan [Dem., S. C.] conferred with President Hoover about the Charleston navy yard and went away smiling.

The White House already has announced that the navy band, which spends its time playing for tired Washingtonians and the constituents of senators and representatives on its annual tour, is to be retained. It costs $200,000 a year.

If the Hoover economies are persisted in and political yards are excluded the only recourse is reductions in men and ships.

The army's final limiting figure, if unchanged, will curtail army housing, reduce expenditures for modernization and may possibly result in some personnel cuts.

GETS ALONG WITH LIONS AND TIGERS, BUT NOT HIS WIFE

Peru, Ind., Nov. 1.—[Special.]—It's one thing to get along with thirty-two lions and tigers and it's something else to get along with one's wife.

Clyde Beatty, 27, star animal trainer for the Hagenbeck-Wallace circus, with winter quarters here, realizes that.

Five years ago Beatty married Miss Ernestine Pegg of Peru. Their happiness seemed secure and so was Beatty's fame as an animal trainer. Two years ago Mrs. Beatty filed suit for divorce, then dropped it. Beatty was attacked at Kokomo by Trudy, vicious tiger in the circus menagerie, but was saved by Prince, huge Nubian lion. Beatty recovered. Circus life went on.

This fall Mrs. Beatty again filed suit for divorce and it has been granted.

NAVY SECRETARY UNMASKS FALSE PACIFIST CLAIMS

Shows Figures on Defense Cost Untrue.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 1.—(Special.)—Close on the heels of President Hoover's arraignment of the Navy league as an aggregation of militaristic defamers of his navy retrenchment policy, the administration today let go a broadcast at pacifist organizations in the habit of depicting Uncle Sam as a militarist spending far more than any other nation on armed forces.

In a formal statement Secretary of the Navy Charles Francis Adams fell afoul particularly of the world peace foundation of Boston, official distributor of league of nations publications in America, for saying that the United States expended last year "$310,527,795 more than the British navy enjoyed." The American navy, said the organization, "had the use of $553,378,505, the British of $242,850,711."

"The fact is," said Secretary Adams, "the United States in 1930 expended $375,291,823 on its navy, Great Britain $349,927,670, exclusive of naval aviation, which is separate from the British navy and merged with army aviation in the Royal Air forces." The secretary estimated the cost of British naval aviation at 51 millions, which would make the total cost of the British navy more than 25 millions in excess of the cost of the American.

When, Mr. Adams, pointed out, the higher cost of construction and maintainence of American warships and the higher pay of American naval personnel are taken into account it is apparent that "we have a comparatively inexpensive naval establishment."

"It is a matter of serious concern to the navy," said Mr. Adams, "that organizations within the boundaries of our country, without seeking accuracy which could easily have been secured, interpret national defense statistics in a manner insidious and inimical to the United States and in a manner favorable to the national defense interests of foreign powers."

Approved by Hoover.

The Adams statement was edited and approved by President Hoover before it was issued. It was only two years ago that the President himself voiced the pacifist argument, saying in a formal statement, without taking into account the difference in construction, operating, and pay costs, that the United States is spending more on its armed forces than any other nation.

Accompanying the Adams statement was a chart showing that the national income of the principal powers in 1930 was: United States, $89,419,000,000; Great Britain [United Kingdom], $18,390,000,000; Germany, $12,000,000,000; France, $8,500,000,000; Japan, $5,500,000,000; Italy, $4,500,000,000. The total cost of government for the fiscal year 1927-'28 was: United States [federal, state, local], $12,190,000,000; Great Britain, $6,724,000,000; Japan, $2,523,000,000.

Naval budgets for the last fiscal year were: United States, $382,424,000; Great Britain, $278,000,000; Germany, $46,748,000; France, $142,296,000; Italy, $78,798,0000; Japan, $131,469,000.

Ratio to National Income.

With cost of air force for Great Britain, France and Italy excluded the ratio of naval budget to national income was: United States, .0043; Great Britain, .0148; Germany, .0039; France, .0167; Italy, .0175; Japan, .0249.

Secretary Adams took the peace organization to task for not taking into account, "the many differences resulting from the relative purchasing power of the dollar—such as cost of labor, cost of material, pay of personnel, and other factors—all of which reflect unfairly against the United States in comparisons of total expenditures between the United States and foreign powers."

NAVY LEAGUE'S SLAM AT HOOVER ABJURED BY ITS FORMER HEAD

Washington, D. C., Nov. 1.—(AP)—Henry Breckenridge, former president of the Navy league, tonight issued a statement that he wished to "dissociate" himself from portions of a statement by the present head of the organization that speak "with disrespect of the President of the United States."

Breckenridge referred to a recent declaration of William Henry Gardiner criticizing President Hoover for "abysmal ignorance" of the navy and its needs.

Breckenridge's one sentence statement said: "I desire to dissociate myself from so much of the statement as speaks with disrespect of the President of the United States." He declined to say anything further except that the executive committee of the league would meet here, probably Wednesday, to consider the matter. Breckenridge was president of the league from 1919 to 1921, and now serves on the executive committee.

"The newspaper is an institution developed by modern civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and mold public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."

THE PROPOSED NEW TAXES.

The governor's tax conference has approved the report of its executive committee and a special session of the legislature is to convene on Thursday to consider the committee's recommendations. The conference was called four months ago primarily because of the desperate plight of the local governments of Chicago. They had no money with which to pay their employes or their bills. The conference was to devise means of restoring the credit of the local governments and was instructed also to lighten the burden of taxation upon real estate. The task was an enormous one and the committee attacked it vigorously and conscientiously.

This editorial deals only with the measures proposed for lightening the real estate load. These are of two general sorts. A temporary remedy is the grant of permission to taxpayers to pay only about half of their 1930 tax when it comes due early in 1932 and the rest in five equal installments, plus interest. Of much greater importance is the more permanent remedy which is to consist of a more rigorous collection of the personal property tax and the enactment of new kinds of taxation, including an income tax, a tobacco tax and a tax on heavy vehicles. All income from the new levies is to go toward a reduction of tax rates on property.

It is estimated that the income taxes will yield $30,000,000. Of this sum, Cook county taxpayers would contribute $18,000,000 or more and they might get back in the form of real estate tax reductions $15,000,000 or less. The tobacco tax is estimated to yield $18,000,000, of which Cook county would also get back less than it contributed, though how much less it is difficult to say. The tax on vehicles is estimated to yield only $800,000, but it is perhaps worth noting that here, too, the tax would bear disproportionately upon Cook county taxpayers. What might be saved to real estate through increased personal property levies is difficult to estimate.

The committee's figures suggest that the three new taxes might yield a revenue of $50,000,000 from all parts of the state. Of this sum, Cook county would contribute $35,000,000 or more, and perhaps $25,000,000 would be paid back by the state treasurer to Cook county. Perhaps that would mean a reduction of 10 per cent in the size of real estate tax bills. Perhaps the saving would be more and perhaps it would be less. The committee offers no estimate.

In any event, whatever the reduction might amount to, it would unquestionably be less than the additional tax imposed upon Cook county. For the absentee owner of real estate and for the resident whose entire income is derived from real estate there would unquestionably be some saving, though it would not be a very large one. For vast numbers of others who have some real estate and some other income from wages, salary, investments or what not, anything saved on the realty tax would be canceled by the new taxes.

The committee's scheme bears with particular hardship upon families of moderate income owning their own homes. The plan, to be sure, does provide a certain, slight diminution of the real estate bill and some offset of property against income taxes, but to tens of thousands of taxpayers the result of the committee's plan would be an increase in their annual contributions to government. As real estate owners they would be slightly better off; but as individual taxpayers they would be worse off.

This increase in taxes would be felt by few outside the metropolitan area. The federal government's reports make it clear that the rural areas pay relatively a negligible sum in income taxation. It follows that most of the taxpayers downstate, all nonresidents owning Illinois property, and some Cook county taxpayers would benefit from the new levies. What they saved would be contributed in some part by those Chicagoans who may now be bearing less than their fair share of the load, but in large part, we believe, the relief would come from increasing the burden of Chicago property owners who already are carrying pretty nearly all they can bear.

If this analysis is correct, the question arises whether the people of Cook county, who are faced with added taxes, can pay them without drawing on their capital to do so. The question arises whether the people of Cook county are not rapidly sliding into the position in which the English people have lately found themselves, with taxation exhausting the economic life of the community. The fact that many thousands of Cook county taxpayers are already in arrears does not augur well for a plan which would take more money from individuals who today cannot find the money to pay what they already owe the government.

Certainly there is real danger that any considerable increase in taxes will result in a flight of capital from Illinois to escape the heavy burden placed upon it. If that happens, our lawmakers will have killed their golden goose.

These are considerations which, we think, cannot be overlooked in any attempt to appraise the work of the committee.

IF GANDHI SEES THE KING.

Mahatma Gandhi in London has been informed by the lord chamberlain that it is the pleasure of the king and queen to see him Thursday at a party at Buckingham palace. Gandhi accepts the command with the condition that he may appear in his habitual dress, his loin cloth, shawl and sandals. Otherwise he will not go.

The suitability of this attire in London in November can be questioned, but it is the costume of the lowly classes of Hindus and it is the symbol of the mahatma's independence. In these clothes he conquers or he doesn't at all. The clothes of London are designed for an occidental civilization which he does not like, least of all for his own people. He may be merely an antiquarian and a sentimentalist idealizing conditions which are not good, but he knows his country and its true instinct may be for simple, individualistic, primitive life, with the spinning wheel, domestic production and freedom from the intricacies of a mechanized age. The court apparel he would like less because it represents the imperial aspects of occidental organization, and he wants to be free from the imperial domination of the west.

He knows also that in the clothes of the west he would testify to the superiority of the west, and he refuses to do that. He must also know that he has the British negotiators a little out of face. If he conformed in attire he would be recognizable as the inferior with whom the superior people would like to deal.

Gandhi will remain in character or he will not see the king, an example which might more often be imitated by the representatives of people who have won the independence for which he contends.

FEDERAL CONTEMPT OF MICHIGAN LAW.

Michigan state authorities have lost their fight to force the federal government to produce to the state jurisdiction two federal border patrolmen who shot a citizen and to require an accounting from other federal officials and employes who ignored the laws of the state. Although the victim was not killed, but only wounded, the case is particularly aggravated by circumstances. The young man who was shot was helping some beer runners unload cases on Grosse Ile. The wound was above the heart. The federal agents hustled him to the United States Marine hospital, passing numerous other hospitals, to the nearest of which an emergency case should have been taken.

The surgeons at the federal hospital did not make a report of the gunshot wound, as required by state law. No notification was given the police or the state authorities. When the county prosecutor learned of the case he was turned away without information by all the federal officers involved, and it was only after threats directed at Washington had stirred Seymour Lowman, assistant secretary of the treasury, to a sense of responsibility that any recognition was given the laws and jurisdiction of Michigan. Then the names of the patrolmen were disclosed and the hospital authorities came in to explain themselves.

The sequestration of the victim and the concealment of the episode give the Michigan incident a flagrance noteworthy even in federal prohibition contempt for state law. Michigan has difficulty in getting the slightest satisfaction from the federal government, and if experience holds good in the subsequent proceedings that satisfaction will amount to nothing in the end. The federal department of justice has succeeded in having the case transferred to the federal court.

CLOTHING FOR THE UNEMPLOYED.

The collection of clothing for the unemployed is proceeding rapidly under the direction of the Episcopal Young People's association. Already 8,000 garments have been delivered for distribution at the Cathedral Shelter at Washington boulevard and Peoria street. This is a work the value of which needs little emphasis. The winter is almost upon us. It will be a winter of privation for many thousands in Chicago. The more fortunate members of the community can do much to relieve distress by the gift of their discarded clothing.

Editorial of the Day

ARE JUVENILE BOOKS INANE?

[The State Journal, Lansing, Mich.]

Teachers, pretty generally, may be heard to say that they can pick out, almost at first contact, the child who has been read to at home. That is probably true.

One can scarcely think of a better way of beginning an education than reading to a child. The child who is read to early wants to read for himself and does. He has learned, too, that what he does not understand, as he reads, may be asked about. The child who has been read to has had the advantage of a great array of footnotes and annotations, as to speak.

The adult may become tired and bored at times by a too insistent demand for reading, but, on the whole, if there is something worth while to read, both reader and listener must highly enjoy themselves. But it goes without saying that the adult can hardly be lured for long into reading purely nonsensical trash. Juvenile literature would not likely be what the adult reader would choose for himself, but if it is well done, free from inanity, the adult reader will not be bored, even though the story be essentially a child's story.

The above considerations are raised in connection with a statement just made to the effect that of the 800 juvenile books published last year only 140 of the number were recommended for use. This judgment was expressed before a meeting of the Child Study association committee on children's books, at a meeting of the committee the other day in New York.

Of the books declared harmful something like 150 were named as actually pernicious because of the situations depicted and perversion of ideals. But, for the most part, fault was found with the books because they were utterly inane and poorly written. In short, they were so lacking in merit that it was recommended they be kept from children.

The declaration against so many books intended for juvenile reading is the more disturbing because any one who has had contact with the deluge of modern books intended for children and young people of the early teens must have been struck by the utter futility of most of them. The Boy Scout idea, for instance, has been commercially exploited, by a certain class of writers, to a disturbing degree. The host of books employing scouting as a background set forth no pernicious teaching, of course. The fact against them is their utter inanity. Stories of boys' schools fall into the same class. Their stupidity for the most part is in stark contrast with the stories for boys by Trowbridge, Stephens, recently deceased Oliver Optic, James Otis, Harry Cas[illegible], and others, who were writing when the [illegible] Companion and the Golden Days were in [illegible]up.

WINTER COMING ON.

THE period of maximum good health for 1931 has passed, and we are entering on the stage of climb of the sickness rate. The year 1931 has proved a healthy one, with a low death rate. In the late winter and early spring influenza, colds, and pneumonia were prevalent to an unusual degree, and when March was reached the prospect was for a bad yearly record.

Since the first of that month there has been but little sickness, and the death rate has been a trifle below that of 1930—and that was the banner year for all time. However, the bad late-winter, early-spring record will prevent 1931 from outclassing 1930. Most forms of contagious disease have been rather prevalent, but the type has been mild.

There is every prospect that typhoid fever and diphtheria will make new low records—much lower than ever before. Consumption appears to be headed for a low record. In spite of the very hot weather the baby diarrhea rate has been low.

Infantile paralysis has been unduly prevalent, and it held on into September and October much more tenaciously than previous records have led us to anticipate. But it was in milder form than hitherto. There is some reason for hoping that it may be on the point of becoming a milder disease. But this ends the good news. The record for so many years is available, and the curve is so invariable in all that record that we can safely forecast what will happen.

November will see a considerable increase in the prevalence of nose colds and coughs. There will be some increase in tonsillitis. The death rate will rise moderately. In December the death rate will rise rapidly and people will begin to become disturbed by the prevalence of severe pneumonia. In January conditions will be considerably worse than in the previous month. February will have a worse record than his predecessor.

During the 29 days of that month the number of deaths will surpass the number occurring in the 31 days of January and will equal the number in the long month of March. It is in February that pneumonia will be most prevalent and, at the same time, most severe. In March there should be a very slight general improvement, especially as regards pneumonia and meningitis. Smallpox and measles are usually worse in March than in February.

Up to date the economic depression has improved the health rate and lowered the death rate. However, this improvement may not continue much longer. It is rather expected that it will be reflected in a higher consumption rate by next spring. Its effect in increasing pellagra is already being reported.

INSOMNIA.

C. K. writes: I am troubled with insomnia. I feel fine and my appetite is good. I wonder if you could suggest what the cause might be. I get so that I don't care when I go to bed. Of course, I know that is the wrong way to look at it. It seems that my eyes never get heavy. I am now wearing my glasses at the office all day, thinking that might be the trouble.

REPLY.

The cure for insomnia is training in relaxation. A person who is limp mentally, emotionally, and physically will always sleep as much as he needs. The difficulty in ninety per cent of the cases is in securing emotional relaxation, though emotional tension generally causes mental and physical tension. Relaxation is a matter of training. Taking medicine does not help that.

CAUSE OF BAD BREATH.

E. B. L. writes: I have a case of bad breath and I would like to know how to stop it. I clean my teeth at least three times a day, so that I don't believe it is from decay of food on my teeth. Is it all right if I use some antiseptic?

REPLY.

It seems you have eliminated foul teeth, as far as your case is concerned. Can you eliminate osema, foul tonsils and tongue? If so, have you odors from the digestive tract? Halitosis from that cause calls for change of diet. It is all right to use mouth washes, though this may not reach far enough.

ON PRIVATE PROPERTY.

Chicago, Oct. 28.—[Friend of the People.]—My neighbor has a very large tree in his back yard on the property line, about half extending into my yard. This tree seems to be in a dangerous condition as where the trunk divides it has split, and I am afraid that some time during a storm it might come down. I will be pleased to have you advise me what action I should take to have this tree cut down or at least that portion extending on my property. A. C. B.

The tree mentioned in this communication is on private property and without the jurisdiction of this department. An inspection shows that it is not in a dangerous condition. The owner has the sole right to remove the tree. The owner of the adjoining property may remove any portion overhanging his property, although he would be civilly responsible for any possible damage to the tree as a result of his act.

CITY WATER METERS.

Chicago, Oct. 24.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—The neighborhood I live in is being equipped with water meters. 1. Can this be stopped in any way? I have not signed for water meters. 2. How can the city put in these meters without our consent? 3. The way things are now the children will have to go to school without washing. J. S.

1. We can suggest no effective way.

2. Since they are in a position to refuse to give water service to persons who will not comply with their reasonable requirements they are in a position to gain your consent.

3. It would be absurd for you to compromise in these respects. Your letter indicates that you have not informed yourself as to the cost of water coming through the meter.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

YOU REMAIN LIABLE.

Chicago, Oct. 24.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—Last year I rented an apartment and signed a lease. I paid all rent when due until three months ago, when I was unable to meet payments due to working only part time. At this time I wish to rent a cheaper apartment and wish to know if I can be sued for the rent. L. C. Z.

You would remain liable as far as the facts stated are concerned.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the gnips fall where they may. W. M.

LONDON is all worked up over the king's party at Buckingham palace next Thursday. Gandhi has been invited and says he will go in his loin cloth. Oh, how perfectly dreadful! Everyone thinks his majesty will simply die! What! Oh, no bloomin' fear! All court etiquette was shattered into small bits when Ambassador Charley Dawes appeared at a royal function in long trousers instead of short panties. It was an awful shock to the king, but he finally recovered. Now he'll stand for murder.

WASHED OFF.

When but a child, my sums I'd place
Upon a slate. When through
With one swift motion I'd erase
Each numeral from view;
And leave the slate all fresh to start
Another problem. On my heart
You drew your face one summer day
Indelibly, you thought. But see:
Since you have laughed and gone away,
I have erased it easily.

Oh, how I bless the kindly Fate
That made my heart just like a slate.

The Duke Discovers Fall Is Here.

Dick, Most peepul know that fall is here when the leaves turn red and tha little squirrels get their new coats. Me, I don't hafta pay no attention to tha leaves, but tha minute that squirrel of mine pulls her yearly squwauk, to wit, "Ya don't think I'm gonna wear that alley cat gunny sack another winter, do you?", then I know fall is come. Tha salesman said tha coat was genuine imitation seal and would last forever, tha Mama says the dirty cheater wood use tha same line of talk if he was selling kippered herring. I think tha guy hung an imitation imitation seal on her. Course ya can't squwauk now after 4 yrs. is past, maybe the guy's dead for all I know, if he ain't he's got my best wishes. But that's neither here nor hereafter cause I aint got tha bucks an I tole tha B an C she's fresh out of luck. What does she do but pull that old army game of turning on her tear faucets an tellin me she wished she was never born. Just between me an her there's 2 of us in on that wish. Between her sobs I manage to get a word in edgewise an I tells her that with tha present depression hanging over our heads it cant be did. Her reply is that if she don't get a new coat tha depression wont be over my head, it will be right on top of it and at least 2 inches deep. What gets me sorer than hell is when she pulls that ole argument about how Leah an Blanche got new coats an Irene is promised a $800. Mink for Xmas an Madelyn is having any amount of new skins added to her Ermine. If those buzzards dont stay out of our house there all gonna need new skins. Other cracks that don't sound exactly like angels playing on harps are "You seem able to send your ole man a check whenever he wants it", "How much did you lose up at Leon's poker game?", an "Why don't you ask tha boss fer a raise?". There's a brilliant idea. About tha quickest way right now to see tha beautiful sights of Chgo such as Under tha bridge at Wacker Drive, Grant Park, Madison at Desplaines, wood be to get financed thru asking fer a raise. That B an C of mine is a foxy ole gel, she knows before tha argument is over I'm gonna finally ask how much a new rabbit blanket is gonna cost. Well, I find out she's been lookin in 9 stores already an tha cheapest is 190 berries which is also a dam lie cause she knows I'm gonna cut whatever she says in two. I think Mr. Work calls this act finessing thru tha jack. I'm starting today gettin 95 bucks together. She's on tha phone now telling about tha new coat she's getting, ending up each call with "I'm so happy." Yea, she's happy. DUKE BAKRAE.

REVIEWED IN RHYME.

We sigh for the joys of a farmer's life,
Far away from the city's roar and strife.

We yearn for green fields and the smell of fresh loam,
And we've dreamed of the time when we'd own our own home;

Our own cow, our own hens, our own pig, our own tree,
And raise our own honey, for we'd keep our own bee.

Far off in the country, we'd just sing and dance,
And give old Depression a swift kick in the pants.

Wait! Before you decide on which farm you'll choose,
Till you read this new book called "Sand in My Shoes."

Truth is stranger than fiction, but this piece of writing,
Proves that Truth can also be much more exciting.

It's not propaganda, yet one thing it teaches,
Whatever you do, oh gosh! don't raise peaches.

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

NOVEMBER 2, 1915.

DOUGLAS, Ariz.—At 2:05 o'clock this morning Gen. P. Elias Calles' headquarters reported Villa attacks on Agua Prieta had been repulsed, with many dead lying all around the Carranza trenches. "We will hold Agua Prieta for years," it was added. H. K. Jones, a letter carrier, was shot by Mexican bullets as he stood in front of his home, but was not seriously wounded. Bullets are falling thickly on 7th street in Douglas, where Jones was wounded.

ROME.—The Austro-Germans are preparing a new offensive against the Suez canal, according to an Athens dispatch, which adds that the British have made gigantic preparations to meet such an eventuality. Among other things, they have flooded the land along the canal, leaving the fortifications just standing out of the water, the defenders being supplied with provisions by gunboats.

BALKAN WAR NEWS.—German troops captured the Serbian town of Kraguyevatz, fifty-nine miles below Belgrade, in which is located the great Serbian arsenal. The army which captured Milanovac is advancing, and Trivunova mountain was taken. The Bulgarians are advancing through the mountains to Nish and tightening the ring about the Serbian army, which, London now admits, is in grave peril. A dispatch from Sofia by way of Berlin says Bulgarian artillery has begun a bombardment of the outer forts of Nish. A Berlin statement said the French troops in Serbia came from the Dardanelles.

NEW YORK.—One of the wildest campaigns in the history of New York City is closing in whirlwind fashion. The fight between Tammany and the fusion forces is nearing an end and the fusion meeting tonight at Durland's Riding academy was attended by a serious panic. Senator Depew, Seth Low, and Justice Jerome were the speakers. Police controlled the mob with difficulty. Gov. Odell served notice on Mayor Van Wyck that the election must be fair.

LONDON.—The Rustenburg column, under Col. G. Benson, has met with a serious reverse in the southern part of the Transvaal, in the area of Commandant Gen. Botha's operations. Col. Benson and eight other officers were killed and thirteen officers wounded, besides 53 noncommissioned officers and men killed and 156 wounded. Gen. Kitchener reports that Botha's strength was 1,000 men. The Boers are said to have suffered severely, but no reliable estimate of their losses has been received.

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—Eleven children, inoculated with diphtheria antitoxin, have died of tetanus [lockjaw] in this city in the last few days. Eleven other children are suffering with lockjaw, with small hope of recovery. The health department announced that no more diphtheria antitoxin will be manufactured by the city of St. Louis.

NOVEMBER 2, 1881.

NEW YORK.—The defalcations of Oscar L. Baldwin, cashier of the Mechanics National bank at Newark, N. J., which closed its doors, is now set at $2,600,000. There are many in Wall street who are inclined to the opinion that Baldwin's confession of losing the money through loans to Nugent & Co., morocco manufacturers, without knowledge of the bank's board of directors, is not the whole truth. There is a rumor that some of the money was lost in stock exchange speculation, but it has not been confirmed. One financier said that indications were that others were involved in the theft.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—George Scoville, counsel for Charles J. Guiteau, assassin of President Garfield, has ordered subpoenas to be issued for the following Chicagoans to testify at the trial: Mrs. Augustus Parker, James G. Kiernan, George T. Burroughs, Francis M. Scoville, and J. Lewis Lee.

TUCSON, Ariz.—Trouble is likely to arise from the recent shooting of some cowboys by Marshal Earp and a posse at Mudstone. Earp telegraphed Gen. Willcox to send a company of cavalry to check the cowboys.

VETERANS' RELIEF.

Chicago, Oct. 24. — James O'Donnell Bennett's article on the Hines hospital in today's CHICAGO SUNDAY TRIBUNE contains statements that are worthy of serious attention, particularly in these days of excessive taxes, governmental deficits and widespread poverty and suffering.

There were in the hospital at the time of Mr. Bennett's visit 1,503 patients, only one-third of whom were suffering from disabilities connected in any way with services to the government. To care for these patients the hospital has a personnel of 1,659, which includes 126 medical officers on full time and 12 dentists on full and part time. That is, the hospital has one full time medical officer to each 12 patients and one dentist to each 125 patients. Many of these patients are not serious bedridden cases, for their average stay in the hospital is 73 days. On the hospital's staff there are in addition 27 consultants from among the most eminent practitioners in Chicago, selected from the faculties of the leading medical schools. These consultants receive an average honorarium of $3,000 per year, or a total of $54,000. The yearly pay roll for employés alone is now $1,980,340, or about $1,320 per patient in the hospital. In addition to hospital patients, large numbers of out patients are examined to determine the extent of their disability, their need for hospitalization, and their right to money compensation.

The employés' pay roll, however, is only a part of the cost of providing hospital service to the patients. The lands, buildings, and equipment cost $15,000,000, or $10,000 per patient and $30,000 per patient suffering from disability related to governmental service. The hospital has the largest equipment for radium therapy in the world, including radium to the value of $125,000. It has a larger X-ray transformer than any of the great hospitals or medical and research centers in Chicago. Only two of the scores of motion pictures theaters in Chicago have as good projection equipment.

Such huge expenditures as those that have been maintained help to explain the fact that the government has contributed for the world war veterans, in addition to bonuses and the so-called adjusted compensation, during the 12 years since the close of the war an average of more than $400,000,000 per year. At the present time the veterans' bureau is sending out more than 1,000,000 checks per month to veterans and their relatives. These enormous contributions, exceeding the expenditures, for example, of the entire country during the same years for domestic electricity, unfortunately do not satisfy those who have received them nor protect the treasury from attempted further raids. In spite of additional payments during the present year of nearly a billion dollars, demands have recently been made on the President for further huge contributions, and there are frequent references to a not distant future when there will be universal pensions.

At a time when tens of thousands of children in our schools are underfed, we may well inquire who are these favored citizens of whom Mr. Bennett quoted Col. Scott, director of the Hines hospital, as saying: "Except for his wounds and diseases, the ex-service man is the most fortunate of our citizens. He is the pampered child of a wealthy father." These ex-soldiers are simply a cross section of the young men of the country in 1917 and 1918, ranging from the college boys who eagerly went into the perils of aviation to the bums who were put into uniforms by force. Recent propaganda would lead one to infer that they were all high minded patriots who willingly faced shrapnel and poison gas. As a matter of fact, a large percentage of them were forced into the army by the draft, they revealed an amazing amount of illiteracy, their average intelligence was discouragingly low, and from the regulars only a small fraction of them got to France and saw any action at the front, and their casualties were fewer than those of automobile accidents in the United States during the last two years. Nor have they changed, for Mr. Bennett states that the patients at Hines hospital supported nonetheless within less than 100 paces from its wards and that poisons were peddled in its very wards until Col. Scott within three years placed the hospital under adequate discipline.

With widespread distress and the government facing huge deficits any further demands by the already pampered veterans will permanently alienate large masses of citizens who have heretofore made no remonstrance while more than $5,000,000,000 has been expended on and given to those who were in uniform either voluntarily or by draft, during the world war. F. R. MORRIS.

GASOLINE.

Chicago, Oct. 21.—It would seem to me that the motorist is carrying his full share of the taxes paid without the additional burden suggested by Mr. James Simpson. Why a further sales tax on gasoline, specifically, rather than a general sales tax on any and all merchandise? The idea seems to be to put gasoline in the category that liquor formerly occupied. There is no more reason to tax the fuel burned in an automobile, save for road improvement, than the coal or oil consumed in a factory. No reason, I dare say, why one article should be chosen for this discrimination. At the same time, I hope to see the day when the sales tax will replace most of the taxes we now pay, when a tax will be imposed on all goods consumed, to the great relief of the now overburdened real estate, much of which makes no return whatever to its owner.

But an additional tax on gasoline today will be merely an additional tax to be spent—but not to relieve any one except the tax spending bodies.

Did Valenti make them criminals?

RUSSIA-JAPAN FRIENDS OR FOES? U. S. OPENS PROBE

Sends an Observer Into North Manchuria.

TOKIO, Nov. 2.—[Monday.]—(AP)—Conflicting reports regarding the alleged rapprochement of China and Russia and the massing of Russian troops beyond the border of Manchuria has prompted the United States to send an observer to make a personal investigation of conditions in northern Manchuria.

A Harbin dispatch today said George Hanson, American consul general at Harbin, who speaks both Chinese and Russian, started for Tsitsihar, where he will spend several days. Later he will go to Hailar and then probably to Manchuli. His observations will be telegraphed directly to Washington.

On the heels of Hanson's departure to the troubled area, confusing reports reached Tokio of Japanese troop movements in northern Manchuria. The first of these, a Rengo news agency dispatch from Changchun, said the Japanese garrison at Changchun was preparing to depart for an unannounced destination, while "part of the troops appeared to be preparing to move in the direction of Harbin."

600 Japanese Soldiers at Changchun.

The foreign office discredited the dispatch, saying there were no indications here of any reason making necessary the movement of Japanese troops to Harbin. The government spokesman said it was more likely the troops intended to shift to Taonan to reinforce the small garrison there, protecting Japanese interest in the Taonan-Ssupingkai railroad.

The second Rengo dispatch from Changchun said 600 Japanese soldiers from the garrison at Kirin, which was occupied at the outbreak of the present trouble, Sept. 18, arrived at Changchun en route to Toanan, while another continent was to follow soon.

In South Manchuria, Gen. Ling Yin-Cheng's "people's defense army" was reported fighting a detachment of troops of the Manchurian governor, Chang Hsueh-Liang, in the region of Pan-Shansien.

Russia Stirs Japan's Anxiety.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Nov. 2.—[Monday.]—Grave concern is felt in Japan over the growing tension in Manchuria as a result of the massing of Chinese troops at Tsitsihar by Gen. Mr. Chan-shan, head of the Heilungkiang government. It is reported that an understanding has been reached between China and Russia under which Russian troops concentrated on the frontier will aid Chinese soldiers.

Contradicting Russia's pledge to Japan not to take sides, it is reliably understood that Vasilievsky, secretary of the Chinese Eastern railway, conferred with Russian and Chinese military authorities. These conferences resulted in a pledge by Russia to assist the Chinese in Heilungkiang by supplying arms, officers, and provisions, according to information received by the Tokio government.

Charge Russians Aiding Chinese.

The Chinese have promised to suppress bandits in the Hailar areas to prevent the establishment of an independence regime in outer Mongolia and also to oust white Russians unfriendly to the communists from Manchuria, it is alleged. The Russians, it is further charged, have dispatched four armored motor cars, four anti-aircraft guns, ten field guns, 100 machine guns and several thousand rifles to Gen. Ma Chan-shan's forces at Tsitsihar.

At Dauria, according to reports, 30,000 Red troops have been massed, with 700 railway coaches ready to move them at a minute's notice. It is also understood in Japan that all the troops which Russia moved to the frontier since the outbreak of trouble have been ordered to concentrate at Hailar. The Russians are said to have an infantry regiment, 48 airplanes, many armored cars, 20 mountain guns, and over 100 engineering troops in outer Mongolia.

EVIDENCE BARES PLOT BY JAPAN TO SEIZE MANCHURIA

Shows Railway Was Never Blown Up.

jacent to the Japanese barracks. These gun positions, probably established months or years previously, had been concealed by barn like buildings of light wooden framework and covered with corrugated sheet iron.

Since the range had been figured previously, all that was necessary was to knock off one side of the buildings, insert the charge and press the button. This undoubtedly explains how the Japanese were able to coordinate their artillery fire to cover an infantry advance on the Chinese barracks in the dead of night. Also, it probably explains the heavy casualties among the Chinese troops who apparently were caught sleeping. About 400 Chinese were killed, according to Japanese figures, while only two Japanese were killed.

There is scarcely a foreigner in Mukden who believes the Japanese report regarding the blowing up of the railway or the Chinese attack on the Japanese troops. Foreigners familiar with conditions in Mukden declare that had the Chinese desired to have cut the railway, they obviously would not have selected a spot in close proximity to their barracks.

Foreign observers also have picked flaws in the Japanese explanation and photographs showing the damage alleged to have been caused by the explosion. These observers point out that the reported time of the explosion and the time required for placing in position two new rails, does not coincide with the train schedules, which show that trains were passing this particular section of track at regular intervals although it was reported to have been out of commission.

When foreign military observers were invited to the scene several days later the only evidence visible consisted of two new rails, a shattered wooden tie, and several pieces of scrap iron, alleged to have been caused by the explosion, and the badly decomposed bodies of four Chinese soldiers lying along the right of way with their heads pointing away from the scene of the explosion as though they had been shot while running away from the place. Why the entire broken rails had been taken away was not explained by the Japanese officers.

DAGO MANGANO GETS A DAY OF PUSHING AROUN

Police and Federal Men Take Turns at Him.

MICHAEL ALLEGRETTI.

[illegible] Lawrence Mangano, Capone gangster, on the west side, was pushed around from detective bureau to federal building and back again yesterday. Late last night he was in the custody of Murray W. Garsson, special assistant secretary of labor, for several hours. Then early this morning he was taken back to the bureau for questioning a night's report. Mr. Garsson would not tell the public enemy for, but it was presumed that his action had to do with the government's investigation of possibilities of deporting Mangano.

The gangster was routed from bed early Saturday morning by detectives in accordance with Chief of Detectives Schoemaker's policy of having him arrested "whenever I think of it, and that will be often." At the detective bureau Mangano was informed he was a robbery suspect. His attorney applied to Judge John Prystalski for a writ of habeas corpus but the judge set the hearing back until today when he was informed of the government's investigation of the prisoner.

Mangano went back to his cell [illegible] that was where he was at 3 a'clock yesterday morning when Michael [illegible]gretti] Allegretti arrived to share his imprisonment. Allegretti is a cousin of Al Capone, and a brother keeper. He was taken to the detective bureau from a loop night club.

Mangano seemed pleased at the arrival of a comrade. He sang [illegible] and Allegretti sang tenor, and for hours they annoyed other prisoners with the strains of "When the Roll Is Called Up Yonder I'll Be There."

And there they were when the time was called for the Sunday afternoon showup of suspects before robbery victims. As Mangano stood before the assembly of citizens seeking justice, Chief Schoemaker addressed him.

"What were you arrested for?" asked the chief.

"For trying to get a little sleep, I guess," said Mangano with a grin.

Neither he nor Allegretti was identified, and later Mangano was taken to the federal building for questioning.

"Mangano came to this country when he was six months old," Chief Schoemaker said as the gangster left the bureau. "When he was 20 years old he was sentenced to six months in jail for pandering. That's certainly

'Echarpe Prints

(PRONOUNCED A-SHARP)

Created especially for this year's fashions! A scarf print and a dress print that harmonize!

Echarpe Prints are enthusiastically endorsed by Paris and leading stylists all over the country. No wonder! They make the new fashion points twice as thrilling and twice as easy to make.

Here's the reason! Every Echarpe print pattern has a second bolt to match or contrast, printed in bias sections with a border on all four sides.

Out of these you make the new wide wrap-around effects, the criss-cross neckline, the sash dress, the covered shoulder.

Today they make their premiere appearance here at Field's . . . tomorrow they'll be famous. Consult the Thimble for individual new ways to wear them.

Echarpe Prints belong to the famous family of Silks Beau Monde founded and made by Marshall Field & Company.

LAVAL HINTS U. S. HAS AGREED TO CUT FRENCH DEBT

Insists Paris Will Remain "Mistress of Security."

BULLETIN.

HAVRE, France, Nov. 2.—(Monday.)—(AP)—Premier Laval and his party arrived here at 10:24 a. m. today on the liner Ile de France from their visit to the United States.

PARIS, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Premier Pierre Laval is returning home tomorrow to translate into action the plans he formulated with President Hoover for dealing with intergovernmental war debts and German reparations.

The liner Ile de France is due at Havre about 10 a. m. and the premier will entrain at once for Paris, arriving in the afternoon. He will be greeted there by Louis de Chappedelaine, minister of merchant marine, Under Secretary of Interior Cathala, and Mayor Meyer.

There will be no formal ceremony at the quay, but the news of his arrival will be broadcast throughout France and it is hoped he will give the nation a message over the radio. He is scheduled to have an important conference tomorrow night with German ambassador Leopold von Hoesch, who is returning from Berlin with purported new reparations proposals.

"France to Retain Security."

The newspaper Midi published an interview between M. Laval and its correspondent aboard the Ile de France in which he was quoted as explaining certain clauses in the Washington communique regarding disarmament, security, and war debts.

"France will remain the mistress of her security," he said, "as long as the powers shall not have realized by efficacious means a solid and lasting organization of peace, as we stated at Washington."

Asked about the passage bearing on governmental obligations, he replied:

"The passage is quite clear. You see therein we occupied ourselves with what will happen at the end of the Hoover moratorium and then we foresaw the substitution of a legal régime for an abnormal régime, the very one provided for in the Young plan."

Defines "New Arrangement."

Defining the phrase "new arrangement," he said:

"It is correct we considered for the period of economic depression a new arrangement for inter-governmental debts without, however, our having drawn up the precise terms of the new contract."

When his interviewer suggested the United States had accepted for the first time the eventful reduction of French debts, the primier answered:

"That is not a bad translation of the communique."

Of reparations he said: "It goes without saying that they also have been provided for in arrangements for the period of economic depression."

German Leaves to See Laval.

BERLIN, Nov. 1.—Ambassador Leopold Von Hoesch left for Paris today to lay the subject of reparations before Premier Laval and the center of gravity for Germany's foreign policy shifted temporarily to the banks of the Seine.

Chancellor Bruening was said to have instructed his envoy to hold back any proposition for revision until Laval has given his version of his discussions on the matter with President Hoover.

Questions as to the Wilhelmstrasse's policy in the immediate future bring the stock reply "It all depends on what Laval tells our ambassador." This is not interpreted as meaning that the government is not prepared for action. It is believed Von Hoesch undoubtedly will try to persuade the French premier of the necessity of summoning an international conference at the earliest moment to go into the entire question of frozen credits, reparations and war debts.

HEARING FRIDAY ON ONE MAN CAR ORDINANCE PLAN

Although the city council has directed Corporation Counsel Sexton to fight the petition of the Chicago Surface Lines to extend the operation of one man cars, hearings on which are being held before the Illinois Commerce commission, the subject is still an issue among the aldermen.

ALD. BOWLER.

The issue was raised again in the council by the submission of an ordinance by Ald. James R. Bowler [25th], chairman of the local transportation committee, prohibiting the operator of a bus or street car to collect fares while the vehicle is in motion. A hearing on the ordinance will be held by the Bowler committee on Friday.

Some of the councilmen yesterday pointed out the danger in the collection of fares by one man while he is also operating the car; others said an additional point to be considered is a possible increase in fares or a decrease in service if the bus and street car companies are forced to have two men on each vehicle.

In a communication to all the aldermen William Quinlan, president, and other officials, of the Street Car Men's union, have urged the passage of the ordinance.

Ex-Broker's Clerk Back to Face Theft Charge

Allan Dickinson, 26 years old, former broker's bookkeeper, was returned to Chicago from Milwaukee last night on a year old charge of embezzlement. He was arrested by Milwaukee authorities on anonymous information given by a woman. Dickinson is charged with embezzling $2,000 from his former employer, Louis C. Thran, grain commissioner, 332 South La Salle street. Police said that Dickinson, a $35 a week office man, speculated in the wheat market.

STAR OF FASCIST LEADER RISES FAST IN GERMANY

Hitler's 'State' Is Ready; 'Jobs for All.'

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Nov. 1.—Besides the government of the German republic, besides the governments of 17 German states, a third government, a "state within the state," is growing steadily in power, outdistancing by far many of the smaller German governments. It is the "third state" of Adolf Hitler, Fascist leader of Germany.

ADOLF HITLER.

"Twelve million Germans stand behind me," thundered Hitler before 60,000 of his followers on the parade grounds of Germany's kaisers of the middle ages outside of Braunschweig. And he told his followers of the day, not far away, when he and his lieutenants would rule Germany.

Has "Government" Ready.

An investigation has revealed that Hitler's assertion, "Our state is ready," is not an absolutely idle boast. Hitler, Austrian and one time house painter, has a huge organization of "statesmen," who today are working in states in which they plan to reign when Hitler seizes power.

Much has been said of Hitler's army of "brown shirts," "storm troops" and "guard corps."

But Hitler has more than this army. The framework of his "third state" is finished, it is revealed. The full list of offices and officials of the "Hitler state" as it stands today has been obtained.

Hitler is the supreme chief of the party, the "state," and of all "storm troops." He has two personal aides, Rudolf Hess and Wilhelm Brueckner. The finance minister of "Naziland" is Franz Schwarz, in private life a Munich alderman. The secretary of state is Karl Fiehler, also a Munich alderman. Hitler, Schwarz and Fiehler form the board of the "National Socialist Workers' Party of Germany Association, Inc."

The "state" offices are in the "brown house" in Munich. Other departments in this "government" total 21 and range from the department of foreign affairs to aviation. Committees aid the chiefs of these departments with corresponding offices in all important centers of Germany.

Pledge of Jobs Lures Many.

Thousands have Fascist jobs now—thousands more hope for Fascist jobs, and that, to a great extent, explains the astounding rise of Hitler and his party. His fiery oratory caught many voters. His Utopian promises lured others. Military drill, parades, and secret organizations drew hundreds.

Jobs in the "storm troops" and now jobs in the Hitler "state"! Whoever pays dues to the Hitler party may be assured that when Hitler's day comes he'll have a job.

The salaries paid the "job holders" are comparatively remunerative as salaries go in Germany, and in a country which suffers as bitterly as Germany under the strain of unemployment the lure of a job is exceptionally strong.

DIPLOMAT HERE

HUGH R. WILSON.

Hugh R. Wilson of Evanston, American minister to Switzerland, left on the Capitol limited of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad yesterday for Washington, D. C. Although Mr. Wilson would not discuss the nature of his business in Washington it is believed to deal with plans for American participation in the league of nations arms limitation conference to be held at Geneva next year. Mr. Wilson arrived from Switzerland two weeks ago to confer with Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson.

IS ARMS HOLIDAY IN EFFECT? FIRST DAY SLIDES BY

GENEVA, Nov. 1.—(AP)—The date for the beginning of a one year armament building truce passed today with nobody at league of nations headquarters able to say whether the holiday actually is in effect. The United States, Russia, Japan, and eleven other governments have said yes, but each with provisos concerning the participation of other states and some, like Washington, with definite exceptions.

Four great powers—Italy, which proposed the truce; Great Britain, and Germany, which heartily endorsed the scheme a month ago, and France—have not yet officially reported their attitude, though Italy and Germany have announced their willingness to participate.

Most of the affirmative replies, including the American and Japanese, were received only within the last two days and they are being circulated to other governments. Until the numerous reservations and exceptions are approved by the other states, the legal status of the truce remains uncertain.

Alive After Plane Crashes, Man Falls from Roof, Dies

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Gregorio Palacios, aviation mechanic, was killed today by a fall from the roof of an apartment house while being rescued from a plane that had struck there. Cuatemoc Azacarta, brother of Gen. Juan Azacarta, former head of Mexico's military air force, was seriously injured. Flying at a low altitude, their plane struck a three story building. It ripped the roof loose but remained on top. When rescuers opened up the wreckage to release Palacios, who was still alive, they accidentally let him fall about 50 feet to the street.

MEXICO CRUSHES MILITARY PLOT TO SEIZE POWER

Four Chiefs Discarded Calles, the Rescuer

BY JOHN CORNYN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 1.—Mexican political and social situation has changed almost over night and immeasurably for the better, according to those who would like to see the nation completely step over the barrier that separates arbitrary government from a government representative of the people. To understand the significance of what has taken place it is necessary to recall the close of the administration of Plutarco Calles in November, 1928, and then take in the revolt led by Gen. Gonzalo Escobar against the succeeding administration of Portes Gil.

Calles, on retiring from the presidency, declared his desire to see Mexico have a real representative government as opposed to the one man dictatorships which had been the rule for more than 100 years. When the Escobar revolt broke out some time later Calles was again in the saddle as the strong minister of war, backing Portes Gil's government. He crushed the revolt.

MEXICO CRUSHES MILITARY PLOT TO SEIZE POWER

Four Chiefs Discarded by Calles, the Rescuer.

BY JOHN CORNYN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 1.—Mexico's political and social situation has changed almost over night and immediately for the better, according to those who would like to see the country completely step over the border and separates arbitrary government from a government representative of the people. To understand the significance of what has taken place it is necessary to recall the close of the administration of Plutarco Calles in November, 1928, and then take in the revolt led by Gen. Gonzalo Escobar against the succeeding administration of Portes Gil.

Calles, on retiring from the presidency, declared his desire to see Mexico have a real representative government as opposed to the one man dictatorships which had been the rule for more than 100 years. When the Escobar revolt broke out some time later Calles was again in the saddle as acting minister of war, backing Portes Gil's government. He crushed the revolt.

Military Clique Threatens.

Out of this struggle emerged three outstanding military leaders, Gen. Juan Andreu Almazan, Lazaro Cardenas and Saturnino Cedillo, all commanding large armies. Although Escobar had been downed, the military clique was still on top.

Then began the moves on a political checkerboard that culminated in the elimination of these alleged dangerous military factors and with them Gen. Joaquin Amaro, minister of war.

Almazan, who commanded large bodies of troops in the northeast, was made minister of communications and public works.

All Four Dropped.

Cardenas, who had dropped into the command of the federal troops in the state of Michoacan, also had under his control large bodies of well trained and experienced Indians ready to follow his lead. Cardenas was made minister of the interior.

Cedillo, an Indian, had, in addition to the federal troops under his command in the state of San Luis Potosi, 10,000 well armed and disciplined peasants. Cedillo was made minister of agriculture.

When rumors that the trio were starting trouble arose there came the announcement that President Ortiz Rubio's cabinet had resigned and that four members had declared they would not take a cabinet position under any condition or circumstances.

These four men were Amaro, Almazan, Cedillo, and Cardenas. All four are today without military command, political office or influence. Calles, minister of war, again was the rescuer.

BOOK CHARGES KING GEORGE THREATENED ABDICATION IN 1914

[Copyright: 1931: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, Nov. 1.—The name of King George has been dragged into the latest "book controversy" here. It is asserted that during the Ulster crisis in 1914, shortly before the world war, he threatened to abdicate unless his ministers allowed him to hold a conference of the leaders of the Irish parties involved in dispute in Buckingham palace. A vigorous denial was made by a high court official tonight.

The story is based on a conversation with the late C. F. G. Masterman, Liberal minister, and appears in Ford Madox Ford's latest work "Return to Yesterday," which is being published tomorrow. The king, says Mr. Ford in his book, had asked all the leaders of all the Irish parties to meet at a round table conference at Buckingham palace under his presidency. According to Mr. Ford, Masterman told him that the cabinet was unanimously against the conference.

"Finally, according to Masterman—and I made note of his words immediately afterward," writes Mr. Ford, "the king said, 'Very well, gentlemen; I am the richest commoner in England. If you wish me to abdicate, I will abdicate, supposing that to be the wish of the country. But before that we will have a general election and I have not much doubt regarding the result as between you and me.'

"So," concludes Mr. Ford, "he had his conference."

COURTS REVEAL 1931 BOOST IN RECEIVERSHIPS

JUDGE DENIS SULLIVAN.

The work of the chancery division of the Circuit and Superior courts, excluding divorce courts, increased more than 40 per cent in the first ten months of the year, as compared with the corresponding period of last year, according to court records. The increase is due to the growth in the number of foreclosures filed in the courts.

In the Superior court, Judges Denis E. Sullivan, William J. Lindsay, and Robert E. Gentzel have appointed receivers in 1,718 cases since the first of the year, as against 942 in the same period in 1930, an increase of 44 per cent.

In the Circuit court, Judges Joseph Burke, Michael Feinberg, Philip J. Finnegan and Stanley H. Klarkowski have appointed 1,597 receivers since the first of the year. In the same period of 1930, Judges Philip L. Sullivan, William V. Brothers, Michael Feinberg and Denis J. Normoyle appointed 938 receivers.

The number of suits filed in both courts has remained about the same in the two periods. While other classes of legal actions have dropped, the number of foreclosures increased in a manner to offset this decrease.

ALFALFA BILL'S ARMY PREPARES TO OCCUPY MARTIAL LAW ZONE

Durant, Okla., Nov. 1.—(AP)—Gov. W. H. [Alfalfa Bill] Murray's "army" took the offensive again tonight, preparing to occupy the Denison-Durant Red river bridge martial law zone at dawn tomorrow.

Col. John MacDonald, Capts. Don Atkinson and Ralph Ownby, and enlisted men made ready to encamp on the river banks "for a long siege."

The governor's order today duplicated his action of a week ago, when he called out troops to keep the free state bridge open and to render ineffective any adverse action of the United States District court, where the Red River Toll Bridge company is seeking an injunction to block the free span.

Federal Judge John C. Pollock is to hear the injunction plea in Kansas City, Kas., tomorrow.

Wealthy Auto Dealer and Wife Found Slain in Home

Wheeling, W. Va., Nov. 1.—(AP)—George Emory Hopkins, 72, wealthy automobile dealer and oriental art connoisseur, and his wife, Mrs. Nellie Deane Hopkins, 69, were found dead in their home in an exclusive residential section of this city today. They had been shot to death. Police expressed the belief tonight that Hopkins killed his wife and then ended his own life.

SLUG AND WIRE UP WATCHMAN, BUT HE FOILS BANDITS

Suffering from a skull fracture and bound hand and foot with copper wire, Charles Danek, 69 years old, 1250 South Tripp avenue, a watchman, was found unconscious late last night on the office floor of the Jones Foundry and Machine company, 4401 West Roosevelt road. He evidently was the victim of burglars, police said, although no effort was made to loot the office.

Danek came upon the intruders on the second floor and battled them desperately. The struggle led to the first floor, where he was struck over the head with a pipe and then tied. He lay helpless for an hour and a half before he was found by the building engineer. At the county hospital it was said he might recover.

Battles Armed Bandits with Fists and Halts Robbery

Louis Gerard, 50 years old, 1963 West Harrison street, braved two revolvers last night and thereby helped frustrate a robbery. He was chatting with his friend, Richard Merifield, 3621 South Hamilton avenue, attendant in the oil station at 1741 Ogden avenue, when two bandits entered with guns drawn. Gerard swung and knocked a revolver from the hand of one of the men. At the same time a motorist drove up for some gasoline. The bandits fled.

INJURY TO ARM CAUSES DEATH.

Hampton Bradley, 48 years old, 19 West 32d street, a Negro, died yesterday at the county hospital of blood poisoning which followed an injury to his arm while he was unloading a truck of coal.

MUSSOLINI WARS ON 'CHAIN LETTER' PLOT AGAINST HIM

Poison Pen Writers Incite Anti-Fascist Revolt.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, Nov. 1.—Americans visiting Italy inevitably ask the question: "If a plebiscite were held under absolutely free and unbiased conditions and without constraint, moral or otherwise, what would be the percentage of votes polled by Mussolini?"

The replies generally range from all the votes or an easy majority to an overwhelming majority against il duce. In accordance with the personal convictions of the person addressed.

But, while one guess on the subject may be as good as another, there are certain indications of a more vigorous and audacious opposition to fascism inside Italy as well as without.

Alarmed Over Populari Party.

The Fascists a few months ago registered widespread alarm at the idea that the former Populari party was reorganizing under the cover of the Catholic Action society. This led to the dispute with the pope. The Fascist press pictured such activities as menacing to the régime. To all appearances the opposition from that quarter has been suppressed.

Events, however, such as the bombing of Rome early in October with anti-Fascist propaganda from a mysterious airplane, the discovery of the use of the Vatican postoffice for the sending out of chain letters inveighing against fascism, and the drastic sentences which are imposed by the special military tribunal on those condemned for subversive political activities appear to indicate that there is growing unrest and increasing audacity among opponents of the régime.

Trace Letter Writers

The police of the régime now appear to be especially vigilant in running down the trails of the chain letter writers, who for the most part are adherents of the Aleanza Nazionale, an anti-Fascist organization. Last December two of these were sentenced to 15 years' imprisonment and an American woman, Signora De Bosis, mother of the youth who flew the propaganda plane over Rome, faced trial, but was pardoned.

Three man who were arrested in a group of ten have been tried and condemned by the military tribunal in Rome. They were charged with calumniating the Fascist state and inciting to armed rebellion through their chain letters. This group was detected in Ancona on the Adriatic coast, and through the arrests it was found that similar centers for diffusing the chain letters also existed in Rome, Genoa, and Verona.

The three men were a lawyer, Mario Murgi; a clerk, Lamberto Albertini, and a linotype operator, Algemiro Nacci. They received stiff sentences and were sent to "confino."

SHERWOOD IN TEXAS; SAYS HONEYMOON IS BECOMING NIGHTMARE

San Antonio, Tex., Nov. 1.—(AP)—Asserting his honeymoon was turning into a "nightmare," Russell T. Sherwood, whom New York City investigators call Mayor James J. Walker's business agent, arrived here today from Mexico City.

He still refused to recognize the attempts of a New York state legislative committee to fine him $100,000 for failing to return to testify about a bank strong box he held jointly with Mayor Walker.

While Mrs. Sherwood pulled her fur collar around her face to thwart camera men, Sherwood said he might stop at a San Antonio hotel for a day or two, but declined to announce his plans definitely "even for the first hour."

He branded as unauthorized reports that he planned to go back to New York within the next two weeks. He denied vigorously that he "ran away" to Mexico City from Atlantic City, which he left after newspaper reporters had discovered his presence there.

INJURED BY FALLING STONE.

Louis Knight, 34 years old, a Negro, was taken to the county hospital yesterday, probably fatally injured, after a stone fell from above the door of his home at 1313 Washburne avenue and struck him on the head.

Polish Dictator Named Rumanian Field Marshal

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WARSAW, Poland, Nov. 1.—Marshal Joseph Pilsudski, minister of war and Polish dictator, has been appointed a field marshal in the Rumanian army, according to authoritative reports. This, it is stated, was the reason for his recent visit to the Rumanian capital. In the event of a war with Russia, against whom the Polish-Rumanian military alliance was originally planned, Pilsudski would have at his command a combined Polish and Rumanian army of 700,000.

BARE THREATS IN KOEHRING DEATH MYSTERY PROBE

Former Employe Sought in Auto Killing.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Mauston, Wis., Nov. 1.—[Special.]—Philip A. Koehring, Milwaukee manufacturer found shot to death yesterday in his automobile 10 miles east of here, has received threatening letters recently, purporting to come from former employes who had been laid off, it was made known tonight by Ray Jaeckles of the law firm of Zimmers, Jaeckles & Zimmers, who came here with the Koehring family.

Mr. Jaeckles has handled the business interests of the manufacturer. He said that Mr. Koehring was disturbed by the letters, but did not turn any of them over to the district attorney. Instead, they were given to George Scott to investigate.

Find Fan Belt Removed.

A garageman who inspected the condition of the car for the authorities reported he found the fan belt had been removed and was in the car. Mr. Koehring's hands were unsoiled and this was taken as proof that he could not have removed the belt.

The developments intensified the activities of authorities who had been struggling for more than 24 hours to reconcile the mass of apparently contradictory circumstances surrounding the tragedy for presentation to a coroner's jury. The inquest originally was scheduled for 9 a. m. tomorrow, but late tonight a postponement until Thursday morning was ordered to permit further investigation.

The body of Mr. Koehring, president of the National Equipment company, a $10,000,000 road machinery manufacturing concern, was found in his automobile in the center of a field on the James Trainer farm, ten miles east of here. There was a bullet hole in the back of his head, apparently inflicted by a 25.20 deer rifle which lay across his lap.

Discoverer "Ducks" Gun.

The rifle was identified as belonging to him. One finger was on the trigger of the rifle. The others rested on the wheel. His body was in such a natural position behind the wheel that John Cassidy, Lyndon, the first on the scene, thought he was alive and was pointing the rifle at him. Cassidy told the district attorney he ducked, ran behind the machine and approaching from the other side opened the door and grabbed the rifle. When the man did not move Cassidy realized he was dead and replaced the rifle across the lap in the position he had found it.

Replaces Radiator Cap.

Mrs. James Trainer, wife of the farm owner, arrived at the automobile by this time. She had walked from the farmhouse, which is about 1,000 feet from the place where the automobile stood. She had been attracted by the radiator steam which was arising in such volume she thought the automobile was on fire. She said she saw Cassidy start across the field from the roadway as she approached from the farm. Cassidy had been driving along highway 12 with John Sorenson, also of Lyndon. Sorenson had remained in the machine.

Both said the motor of the automobile still was running. Cassidy said the radiator cap was off and replaced it. Sheriff Elmer H. Hempelman arrived about twenty minutes later. He was joined shortly afterwards by Edward T. Vinopal Jr., district attorney, and Ray Pharo, coroner. They worked together on the investigation throughout the night and today.

Driver Dodges Tree.

The automobile tracks show the right wheel of Koehring's automobile left the roadway shortly after it had passed the Lyndon cemetery. The driver tried desperately to swing the machine back on to the road for 35 feet the tracks indicated. Then a tree loomed in his way. The tracks indicate he swung into the fence to avoid hitting the tree. He knocked down two fence posts, leveled the wire, and then continued in a diagonal course toward the center of the soft field for 690 feet to the point where the automobile was found.

These are some of the substantiated facts in possession of the authorities.

Hold Suicide Impossible.

Dr. J. S. Hess Sr. and Dr. J. S. Hess Jr., who performed the autopsy at the Defion-Brown undertaking parlor here last night, reported to the district attorney, he said, that it was impossible for Koehring to have inflicted the wound which caused his death. The bullet ranged in a straight line from behind the right ear, where it entered, to the left side, where it flattened against the skull. The doctor said the left side of the skull was shattered in a half dozen small pieces. The physicians declared the bullet could not have caused such damage.

There were no signs of bruises on Koehring's skull to indicate he had been struck. The physicians declared Koehring could not have held the rifle in a position that would have caused the injury, and were unable to account for its being found in his lap afterwards. They said death must have been instantaneous.

Accident Held Possible.

The rifle is 37 inches long and of the type used in deer hunting. Tests today showed a man might have placed it against his head and fired it while in the automobile, but that, it was pointed out, would have been a difficult thing to do. A fatal wound in a dozen other places in the head would have been easier to inflict.

The accident theory was advanced because only one cartridge was found in the rifle, the one that had been discharged. The rifle holds eight cartridges in the magazine and one in the chamber. The district attorney said it was possible Koehring had placed the rifle in the seat alongside of him, believing it unloaded, and that the jarring over the rough field might have have caused him to grasp it when he lost his balance. It was a possibility, although a rather unusual one. Authorities concede his grip might have caused the gun to be fired.

Find Knife in Woods.

The theory to which authorities still clung tonight, however, was that Koehring was murdered, possibly by a hitch hiker he had picked up while bound home from Minneapolis. Fresh footprints were found in a woods directly across the road from the Trainer farm. The footprints were in a direct line from the machine. Alongside of one was found a pearl handled pocket knife, which was dew drenched but which had not been there long enough to show signs of corrosion.

FASCISTI CAUSE RIOTS IN FRENCH TOWNS; 20 HURT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Nov. 1.—All Saints day ceremonies by Fascisti at the graves of Italian war dead in the French border towns of Nice, Chambery, and Dijon precipitated rioting today. More than thirty were injured, six seriously. Among the latter were three Italian consular officers at Chambery.

At Chambery, Antonelli Caprini, an Italian deputy, plunged the gathering into riot when he alluded in his speech to the anniversary of the Fascist march on Rome. This was met with cheers for Premier Mussolini, followed by vicious shouts of "Down with Il Duce!" from the anti-Fascists, who dragged the entire Italian consular staff out into the street and left them bruised and bleeding. The vice consul, Tomasso Lucieri, was stabbed in the head.

At Nice the Italian consulate was heavily guarded tonight after a day of fighting, during which one anti-Fascist workman was wounded by a bullet fired by a Fascist, and a score were injured by impromptu weapons. Two were badly wounded and several more hurt in a gun battle at Dijon.

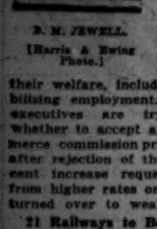
RAILWAY WORLD HUNTS A WAY OUT OF DIFFICULTIES

How to Treat Men, Make Money Major Woes.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 1.—(AP)—The railway world is trying to find solutions of its two biggest problems—how to treat employés and how to make a reasonable return on the money invested.



B. M. JEWELL. [Harris & Ewing Photo.]

The first will be considered in more detail by representatives of organized labor in Washington tomorrow; the second is being attacked by railway executives.

The labor delegates are prepared to discuss a multitude of subjects affecting their welfare, including ways of stabilising employment. Meanwhile the executives are trying to decide whether to accept an interstate commerce commission proposal—advanced after rejection of the blanket 15 per cent increase request—that returns from higher rates on some things be turned over to weaker roads.

21 Railways to Be Represented.

Officers of 21 railway labor organizations representing 1,250,000 workers are expected at the meeting tomorrow. B. M. Jewell, president of the railway employés department of the American Federation of Labor, also hopes to attend. The program they intend to adopt will be presented to congress.

The general question of wage changes probably will not come up at the sessions, but there is a likelihood of discussions of pay slicing already done by individual railroads.

Unemployment was described as the most important problem to be considered. More than 350,000 railway workers were said to be idle and facing a hard winter.

As a posible means of stabilizing employment, the six hour day and five day week will be discussed.

Klein Reassures Them.

Others among the 21 topics will be railway consolidation, regulation of bus and truck transportation, requests for increased freight rates, and the general political situation.

With the labor men's sessions just a day off, Julius Klein, assistant secretary of commerce, assured them that they were not working for a decadent transportation system.

He said "the facts do not substantiate" the view that the "old iron horse is losing out rapidly as a carrier of freight."

He added that motor transportation, although it carries only about 3 per cent of the freight, is not of minor consequence, but has its own place in the scheme.

A NEW LARYNX FOR TALKIES AND RADIO DEVELOPED

Atoms Stretch Leaf of Gold at Purdue.

Lafayette, Ind., Nov. 1.—(AP)—Talkies and radio may have a new larynx in a drum shaped pickup of gold leaf only one-millionth of an inch thick. Details of its development were made public at Purdue university today.

This membrane, 50 to 100 atomic diameters in thickness, is stretched taut like a drumhead over a steel ring larger in diameter than a silver dollar.

Developed at Purdue.

New methods of stretching made this large size pickup possible. They were developed in the physics laboratory of Purdue by C. K. Stechman of Vancouver, B. C. Gold leaf membranes as thin have been stretched before, it was stated at Purdue, but not as large.

Dr. Karl Lark-Horovitz, head of the physics department, said that the big pickup reproduces the low frequencies, that is, the deep tones, almost without distortion. It can be used both for pickup of sound and for loud speaking.

Neither fingers nor machines can pull so thin a membrane without tearing. The stretching is done by the movement of atoms when metals expand in the heat and contract in the cold. This property is their "coefficient of expansion," and is used to give the gold three separate stretchings.

How It Is Done.

First the cold gold leaf is laid upon a sheet of cold aluminum, and the edges of the leaf fastened tightly to the metal with shellac. The aluminum is placed over an electric heater. Aluminum expands faster than gold and so this heating stretches the leaf.

Next, upon the heat leaf, still resting on the aluminum, is laid a cold ring of steel, which is to hold the membrane. Shellac on the ring sticks the gold leaf fast to the steel. Then the cold steel heats and expands, further stretching the leaf.

Finally the ring is lifted off the hot aluminum plate carrying its membrane tightly fastened and with both steel and gold hot. Once more the co-efficient of expansion goes into action, this time in reverse. In cooling, steel contracts less than gold, so that the gold membrane as it draws together more rapidly gets a final stretching.

FIRST 1930 TAX BILLS MAY BE MAILED DEC. 20

The completion of the 1930 assessment for thirty country town districts in Cook county last week led to predictions yesterday by county clerk's office attachés that the first tax bills for that year will be in the mails by Dec. 20. The city-town bills, however, are not expected to be mailed out before Dec. 28 at the earliest. This mailing date thus would occur three days before the penalty date for the payment of 1930 taxes, Jan. 1.

Forty clerks for the board of review have been compiling the figures necessary for the valuation of the nine city towns for the last three days. After the books are given County Clerk Sweltzer the total valuation for the county is determined and the tax rate fixed. Then the bills are computed and mailed by County Treasurer McDonough.

Another Saga by Galsworthy Seems Likely

"Maid in Waiting" Suggests Just That.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

"Maid in Waiting," by John Galsworthy [Scribner's]. Published today.

This first novel in four years from the pen that wrote the "Forsyte Saga" comes to us today. As you remember "Swan Song" was the plaintive end of the Forsytes. They were not wholly out of Mr. Galsworthy's mind, however, for Fleur of Michael, leading characters in "The White Monkey" and "The Silver Spoon" appear in minor rôles in "Maid in Waiting."

Perhaps "Maid in Waiting" is the opening of another saga—of a family by the name of Charwell, pronounced Charwell [and after the first page for the unexplained reason always written Charwell by Mr. Galsworthy].

The maid who is in waiting is a girl named Dinny, a very nice girl, with a sense of humor and so much charm that the two nicest young men in town fall in love with her. By the end of the book she is still waiting a little between them. And that being of Dinny suspended in the middle of question leads me to believe that "Maid in Waiting" will have a sequel and a long line of literary progeny.

The fact in "Maid in Waiting" that holds the characters in suspense is each other's life is the killing of a full half-caste by a young English soldier. That fact is the pebble into which concentric rings float into our lives. The young English soldier was the brother of Dinny. He had joined an exploring expedition headed by an American and had been in charge of transport. He had had constant trouble with the half-castes who hated upon beating their mules and into insensibility. Being an Englishman and fond of animals their cruelty infuriated him. He punished one of them resented the punishment, drew a knife and rushed at him. The young Englishman shot the half-caste dead and promptly died from his own wounds. The chief of the expedition wrote a book telling the young Englishman for the failure of the trip, and then events took and far reaching ensued.

What will interest American readers specially is Mr. Galsworthy's contrast of the American and the English. He has the young American explorer arrive in England just as the furor over the events described in his book has begun. The American is a major character. That character Mr. Galsworthy draws with flattering lines. He is handsome that the English resent it—and that is no mean accomplishment in a land where the men are reputed the handsomest in the world. He is a better shot than the aristocratic natives, and that in a country where shooting is a part of the day's play [and the day's play of any nation can stand up to the day's work for skill any day]! Not only is he a better sportsman, but he is more successful in that popular English business of being "sporting." He makes grand and noble gestures toward the person whom he previously had accused of wrecking his expedition. The American in "Maid in Waiting" is so decent, so honest, so disarming, so irresistible that he wins and immediately—the hearts of the ladies, whose hearth are proverbially hard to win even given time. The pursuit of Hallorsen is perhaps a genuine repayment to the American gentleman which Mr. Galsworthy has found on his visits to America.

Does these visits—of months, not the usual weeks which foreigners spend with us—have not schooled Mr. Galsworthy in the American language, however. These words from the lips of one of the sound oddly unfamiliar. Hallorsen says: "Where you British Indians is that you've lost the spirit of enquiry; or if you've still got it, you have a dandy way of hiding it up." That is not, I should say, the word in which an American would put it. The observation which Hallorsen makes about the state of China is pointed. "I judge there are many ways in which we irritate you, but we irritate your epidermis and not China's our nerve centers."

The first part of the book is full of fine, understanding words about that original irritation. After Hallorsen is wounded, of course, everybody stops talking about how hard it is for the English and Americans to understand one another.

"Maid in Waiting" is, I should say, more nearly like "The Silver Spoon" than the rest of the Forsyte saga—a more picture done with skill rather than a brilliantly painted portrait, like the portrait of old Soames Forsyte, for instance, in "The Man of Property."

Good morning!

It would seem that ein Mann ist ein Mann—even on his honigmond—provided he prefers blonds and big roving augen detect one in the offing!

This all German production is a melodramatic thriller concerned with the adventures of a male newly wed. He leaves his bride (who wants to nap) in their train, which has been stalled by dynamite torn tracks, and goes forth to explore the adjacent town. In his provocation at his Junge Frau's refusal to accompany him he leaves his overcoat, containing all his money, in their compartment.

A wise looking fair one (Charlotte Susa, who looks just like Vilma Banky) pays his check in the café where he lands for a bite to eat, and, lured by her vampish smile, he tags along mit this Dorit, for ein Trinken in ihr Haus.

After that—sis, boom, bah! Things happen! Herr Schmitt has one fierce time composed of drei hours crowded with experiences such as he had read about but never dreamed would come skyrocketing into his humdrum existence.

Does his own particular blondine look gut to him when at last he finds her wieder? Ach ja! "Gott sei dank!" sagt Herr Schmitt feelingly.

The action is rapid and interesting, the players competent and personable, and direction, sound, photography, etc., commendable. Many of the lines sind wolken mit Feuchtigkeit if one is to judge from the laughter of those who—possibly—know more Deutsch than I do.

Deutsch Fans: Ihr werdet "D-ZUG 13 HAT VERSPAETUNG" ein Geheimnis-melodram eure Betrachtung würdig finden.

Non-Deutschers: You'll like this picture if you care for excitement, and will find it comparatively easy to follow without an English synopsis, which, however, is to be found on your program.

Wild Winnie Lightner and droll Charles Butterworth are the principal reasons for including "Side Show" in your "Pictures to See" list.

Winnie isn't as wild as usual, but she inspires more than her usual quota of sympathy. Charles, while he hasn't a particularly meaty rôle for his peculiar brand of humor, is, as always, himself. Count no picture lost when he's in it.

"Side Show," which has been accorded conscientious production, is, as you have correctly guessed, a movie of circus life. Winnie is "Pat," general all around angel in disguise, and Col. Goudy, owner of the show, relies upon her, first, last and always, to fill a gap in an act, put him to bed when he's drunk—and so on. Pat's in love with a barker. Pat's blond sister joins the show. And so on and on to a H. E. that you really hadn't expected.

The funniest incident of the piece occurs right here at the tail end. I won't tell you about it, but it sends you away laughing. Better late than never, as Mr. Butterworth would remark painstakingly.

See you tomorrow.

Official Contract

By Charles True Adams.
(International bridge authority; author of "Official Contract at Sight.")

There is no more discopeerting way to spend the half hour following dinner than arguing the relative merits of the movies, dancing, or bridge for the remainder of the evening's entertainment. If it should be bridge, don't forget that deciding on the proper declaration for any given 26 cards is often as distressing and usually far more important. Take yesterday's hand, for instance:

NORTH
♥—7

WEST
♥—K,10,9,4,2
♦—10,5

EAST
♥—5,3
♦—J,9,8,7,2
♣—A,5,4

♠—8
♦—A,K,Q,4

South opened the bidding with two diamonds. At either hearts or diamonds the hand counts 7 probable tricks, five of which are high card tricks. South bid diamonds rather than hearts, since a four card suit, if bid at all, should be bid at the first opportunity. West passed. North took out with two spades, East passed, South called three hearts, which North took out with four clubs.

South knew that North must have at least five clubs, for if his spades and clubs were both four card suits he would have bid three no trumps in place of four clubs, and if the clubs were four and the spades five he would have bid the clubs first. Consequently he knew the two hands had no more than six spades, no more than seven hearts, and probably only six, no more than six diamonds, and possibly only five, but almost certainly eight clubs. He knew, as good bidders know, that to play a trump declaration the partnership should have at least eight cards of that suit between the two hands. He also knew that his hand was distributed poorly for no trumps and that his partner's hand, which he pictures as 5-5-2-1 or 5-5-3 and none, was the worst possible distribution for a no trump declaration.

Obviously the club suit was the best declaration. He, therefore, bid five clubs.

East opened the ♥ 5, North played the A from dummy, West the 2, and his own singleton 7. He then led the dummy's ♠ 6, West played the A, North the 3, and East the 2. West returned the ♦ 10, North played the 3, East the 2, and dummy took it with the Q. Dummy led the ♣ 6, West played the 8, North played the K, and East took with the A, returning the ♥ 3, on which dummy played the Q, West the 4, and North the ♠ 4.

Dummy now led the ♣ 7, West played the J, North the Q, and East the 4. North led the ♠ 8, East played the 5, and dummy trumped, West playing the 7.

North took the next trick with the ♦ A from dummy and then led the ♦ 4, trumping with the 2 in his own hand. North led the ♣ 9, clearing the suit, and his remaining tricks were good.

Game could not have been made at no trumps, at spades, at hearts, or at diamonds.

Occasionally seven card suits must be played, but you will find two-thirds of the time the adverse six cards divided 4 and 2, 5 and 1, or 6 and none. You have one chance in three of finding an even division. With eight cards between the two hands the opposing five will be split 3 and 2 about 80 per cent of the time.

PLAY-A-PROBLEM: SOLITAIRE OR PARTNERS

Play this hand tonight at your bridge game. Keep a record of the bid and play in the spaces provided. Numbers in the bidding squares are for successive rounds. Check your results with tomorrow's answer.

To play "Solitaire": Record the bids you think each hand would make in the bidding squares. After the final declaration has been made start the play, leading from the hand at declarer's left. As you play each card, cross it off of the diagram and record it in the proper square, as S, 3, H, K, etc. In the last column indicate the hand which won the round and lead from that hand on the next round.

Send your bridge problems to Charles True Adams, The Chicago Tribune; inclose stamped, addressed envelope.

Uncle Sam's Children Own 12 Million Radios

He So Reports as Part of Census Work.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 1.—(AP)—Twelve and a half million radio sets, fifty million listeners.

Take the census bureau's word for the first figure. A number slightly above that will appear in a final report soon to be issued. The second is an estimate described as conservative. It comprises 41 per cent of the country's population.

As to how many sets are switched on for any one program and how many people are listening, the census bureau will not commit itself.

Statistics as to the number of radio sets in home have been announced for 45 states and the District of Columbia. The percentage of families having receivers varies in different states, as does the number of persons per family. The number of sets in the three most populous states—New York, Pennsylvania, and Illinois—has not yet been made public.

These three states have more than a quarter of the total radio sets of the country, it is estimated on the basis of returns from nearby states, and more than one-third of the country's total probable listeners.

In the period since the census enumeration, a year and ten months ago, many more radio sets have been placed in homes and the listening public thereby considerably increased.

The number of probable listeners has not been estimated by the census bureau. It gives only the number of families reporting possession of radio sets. But the bureau has reported the average number of persons per family in the various states. Applying that average to the number of radio receivers in each state gives an approximation of the number of listeners.

The following figures were issued for the states of the Chicago region and their neighbors:

State.	Radio sets.	Estimated listeners.
Indiana	351,540	1,335,852
Iowa	308,237	906,024
Kansas	189,527	739,155
Michigan	599,196	2,456,704
Minnesota	287,880	1,208,096
Missouri	355,252	1,373,783
Nebraska	164,854	657,596
North Dakota	59,382	278,954
Ohio	810,767	3,161,991
South Dakota	71,361	306,935
Wisconsin	364,425	1,494,143

*Estimate.

The totals for the United States are regarded as 12,563,737 and 50,186,494.

THE STAGE

BY CHARLES COLLINS.

THE "All Star Gambol," given in the Civic Opera House yesterday afternoon as the stage's contribution to the joint emergency relief fund campaign, under the sponsorship of the Tavern club, established two records. First, its net proceeds—$3,500—represented the largest sum ever raised in Chicago by an entertainment of this kind. Second, the performance itself was the best "mixed bill" in the city's theatrical history.

An audience that filled the spacious opera house from pit to gallery assembled at 2:30 p. m., counting upon a high time, and dispersed at 4:45, radiant with satisfaction. The program, conducted by clever masters of ceremonies and managed with keen professional skill, moved briskly through its many numbers. Its manner was casual but its pace was rapid. It was a show that might have been rehearsed for weeks, and every item could fairly be called a hit. The opera house lost its reputation for austere dignity and drank its fill of laughter.

The masters of ceremonies were Phil Baker of "Crazy Quilt" [minus his accordion], Ben Bernie, "old maestro" of the College Inn, and Walter O'Keefe of "The Third Little Show." They served in relays, introducing the contributors and wisecracking with eminent success, until the program approached its end. Then Messrs. Baker and Bernie elected O'Keefe as the man to close the show with his famous epic about a wanderer named Yuba who played the rhumba on his tuba down in Cuba.

Here is the way the gay ribbon of entertainment ran, from start to finish:

Ben Bernie and his band, in several soothing minutes of night club harmony, into which the old maestro plunged gleefully with the remark, "At last, boys, we are doing a recital at the Civic Opera!"

Fritz Leiber of the Civic Shakespeareans, who proved that even a classic tragedian is capable of a "single turn in one." He ended with one of Hamlet's soliloquies—"Oh, what a rogue and peasant slave am I."

The "Venetian hand ballet" number from "Crazy Quilt"—a striking and ingenious bit of rhythmic pantomime.

Louis Armstrong and his colored jazzists from the Palace theater in a musical rampage that included the jungle fantasia called "Tiger Rag."

Ted Mealy of "Crazy Quilt," who professed to be overawed by the magnificence of his surroundings, and who chanted a ballad out of the repertory and in the manner of Al Jolson.

Fannie Brice of "Crazy Quilt" and Beatrice Lillie of "The Third Little Show" in a parody on a London music hall song—the former as a Victorian belle, the latter as a cockney masher.

Moissaye Boguslawski, concert pianist, in a number that illustrated his virtuosity and also fitted neatly into the spirit of the occasion.

Blossom Seeley and Benny Fields, of "Girl Crazy," in an effective singing duologue, with two pianos assisting.

Rosemary Deering, a gifted ballet dancer, in a charming exhibition of her art.

Beatrice Lillie and Ernest Truex in Noel Coward's sketch, "Cat's Cradle," from "The Third Little Show."

The Heavenly choir from "The Green Pastures," led by Hall Johnson, in two songs out of the Negro religious anthology. The choristers left their wings and celestial robes in their dressing rooms and wore their usual Sunday best. They were introduced by Marc Connelly, author of the famous play. After they had finished one of the Sunday school children of "The Green Pastures"—Jazzlips Richardson Jr., if I am not mistaken—dressed like a pygmy at a cake-walk, proved his precocity in tap dancing.

Frances Upton, Hal Thompson, and the brilliantly drilled "Girl Crazy" chorus in the song called "Embraceable You."

The chorus of "Girl Crazy" in the "Broncho Busters" frolic.

And, finally, Michael O'Keefe's son Walter—the boy from Notre Dame and the "Little Show"—in the "Yubatuba-Cuba" lyric.

Altogether, it was a great benefit.

"Tonight or Never," a comedy which marked the end of David Belasco's career, will come to the Adelphi theater Nov. 15. Fritzi Scheff will have the rôle that Helen Gahagan played in New York.

"Bundy," a play by Leonard Ide, will be staged at the Cort theater Nov. 22 under the management of Laura D. Wilck, who offered "Torch Song" and "Stepping Sisters" at the Blackstone last season. This will be the Cort's first play of the season.

Sir Guy Standing Here with Kindred of Lawrence Barrett

Sir Guy Standing, C. B. E., K. B. E., R. N. V. R., noted English actor, arrived in Chicago yesterday from Cleveland to appear here in "Mrs. Moonlight" which opens tonight in the Harris theater. Sir Guy was accompanied by Miss Edith Barrett, co-star in the production. She is a granddaughter of Lawrence Barrett, for years co-star of Edwin Booth, the great American tragedian.

SIR GUY STANDING.

Sir Guy made his first appearance on the English stage in 1889 at the age of 16. He came to America in 1892 and toured the country in a number of plays including "A Million of Money," and "Lena Despard." His first hit was made in "Lord and Lady Algy." The rôle which directly led to stardom was in "The Dual" with Otis Skinner.

He originated the title rôle in "Daddy Longlegs," acting in that play both here and in New York, after a number of successes. With the declaration of war in 1914, Standing, the actor, disappeared from the American stage. Nothing was heard of him until Lord Northcliffe told of his fine service in the royal navy. Until then the English people knew him, as did American theatergoers, as an adroit actor of polite comedy.

Standing was a member of the British war mission, headed by Sir J. Arthur Balfour, that come to the United States after the United States declared war in 1917. For services with that mission he was knighted in June, 1918.

On his arrival here last evening he recalled this incident:

"As the king tapped me on the shoulder with a sword and bade me rise as his appointed and confirmed knight, all the money I then had in the world was eight guineas—$40 to you."

Sir Guy returned to this country as an actor three years ago to play with Jane Cowl and Philip Merivale in a number of plays. He came to Chicago early last season with Jane Cowl to act in Margaret Ayer Barnes' "Jenny." He returned to New York to play in "Mrs. Moonlight."

Bertrand Russell vs. Sherwood Anderson on State Child Rearing

New York, Nov. 1.—(AP)—State rearing of children was decried by Sherwood Anderson, novelist and editor, tonight in a debate with Bertrand Russell, English mathematician and philosopher.

Mr. Russell argued for state regulated homes for children on the assertion that parents who love their children often do them more harm than persons who are indifferent.

Dr. Russell asserted children require physical care and freedom rather than affection. Maternal solicitude, he said, is designed by nature to be adequate for a family of ten, and becomes excessive when concentrated upon one or two, the usual number of children in a family.

Mr. Anderson argued that state child rearing would result in "standardization of children" and that "the home, no matter how bad it may be, is better than that."

BEG YOUR PARDON!

Miss Sophonisba Breckenridge calls attention to an incomplete paragraph in SUNDAY'S TRIBUNE, which gives the impression that the White House child welfare conference here disapproved the work of the children's bureau at Washington. On the contrary, several resolutions commending the bureau were passed, only one, referring to proposed legislation which had received its sanction, being defeated in committee.

The all day conference of the mid-west council of the Parent-Teacher association is to be held at the Wilbur Wright Jr. High school at Cornelia and Austin avenue today instead of tomorrow as was erroneously stated in yesterday's metropolitan section.

Cooking School Starts Tomorrow for South Side

Tribune Experts Teach; Good Food Cheering.

How to convert an onion into a dish fit for the gods by stuffing it and baking it, how to make of macaroni and a cheap cut of meat the most delectable of meat loaves, and what to do with an avacado pear will be only a few of the things learned at THE TRIBUNE School of Cookery. The school is free to every one.

That school will open at 1:45 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in the Trianon ballroom, 6201 Cottage Grove avenue. There sessions will be held for south side women also on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday afternoons. Women of other sections of the city will attend classes of THE TRIBUNE School of Cookery during the following two weeks, with the final classes on Nov. 23 and 24 in the Coliseum.

Another featured recipe will be the graham cracker and cream cheese salad, which will be mixed before the audience by Mrs. Ida M. Chitwood, cooking expert, who will conduct the school with the coöperation of Miss Mary Meade, TRIBUNE home economics editor.

"The reason THE TRIBUNE is having this School of Cookery is that the women of Chicago have asked for it," Mary Meade said yesterday. "We will show them how easily our daily recipes can be worked out.

"I feel that a cooking school is timely now," said Miss Meade. "In the first place, a family of three or more can live about four times as cheaply by eating at home, taken over a period of several months. That is, if the housewife knows how to cook simple, inexpensive foods attractively. For if they are well cooked there will be no waste. Foodstuffs are cheaper than they have been in years and Chicago markets offer a wide variety of green stuffs.

"In the second place," Miss Meade continued, "in this time of general depression the most certain way of keeping up the morale is to serve good good food to your husband, children, and yourself.

"There is no denying the fact that Mr. Jones may feel very blue about the market before dinner. But after he has eaten the pot roast with vegetables which, he strongly feels, no one in the world can fix so well as Mrs. Jones, and topped off the dinner with an admirable apple pie, he feels less gloomy. In fact, he feels almost cheerful.

"It is right and proper that while her husband is watching the market reports and exerting his efforts to contribute all he can to charity the wife should economize, and this we will teach her to do with recipes adapted to present economic conditions.

"But it is all wrong if she makes it apparent that she is economizing on her table. There is nothing that upsets a man so, that is such a blow to his pride and well-being as to feel that there is not enough meat to go around twice when he has or hasn't guests at his table.

"He doesn't want to be reminded of hard times at the dinner table. No, he wants to relax and expand in the atmosphere of a bountiful board. If his wife served him boiled cabbage instead of broccoli, he will not mind, in the least—and if it is well cooked it is fully as delicious. But he wants an appetizing looking and adequate meal."

Valuable prizes will be awarded during the cookery school and samples of merchandise will be given to each woman attending any one of the sixteen sessions.

Singing, dancing and personal appearances of stars of the radio, concert stage, and stage will add to the attractiveness of each program. Inasmuch as the doors will be closed promptly at 1:45, the time of the opening of the community singing, guests at the show are asked to be in their seats at that time. Led by prominent choral directors of Chicago the audience will make the rafters of the ballroom ring with songs known by everybody.

Among the outstanding features of the entertainment program for tomorrow's program will be leading acts from "Girl Crazy," popular loop musical comedy now playing at the Garrick theater. Besides a chorus of 20 girls, Patricia Garrity, Floria West and the Foursome, a rollicking male quartet, will sing and dance at the intermission between Mrs. Chitwood's daily lectures at 3 o'clock.

Frank Bennett, director of the Allerton Glee club and the Chicago Concert company, will lead the audience in community singing, accompanied at the piano by his wife, Cathryne Bennett, who also is a delightful soprano and will sing during the school.

Miss Ruth Streeter, soprano, radio and concert star, will sing duets with Henry Phillips, tenor, recently of Broadway musical comedies. They will offer two numbers, "Only One Love Ever Fills the Heart" and the "Song of Love," both from "Blossom Time."

Tango Tempo Seems Pace for This Winter's Dancing

Yvonne Gall, Fritz Kreisler Sunday's Stars

BY EDWARD MOORE.

It is becoming fairly well known in this neighborhood, though it probably will be better known as time goes on, that Yvonne Gall is no less an artist of opera than of recital, that having made herself known as an expert delineator of soprano rôles, particularly of the modern school, she is no less expert in projecting the line and contour of songs both modern and ancient.

This she proceeded to demonstrate at the Studebaker yesterday afternoon. Clad in a gown that caused the feminine part of the audience to say oh and ah, she gave one of the most charming recitals of the season. It was mostly French with a little English and just a flavor of the old Italian, Gluck, Lully, Scarlatti, and Purcell of a former day, Pierne, Duparc, Milhaud, Debussy, Chausson, and Busser of modern French, Beecher, Bridge, Engel, and Watts of modern English.

This was a program of diverse styles and moods, and Miss Gall had an interpretation for them all, aristocracy for the old, forthrightness for the new, charm for them all. She knows how, and she does it.

By divine right Fritz Kreisler is and remains the first violinist of the time. Superb dignity is his in both bearing and performance, an equally superb tone issues from his violin the minute he puts it under his chin, and in the many years he has been playing hereabouts he never yet has displayed anything but the most flawless taste in the music he selects or the way he plays it.

None of which stands in the way of his being one of the most popular violinists as well as the finest. Playing at Orchestra hall yesterday afternoon, he presented a program typical of him and the way he reaches out to his audience, Bach and Mozart for about two-thirds of his list, a long group of smaller pieces in which his name appeared as composer or arranger, and just as polished and lambent as the more extended works. They say it was his only recital appearance of the season. This was the only bad news about it.

Among the other musical events on yesterday's schedule were a song recital by Abbie Mitchell under the auspices of Grace Presbyterian church at the Civic theater, and a sonata recital by Moissaye Boguslawski, pianist, and Beulah Rosine, cellist, at Baldwin hall, both taking place in the evening.

Lawson Y. M. C. A. Is Dedicated at Rites by Rev. D. H. Browne

Lawson branch of the Y. M. C. A., recently completed, was thrown open to the public yesterday with a program of dedication at which the Rev. Duncan H. Browne, rector of St. James Episcopal church, officiated. The building, located at Chicago avenue and Dearborn street, is the largest in the world in the Y. M. C. A. organization, and was named in honor of the late Victor Lawson, whose bequest of $1,000,000 was appropriated to begin the structure.

John V. Farwell, president of the board of trustees of the Chicago Y. M. C. A., was chairman of the services and made the dedicatory address. A portrait of the late publisher Lawson was unveiled by Mrs. Clark Cavenee at the exercises, held in the gymnasium, and afterward was removed to the lobby, where it will be hung above the fireplace. Short talks were made by George B. McKibben, first vice president of the board of managers, William Francis, and others. M. C. Chatten, architect, turned over the key to Mr. Farwell.

The edifice cost $2,750,000, and will provide accommodations for 735 men, with all the features of a club.

RUTH ST. DENIS, AS OF OLD, DANCES IN ORIENTAL FASHION

BY HAZEL MOORE.

After years of more or less successful attempts to suit her dancing to the jazz age, it was a pleasure yesterday at the Civic theater to find Ruth St. Denis, if not in a chastened mood, at least in a reminiscent one. She returned to the means that will make the name of St. Denis remembered, the delicate use of the hands, the semi-oriental posturing, and, above all, the expert use of veils.

This delight in fine fabrics and their fluent display has always been a great part of the St. Denis art. Their use in her hands rather embellishes technic than conceals its lack. To see her dance as Salome to Strauss' well known Dance of the Seven Veils is something of an anomaly. The frenzied black hair, the too red lips, and the sensuous movements of the dance as she manipulates the gorgeous draperies, taken in turn from four black slaves, are all the Salome of one's imagination, but those too expressive delicate hands betray her. She is not Salome.

A Tagore poem done with one of those lovely long Indian lutes was most effective, though I found the spoken poem from the lips of Miss St. Denis a little disconcerting. I would as soon expect the white jade lady of that fine conception, "White Jade," to music by Vaughn, to come to life and speak.

"Irridescence," to music by Hively, presumably the composition of her pianist accompanist, was nicely lighted, and with the flowing lightness of the many chiffons reminded one of the old time fire dances or the ladies of the circus, who wave their wings while suspended in midair by their teeth. In the Brahms waltz and the Liszt "Liebestraum" Miss St. Denis added little to what the composers had already done better.

Mother Hasn't Reserve Interest, So Suffers When Girl Grows Up

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"A few years ago," confides Mrs. J. M., "I gave up my husband to another woman, whom he had betrayed and had a child by. I was left with a dear little girl of 5 to rear alone. I went to work right away. I put my baby in a fine boarding school. She was reared wonderfully well and was very clever.

"She graduated from high school at 16, with honors, the youngest in her class. She was a brilliant musician, a fine dancer. I sacrificed everything, did without everything myself to give her her chance. I worshiped the ground she walked on. I longed for the day when school was over and she and I would be companions. I would look at her and say to myself: 'Every cent spent on that beautiful girl is well spent.'

"She was a child who knew nothing of the seamy side of life. She didn't know boys and I chose her few girl friends. Yet through one of those girls, she met a young man. It was love at first sight for them and a terrific heartache for me. All the talking I did was of no use. I was afraid not to give my consent, finally.

"The boy is only 20. I like him because he is good to my girl. I have tried to be kind to them, yet they resent my advice. They never ask me to go anywhere with them. They lie to me. My daughter tells me untruths, a thing she was never capable of before. I know he puts her up to it.

"I have been advised by friends and relatives to go away from them, to let them get a few hard bumps. Yet I love them and she is my baby. I know they need me. They are so young.

"I am a young woman yet and hold a responsible position. If I only had a companion or would marry again, perhaps there I'd find the solution. I might be better off. What do you think? Maybe this story of mine might help other mothers inclined to be too indulgent to an only child.—J. M."

Maybe the story will help other mothers to see that the weakest chain in the mother love link is to expect to hold the young fledgling after her wings are fully sprouted.

It may help mothers to realize that they must prepare against that day of separation. A day when it is no longer their privilege to interfere. Help they may; advise they may, as a friend, not as a managing parent.

A 1932 Adaptation of Windblown Bob Is New Hair Style

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Blessed are the women who have a mind of their own about the length of their hair if they can stay strong-minded in the face of the latest cables from Paris!

After all those weary months of suffering wayward ends and straggling sidepieces in the cause of lengthened hair, they tell us now it is love's labor lost. That shingled heads and bobbed are right up where they were a couple of years ago! The windblown bob, in up to dateness, is away ahead of the long bob or its maturer sister, the daguerreotype coiff.

Well, it's easier lopping it off than making it grow. And, personally, I think a number of women didn't do so very handsomely by themselves abandoning the short wave lengths. They never felt comfortable with the long hair—certainly not with the long bob. The long bob called for a slender neck, which the mature woman doesn't always boast. Without that kind of neck the long bob simply looks dowdy. And, anyway, it doesn't belong in its neck draping variety to voting age plus. Only the jeune fille should be able to take out a license for its wear.

Another thing that distinguished the woman before she let her hair grow—she did go frequently and often to have the wave set. The long hair fooled her into thinking it didn't need this frequent care. And the head was markedly less well groomed looking, the woman ditto.

Then those hats we've been trying to get the hair into, under, or around have had a discomforting reaction to long hair! Too many Queen Mary effects were gathered. And so it isn't surprising to hear that the bob returns to favor again. Of course, it won't be the old windblown rowdy. It will be a 1932 adaptation.

Corduroy Suit Smart for Afternoon Wear

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS. — [Special.] — Among the reigning members of the velvet family, the humble corduroy takes its place in Paris fashions, this season. This new corduroy is more lustrous than the kind we are familiar with and is made of wool instead of cotton. Paris likes this material for skirts to wear with fur jackets, for topcoats trimmed with fur, and above all, for smart afternoon suits and ensembles.

The Schiaparelli suit in the sketch is made of claret red corduroy and is trimmed with real Alaskan seal. The jacket of this suit is fingertip length and nipped in at the waistline, with long, straight sleeves. Over the front of this jacket Schiaparelli places a corduroy bolero, which has an Alaskan seal collar that extends down the right side of the diagonal closing and across the bottom of the bolero on the right side only. This diagonal closing is held together by Schiaparelli's ring-buttons, two of them near the bottom, to make the bolero double breasted. The jacket under this bolero is also closed by ring buttons.

The dress of this suit has a blouse of claret red crêpe de chine, with long tight sleeves and three tucks at the left shoulder in front and running up from the right side of the waistline in front, as shown in the sketch. The corduroy, wrap around skirt is set on to the waist in points below the corduroy belt. This belt has no buckle but is fastened with a ring button to match the jacket fastening.

Bright Sayings of the Children

Even the youngsters are depression conscious this year. When grandmother asked 6 year old David if he had heard that she and grandfather were leaving soon on a long motor trip, he replied that he had and immediately added, "But how can you afford it?" M. C.

Little Billy's mother was entertaining some new neighbors on whom she wished to create a good impression. During their visit Billy ran in, saying: "Mamma, there's a man at the door wants to sell us buttons. He says he has buttons for waists and things."

"Did you tell him I was busy?" asked mother, sweetly.

"No," said little Billy. "I told him when buttons came off we used pins." F. A. M.

Parents Responsible When Child Shows Off Like a Little Peacock

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

She's about 8 now and really nice looking and bright, but every time she sees any one looking at her she struts. There is no other word for it. And it's not in the least her fault. She's talked about, discussed, and shown off. Incidentally, she's not an only child.

The next is—I was going to say "exhibit B," because it is such an exhibition—is a boy of about 12. He's an unusual looking lad, rather handsome, strong, and highly intelligent. But, O, how self-conscious! He simply plays to the gallery in every expression of his face, his body, and in his speech. The trait is so pronounced that even strangers who are meeting him for the first time mention it. He rarely forgets himself. It is not, of course, his fault—he has been treated since babyhood to heavy doses of flattery and limelight. But the pity of it now is that he is the sufferer. It detracts seriously from his new—and it is not a good mental state for him.

These are only two instances, the latter rather an extreme one, but they abound on every hand, in greater or less degree. And I don't believe most parents realize how responsible they are for the self-consciousness of their children, and how unpleasant it becomes, eventually, for the child himself.

One of the charms of babies and little children is their utter naturalness—their freedom from wondering what any one thinks and from caring whether any one is looking at them or not. This naturalness can be preserved, but it takes some doing. The parents of an especially lovely, talented, or interesting child have their work cut out for them in this respect. But so have all parents.

A child doesn't have to be unusual or beautiful to be treated so that it gets all the little self-conscious habits of preening itself, of looking around for attention, and really making the center of the stage. The rest of the trouble rarely lies in the child's talent or attractiveness, but rather in the ill advised treatment of its mother or father.

The Marriage Racket

By VINA DELMAR

SYNOPSIS.

Ben Corbin, while playing in vaudeville in Thrace, an upstate New York town, is shocked with invitations by Bill Fitzroy, friend of her pianist, and Wallace Graham, a New friend of Bill's. Wallace asks Irma to be his wife. Bill's proposal to her is of course failure. Irma marries Wallace and leads a dull existence as his wife. Wallace's sister, Mildred, and his aunt live with them. A son is born to Irma. He becomes the center of her universe. Wallace and Irma go on a trip to Europe. Irma writes personally about the baby. They meet Russell Byrnes, a wealthy bachelor from New York who has a cabin on a boat sailing in two days, which Irma persuades him to let Wallace have. Back in Thrace they find the baby well, but Mildred planning a eugenic marriage with Scott Avery. Wallace appoints Irma to guard her. Mildred alludes her and sisters with Scott. Wallace and Irma quarrel. Irma decides her marriage is a fail and takes the baby to New York. She gets an engagement dancing in a night club, where she meets Russell Byrnes.

INSTALLMENT XXXVII.

IRMA'S PRICE.

"Hello, there, Mrs. Graham." The man stood up and eyed her curiously as she slid into the narrow space behind the table. "Well," settling himself comfortably, "is this what you do while on a visit to New York?"

"A visit? What do you mean?"

"Why, I was at a house party not so long ago up your way so I looked you up in the phone book. A woman answered the phone and said you were on a visit to New York. I was terribly disappointed."

"Thanks. How did you happen to come here tonight—and alone?"

"I'm usually alone or with some other chap," he replied. "I haven't met many women who make good companions, Somebody asked me the other night if I'd been here yet and I thought it was mean to discriminate against a nice place, so I dropped in tonight. Kemp Austin is supposed to be along any minute, but he probably won't show up."

"I'm glad you did."

"Are you?"

"Yes, I'm glad, but don't misunderstand me. I'm being polite, not tender."

He laughed. "Say, I have to get this mystery cleared up."

"What mystery?"

"You. I meet you once and you're a small town matron seeing Europe in the company of your conservative, business man husband. I see you again and you're a dancer in a side street dive in company with——" he gestured toward the chorus and Robbie. "What's the story?"

"Who wants to know?"

"I do."

"And who are you?"

"Russell Byrnes."

"That's all I wanted to know. I'd completely forgotten your name."

"Well, I'll be damned. Such popularity must be deserved."

She smiled. "I'm sorry. You were nice to give us the cabin."

"I didn't give it to 'us.' I gave it to you. The minute I looked at you——"

The baby screamed with delight.

"I know, Big Boy. I know. I've read the book and seen the picture. I'm beautiful and I drive you crazy and you haven't slept a wink in months thinking about me. Go slowly. I hear everything, believe nothing and trust nobody."

He shook his head. "You don't even talk like you did at Zelli's."

"No, I guess not." Certainly her speech had changed. There was an air of quality about it that she had never used in Wallace's company. Was she posing now or had she posed throughout her stay in Thrace?"

"What are you thinking about, little girl?"

"Me."

"What do you think?"

"I haven't made up my mind. I know I like you and all that, but the wife of a person you are troubles me. Either you were Mr. Wallace Graham's wife or you were not and he took you to Paris to sow you or else you're honestly Mrs. Wallace Graham, and in that case I'm perplexed."

"I must be Mrs. Wallace Graham. The woman you spoke to in Thrace said she was in New York, didn't she?"

He shrugged. "That doesn't prove anything. Mrs. Graham may be fat and ugly and truly on a visit to New York."

"Well, maybe that's the way it is."

"But I don't believe that. I think there's more to it. I'll come clean. This is what I think: In Zelli's you hinted to me that there was somebody in America you were anxious to see, didn't you?"

Irma nodded.

"Well, I think you and your husband busted up over that somebody. Am I right?"

"Yes, that somebody had a lot to do with it."

"You are separated from Graham then?"

"Yes."

"Now, how about that other somebody? Is he still prominent in your life?"

"Very."

"That's a tough break for me. Any chance of cutting him out?"

"No, not a chance."

"Well, that's final enough. You don't keep a fellow guessing, anyhow. I hope the present light of your life can get you cabins in a hurry. I'd like to spend all my time ordering people to do things for you. You're such a little, helpless thing."

"The light of my life can't get me cabins or do anything else like that, but I'm really not helpless. I can take care of myself."

"I believe you can. The eyes and chin say yes. Anyhow, how're my chances of seeing you home tonight?"

"Okay, big boy."

She went back to her dressing room feeling mildly excited. It was nice to know somebody again. Perhaps she could keep Russell Byrnes for a friend after she had convinced him that the Club Denise was no index to her morals. It would be fun to have a man take her to dinner occasionally. Perhaps he could be taught to curb his fondness for strong languages and thus in time be eligible for an introduction to the baby.

He took her directly home that morning after her last performance. He took her refusal to linger without a question and did not dismiss the taxi at the door.

"Will you have dinner with me this evening?"

"Yes, if you'll eat late. Seven thirty or so."

"That'll be all right. Shall I come get you?"

"No. I'll meet you at seven forty-five."

He had dined with him three times before she told him about the baby. Then she did he set down the cocktail he was drinking and said, "I suspected it."

"You suspected what?"

"You wouldn't let me call for you, so I suspected that you were living with the man who broke up your home and, by gosh, you are. So the baby's the light of your life?"

"He certainly is."

"How do you afford to keep him?"

"Oh, I do it all right." Irma's chin lifted argumentatively.

"How can you afford all the little things that a kid needs to make him happy?"

Irma turned her eyes away from his face. "For God's sake, Russell, don't start asking me that. I spend enough time with that question."

"May I call at your apartment now that I know about the baby?"

"Yes, if you don't use bad language or try to make love to me there."

"Thank you for the fine tribute."

"I didn't mean to be nasty, but I'm so blasted particular about him."

"I don't blame you. For there'll never be another like him."

"I'm glad you realize that. It makes me like you."

At six o'clock next evening Russell Byrnes arrived at Irma's apartment with a teddy bear larger than Martin, an amazing assemblage of soldiers in shining armor and a great red fire engine. The baby screamed with delight when the bear lay on its back and uttered long, mournful growls. His eyes grew round with wonder at the number and brilliance of the soldiers. He ran the red engine up and down the living room listening for the tiny tinkle of the bell which could not be heard above his own imitation of a siren.

Irma felt a strange, tight sensation in her throat. To hear the child's happy shouts and to see his mad excitement filled her with a delight too intense to endure. Somebody had been ridiculously extravagant and had purchased these gifts for her child. As he ran to the bedroom to show Miss March the wonderful fire engine Irma turned her face and buried it between the furry ears of the big teddy bear.

"Don't, Irma, for Heaven's sake. Can't you laugh? Look at the bear. Say, I'm a fine Santa Claus. Don't——dear."

"You're so good, Russell."

He did not answer her. He raised her head gently from the furry pillow, rested it against his shoulder, and let her weep. But he was not thinking of the monster teddy bear nor the formidable army of glittering soldiers nor even of the beautiful red engine. He was thinking of the truth of the old saying that every human has a price. And he was tightening his arm about her and thinking that hers would be cheap, no matter what she asked. And he was thinking that to buy a woman who didn't love you was a sucker's game. Still, wasn't a guy always a sucker to fall in love?

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Heavy Burden for Young Girl.

"My father has been out of work for a year and a half. I am the eldest of the family working only two or three days a week and there are seven children to support. We all need clothes and I wonder if you can help me get some. The girls are 17, 15, 12, and 8 and wear shoes, sizes 5 or 5½, 4, and 2. The boys are 9 and 7 years and 8 months, wearing shoes sizes 1 and 11. My father wears shirts, size 14, shoes size 7, overcoat size 38 or 40. M. Z."

When a family of this size lives on the salary of one young girl the going must be pretty rough. Can you relieve her of some of her burden by giving any discarded clothing they may be able to wear?

Opera Season Opens Tonight; Society Ready

BY THALIA ——.

THE opening of the Chicago Civic Opera season tonight means to many the formal launching of the winter season. There is every indication that the event will be as spectacular as its predecessors, with a lavish display of gowns, furs and wraps.

The Monday night box list remains practically the same as it has been for years. Most of the prominent opera patrons will occupy again the places they have subscribed for since the opening of the new Opera house two seasons ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Insull, who seldom miss a Monday night performance, will have the Stanley Fields, the Charles H. Schweppes, and Mrs. Tiffany Blake as guests in their box at the extreme right end of the lower tier.

Mrs. Moses J. Wentworth will be hostess in her box to Mr. and Mrs. John Wentworth, Mrs. Howard Van Doren Shaw, and Mrs. Clay Judson. Mrs. Joseph B. Long's guests will be Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hackett, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Templin and Robert J. Mooney.

The Thomas W. Hindes will have with them the Charles B. Goodspeeds, Mme. Vanni Marcoux, their daughter, Miss Sarah Hinde, and William B. McCluer. Mrs. Kersey Coates Reed and her mother will entertain the Walter Brewsters and Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus H. Adams.

Frederick T. Haskell's box party will include Mr. and Mrs. William J. Chalmers, Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Swift, and Mrs. David M. Robinson of Baltimore.

Ell Bates Settlement Christmas Sale Opens Today.

An Ell Bates Christmas sale of linens, toys, and all the other lovely things made by the women of the settlement will be held from 10 until 5:30 o'clock today at the residence of Mrs. William B. Hale on Mount Pleasant court in Winnetka. Mrs. Hale and Mrs. James L. Houghteling will give a luncheon for the assisting committee which includes Mrs. Horace W. Armstrong, Mrs. Harve G. Badgerow, Mrs. Roy E. Bard, Mrs. Daniel H. Burnham Jr., Mrs. Arthur G. Cable, Mrs. Raymond E. Durham, Mrs. William G. Hibbard, Mrs. Francis A. Lackner, Mrs. Roswell B. Mason, Mrs. William B. McIlvaine Jr., Mrs. Gordon L. Pirie, Mrs. Robert H. Ripley, Mrs. Hallett W. Thorne, and Mrs. Allen L. Withers.

News and notes—Mr. and Mrs. Frederick M. Alger Jr. (Suzette Dewey) came over from Detroit to spend the week-end with Mrs. Alger's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Dewey and to attend the all-star theatrical benefit at the opera house yesterday . . . Rosemary Baur's fiancé, Bartle Bull, calls her "Rose Maria" . . . The Sterling Mortons went out to the Joy Mortons' farm, "Thornhill," at Lisle, Ill., for the week-end . . . the Frederick Haucks (Janet Chase) who have been with the Samuel T. Chases in Lake Forest for several months, have moved in town and taken a studio apartment on East Superior street . . . Miss Betty Scriven is departing tomorrow for a round of visits in the east . . . the Junior Friends of Art call their meeting tomorrow at the Belden-Stratford hotel, Friendship day, and members are requested to bring their calling cards and their membership cards.

I. Newton Perry, Stephen Y. Hord, and J. Russell Forgan will not be among those present at the opera tonight (unless feminine members of their families should insist upon a last minute attendance) for they're arranging for stag dinner parties and seats at the wrestling matches at the Chicago Stadium to benefit the Cook County Joint Emergency Relief fund.

Large Field for Drag Hunt Near Wheaton.

It was a large field that participated in the drag hunt out beyond Wheaton yesterday, and the hunters following the pack through woods and brush, over fence and field, made an exciting and colorful moving panorama against a background of autumn dyed foliage, green farmlands, and white clouded sky. The Chauncey McCormicks were hosts at the hunt and at a luncheon following it at their estate, St. James farm.

The Hunters included a contingent of the Onwentsia Hunt members, members of the Du Page County Hunt, and about 25 members of the Black Horse troop, of which Chauncey McCormick is captain. Miss Jane Ripley, daughter of the Allen Ripleys, and 8 year old Bobby Strom, son of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Strom, were acting whips. The Du Page hunters, besides Mr. and Mrs. McCormick, included Mr. Strom, Bradford Ripley, Mrs. Henry Hooper Jr., Horace Wetmore, Mrs. Ralph R. Richardson, and Miss Anne Bryant, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Jay Bryant. The Lake Forest guests, whose horses were transported to the St. James farm stables in motor vans, included Mr. and Mrs. J. Andrews King, Samuel J. Walker, Mrs. William H. Mitchell, Donald B. Douglas, Ralph Hines, Robert A. Gardner, Mrs. Howard Linn, and Lucius Teter. A dozen or so automobiles made a cavalcade following the hunt as nearly as they could by road.

The Harvard university instrumental clubs are to make a western tour this season for the first time in three years. They are to give a concert at the Studebaker theater on Sunday afternoon, Dec. 27, and will also appear at the Skokie school auditorium in Winnetka the following evening, Dec. 28. The concerts will be given under the auspices of the Harvard club of Chicago, of which Barrett Wendell Jr. was recently elected president. The committee taking care of the details for the concerts is composed of Kellogg Fairbank Jr., Hulburd Johnston, John W. Valentine, and Donald McClure.

Halloween Party for Charity Held in Onwentsia Ring.

The Halloween festival for the benefit of the Lower North Child Guidance center at the Onwentsia riding arena Saturday night was a grand lark.

Everybody wore funny costumes and did funny things, like bobbing for apples, riding on old fashioned tandem bicycles, and drinking pink pop. There were all sorts of trials of skill, such as tossing cards into a hat, throwing baseballs at a target, and target shooting, and the arena was all decorated with cornstalks and illuminated with jack-o'-lanterns. Among the merrymakers were Mrs. Graham Aldis in denim overalls and with a bandanna around her hair; Mrs. John A. Prosser in flagrantly polka dotted rompers, a feather boa and tam; Frederic Bartlett Jr. as a Swiss highlander; Mrs. Elliott Donnelley in a cowboy's outfit (she was in charge of a ring the cane booth); the Charles S. Garlands, the Richard Bentleys, the Kent Chandlers, the John Hamlines Jr., the Ronald Boardmans, and others.

Heaven only knows how there can be any tickets left for the Mary Garden concert benefit for the Country Home for Crippled Children next Monday evening, but there are some and they go on sale this morning at the Orchestra hall box office.

The 23 regular boxes were sold first, then a group of seats roped off on the main floor were sold out, and recently the stage "boxes" were all sold. Several blocks of seats in the gallery have been purchased for distribution among music students. Mrs. Kersey Coates Reed took a block for St. Luke's nurses, Dr. Arthur D. Bevans one for Presbyterian hospital nurses, Mrs. Bruce MacLeish another for nurses from the County hospital, Mrs. James P. Soper, for Chicago Memorial nurses, and Clarence Mackay bought a box and is sending 100 music students besides. The glee clubs and choruses of Armour & Co. are going as guests of Mrs. J. Ogden Armour, and Mrs. Florence Kennett Dupee of Coronado, Cal., has taken a block of seats to be used by public school teachers, and Mrs. James Henry Raymond has taken one for the choral societies of the University of Chicago.

WASHINGTON SOCIETY

Washington, D. C., Nov. 1.—[Special.]—President and Mrs. Hoover went to church this morning accompanied by their house guests, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Robinson of Los Angeles.

The Secretary of State and Mrs. Henry L. Stimson are spending the week-end in their home Highhold on Long Island, and will return here tomorrow night.

The Secretary of Commerce and Mrs. Lamont were joined yesterday by their son-in-law, Charles B. Saltzman of New York, who came to escort Mrs. Saltzman back to their home, after she has made a week's visit to her parents. They returned their tonight.

Mrs. John R. Williams, mother of Mrs. Joseph Leiter, accompanied by her youngest daughter, Mrs. Huston Rawls of Mendheim, N. J., is at Hot Spring, W. Va., for early November.

Lady Astor's Sister Lands; Would Regain Her U. S. Citizenship

New York, Nov. 1.—[Special.]—Mrs. Maurice B. Flynn, formerly Norah Langhorne of Virginia, sister of Lady Astor, arrived tonight on the White Star liner Adriatic with her husband, Lefty Flynn, former Yale football star to whom she was married in London three months ago, after having obtained a divorce from her first husband, Maj. Paul Phipps.

"I have been away from America eighteen years," she said, "and have had a hard job to get back. When I married Maj. Phipps in June, 1909, I became a British subject and the American consul in London said he could not issue a passport for me as an American citizen. Finally I obtained an emergency passport through Ambassador Dawes, who wrote to Washington about it, and now I shall have to wait before I can have my citizenship papers. Some people say it will be four years. Fancy being born in Virginia and having to wait for all that time to regain my citizenship."

Mrs. Flynn added that her son, who is 18 years old and was educated at Eton, had just arrived here and had a position in the state department.

Food Talk.

Cranberries, modern science proclaims, have a beauty which is more than "skin deep." They furnish our human systems with minerals and vitamins necessary to the proper functioning of our bodies, and to our appetites for other foods.

Early in the use of cranberries our mothers and grandmothers discovered that cranberry jelly ably complemented fall and winter holiday dinners, particularly Thanksgiving and Christmas feasts. Since their discovery we have found many other edible purposes to which the bright red berry may be put. Cocktail, jelly, salad, and dessert—and such desserts! Your cooking imagination can run wild, for desserts may include pies, cunning tarts, icebox cakes, shortcakes, custards, steamed puddings, and interesting sauces.

One of the nicest things about cranberries is that the preparation of them for cooking requires a minimum of work for the cook—no peeling, no pitting, and no soaking. They happily combine with many other foods, and give a pretty piquant touch to whatever meal they supplement.

Cranberry jelly makes a delicious accompaniment when its acts as a relish for fowl, meats, or fish, and may also be converted into cranberry tartlets, cranberry ice, and into a whipped dressing for pudding sauce and light colored gelatine desserts. Cranberry cherries are used as a garnish for salads or desserts, or as a confection. In fact, there are few ways the versatile cranberry can't be used. If you want cranberry recipes other than those printed here today, write for my cranberry bulletin.

CRANBERRY JELLY.

Take eight pounds of berries, that is a full eight quarts. For each four cupfuls, or one quart of fruit, use one and one-half cupfuls of water. Cook until the cranberries are soft. Strain the juice through a jelly bag. Measure the juice and heat to the boiling point. Add one cupful of sugar for each two cups of juice. Stir briskly and constantly until all the sugar is dissolved. Hold at the boiling point for five minutes. Pour into heated glasses or heated molds. Cover with paraffin when the jelly is cold, unless it is for immediate use. This will make ten large glasses.

CRANBERRY SAUCE.

1 quart of cranberries [4 cups].
2 cups of water.
1½ to 2 cups of sugar [according to taste].

Boil the sugar and water together for five minutes. Add the cranberries and boil, without stirring, until all the skins pop open [usually about five minutes]. Remove from the fire when the popping stops.

If you wish a thinner sauce, don't boil the sugar and water, but just bring the two together to a boil, and then add the cranberries. Let them cook until the berries stop popping.

CRANBERRY SALAD.

Juice of 1 orange.
1 cup of boiling water.

Dissolve the gelatine in the boiling water. Run the cranberries through a meat grinder; add the orange juice to them, and then the sugar. Put the cranberries with the chilled gelatine and pour into a ring mold to harden. When well set, unmold and serve with a bowl of salad dressing in the center. This is delicious with chicken, creamed or otherwise.

Now! Her Teeth Are 3 Shades Whiter

Impossible to do with Ordinary Brushing

Now—you can have gleaming white teeth in just a few days. Science has discovered the way to remove ugly yellow and stain—whiten teeth 3 shades in 3 days! It is called the Kolynos Dry-Brush Technique. Try it—use a half-inch of this scientific dental cream on a dry brush twice a day. You'll see a marked change overnight.

When Kolynos enters the mouth it instantly becomes a refreshing FOAM. This FOAM does the work. First it removes yellow and stain and destroys the millions of mouth-germs—190 million in 15 seconds—that cause most tooth and gum troubles. It stimulates the gums and purifies the mouth. Then it CLEANS TEETH RIGHT DOWN TO THE BEAUTIFUL, NATURAL WHITE ENAMEL WITHOUT INJURY. No ordinary brushing can make teeth so white. No mouthwash can give the mouth a cleaner taste.

Why have dull, yellow teeth? Clean them sparkling white and keep them sound and free from decay this way. Start using the Kolynos Dry-Brush Technique. Results overnight. Buy a tube of Kolynos.

Frocks in the 'New Group' at $14.85 Have Paris Fashion Background

That's a part of the reason for the instantaneous success of this section. The second, and equally important, part is the fabrics are exceptionally good, and the lines and details worked out with fine care. You know Vionnet's color contrast, Lanvin's sleeve interest, Paray's period details, Goupy's necklines. They are all here—adapted so cleverly that they give each frock a real distinction, despite the extremely low price, $14.85.

Bruyere

The collar in plastron style buttons into this silk frock after Bruyere. Combinations of black and green, tile and brown, black and tile, black and blue, two greens. 36 to 42.

Vionnet

Uses geometric lines similar to this silk crepe in her most slender frocks. Color contrasts are black with blue, green and tile, tile and brown, two greens. 36 to 44.

Bruyere

Clever lines through the waist are amazingly slender. The pouf in the sleeve is embroidered. Bruyere blue, green, red, Spanish tile, black and brown silk. 14 to 20.

Vionnet

Originally suggested this color effect, to emphasize the shoulders. Black and blue, brown and green, brown and rust, black and green, black and rust. Silk crepe. 14-42.

KOLINSKY—the square shawl collar is wide and so are the cuffs in a sable dyed kolinsky on black, brown, green boucle woolen. Sizes for women.

They have selected the "precious" furs (see listing at left) on a grand scale and their collars and cuffs are huge. Fabrics are the rough woolens that tailor so beautifully and also luxurious camel's hair. The colors are the smart ones. It's a story about a fashion event and sales occasion on a par!

WRESTLING TO GIVE CHARITY A HAND TONIGHT

BY FRENCH LANE.

Ode, business and society leaders of Chicago—several thousand of them—are going to gather at the Chicago Stadium ringside tonight to see a wrestling match.

It isn't just an ordinary wrestle that is drawing all these people to the grappling festival, although a couple of world championships will be at stake. Instead it is a charity affair for the Joint Emergency Relief fund for the unemployed. Many thousands of dollars are expected to be netted.

Just how much money will come out of the wrestling show no one has been willing to estimate, but most of the knights of Pull, Tug and Grunt who are going into the battles have donated their services. In addition Strangler Lewis, who meets Wladek Zbyszko in the championship heavyweight match, has donated his services.

Forgan Heads Committee.

Details of the show have been handled by the Joint Emergency relief fund sports and athletic committee of which J. Russell Forgan is chairman, and by Joe Coffey, veteran sport promoter. Cooperating with the committee have been Gen. John V. Clark, chairman of the Illinois athletic commission, and Commissioners George F. Getz and Fred Gerber. Also working toward the success of the show were Samuel Insull Jr., chairman of the Relief fund; Stuyvesant Peabody, Joseph Bowes and others active in the work for the fund.

It was the Illinois athletic commission which selected Zbyszko as an opponent for Lewis in the championship match after Lewis had agreed to meet any wrestler in the world for the relief fund. The offer was rejected by Jim London, who also claims the championship.

Who Says He's Old?

Zbyszko, the challenger, isn't a young man at wrestling, but growled considerably yesterday when some one referred to him as Old Man Zbyszko. "Old? Well, I'm only 36 and have been wrestling for only 17 years," was his comeback. "Lewis is 40 if he is a day old. My brother, Stanislaus, won the world's championship when he was 50."

The other championship match involves the light heavyweight title. Charles [Midget] Fisher, who is the world middleweight and light heavyweight crown wearer, will defend the latter championship in a struggle with Zack Malkov, the powerful mountain policeman from Rogers Park.

Savoldi Meets Burns.

Then there will be other battles between Joe Savoldi, the former Notre Dame football star, and Billy Burns; Jim Talaber and George Kogut, and Jim Osterpovitch and Everett Marshall. To enliven the program there will be a mixed boxing-wrestling affair between King Levinsky, the boxer, and Johnny Meyers, a former wrestling champion.

Because of the charity angle great interest has been aroused in the matches, and while plenty of good seats could still be purchased last night, many were of the opinion the crowd will be one of the largest that has ever been attracted to an indoor wrestling show in Chicago.

"Hundreds of persons who will be spectators at a professional wrestling match will swell the crowd," a member of the Emergency Relief committee declared last night.

THREE TIED FOR FIRST PLACE IN BIG TEN SCORING

A pair of sophomores, Stan Fay of Michigan and Carl Cramer of Ohio State, and Minnesota's veteran full back, Jack Manders, are deadlocked at the top of the Big Ten football scoring race with 18 points each. Paul Pardonner, Purdue's sophomore quarterback, is second with 16 points. The leaders, in conference games only.

Talking it Over

BY ARCH WARD.

Raymond Hitchcock once helped to popularize a song entitled: "Ain't It Funny What a Difference Just a Few Hours Make."

SAMMY MANDELL.

Sammy Mandell now steps nimbly forth to yodel a similar sonata called: "Ain't It Funny What a Difference Just a Few Months Make."

On March 1, 1930, Mandell made his last appearance in a Chicago ring. It was at Chicago Stadium against Jimmy McLarnin. That bout marked the end of the Rockford Flash. Thereafter he was just another lightweight. Al Singer proved it by knocking him out in the first round of their title fight in New York the following July.

The Mandell-McLarnin match, one of the greatest Chicago has seen, drew a gate of $75,780.30. Sammy was paid $18,610.89.

Wednesday night Mandell comes back to the Stadium. But it will not be in the rôle of a popular windup fighter. He will appear in the semi-windup against a well known stranger named Ralph Lenny. And Sammy's pay will not be $18,610.89. It will be $1,250 minus his manager's split and training expenses.

That is hitting the bumps fast and hard, but I have an idea there are plenty of young men in the bread lines around the country who would be glad to work hard for eight or ten rounds to earn 1,250 greenbacks. They say Sammy has slowed up tremendously with his increased weight and that boys who couldn't have laid a glove on him two years ago are now hitting him freely with rights to the body and jaw. Even so, a fellow who can go along earning $1,250 twice a month doesn't need pity. Not unless he is risking permanent ill effects.

As long as Sammy feels he still can fight, there are hundreds ready to string along with him. At least until Wednesday night.

The Carideos are coming back to college football.

They started with Frank Carideo [Caridayo if you live near Mount Vernon, N. Y.]. He passed out of the game after having twice been a unanimous choice on the multitudinous All-American selections.

The newcomer is Ange Carideo, a brother of Frank. He is a freshman at Notre Dame and if you believe Frank, he is going to be a better player than his older brother. If Ange fails to make the grade there is another Carideo, a cousin of Frank and Ange, who will carry on the name in Notre Dame football. The cousin is also on the freshman squad.

This will be interesting news to Coaches Hunk Anderson and Jack Chevigny. They spend most of the year trying to learn the names of their ninth and tenth string guards and tackles. There is no chance they will identify a freshman.

Ange [soft g] was a half back and quarter back on the Mt. Vernon, N. Y., High school team. He is being financed through Notre Dame by his brother, Frank.

This is the night they settle the world's heavyweight wrestling championship of Illinois. Either Strangler Lewis or Wladek Zbyszko will come out of Chicago Stadium wearing the crown.

The uncertainty relative to the heavyweight wrestling title is the most disturbing factor in world affairs. If the Illinois Athletic commission and the Joint Emergency Relief commission had not stepped in to settle the question it might have destroyed our whole social order. Think what might have happened had it been turned over to the league of nations.

I hope the relief fund wins the match.

Touchdowns—Kassell, Nevers, Thomason. Points after touchdown—Nevers, 2 [placement]; McBride [placement].

New York, Nov. 1.—[Special.]—Behind the flying feet of Ernie Nevers and Charlie Belden, eleven young men in fiery Chicago Cardinal jersies turned back a fighting Brooklyn team at Ebbets field today, 14 to 7, before a crowd of 15,000 fans.

It was a struggle from beginning to end, both teams fighting with a savage fury, the Cardinals to win their first game in the National Professional Football league and the Dodgers to break a two game losing streak, during which they had failed to score a touchdown.

Brooklyn was the aggressor from the start. Twice in the early stages the Dodgers worked down within striking distance of the goal, only to lose the ball, and later, when trailing by seven points, came from behind to tie the count.

But it was too much Nevers, for when he was not throwing passes or plunging he was doing the best punting seen here this year, averaging nearly 52 yards on his kicks.

Neither team was able to score in the first quarter, although Brooklyn on two drives reached the 13 and 8 yard lines, respectively. The second quarter had scarcely started before the Cardinals scored.

Score on Pass.

A 40 yard return of a punt by Belden brought the ball to the Brooklyn 41 yard line. Nevers, on four straight plunges, brought the ball to the 23 yard line and then stepped back and shot a pass to Kassell on the goal line. Nevers then place kicked the goal.

Brooklyn tied the score almost immediately. Following an exchange of punts, the Dodgers took the ball on Chicago's 48 yard line. On the first play McBride passed to Thomason, who zigzagged his way through the Cardinal team for the score. McBride kicked the goal from placement.

The winning touchdown came at the end of the third quarter and was the result of a 65 yard march down the field, Nevers going over and adding the extra point.

GIANTS STOP PORTSMOUTH.

New York, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Benny Friedman, who has spent most of the current season teaching Yale's young footballers how to toss forward passes, returned to the professional game today to lead the New York Giants to a 14 to 0 victory over the Portsmouth Spartans in a National league game.

The Spartans, who previously had won seven straight games, were outclassed after the first period and spent the greater part of the game holding the hard driving Giant backs off their goal line.

Friedman left the field shortly before the first half ended. But he was in the game long enough to drive his professional mates to both their touchdowns in the second quarter. Doug Wykoff went over for the first one after a 20 yard pass from Friedman to Moran had carried to the one yard line. Johnny Kitzmiller scored the second on a four yard plunge off tackle, a pass from Friedman to Moran again having carried the ball deep into Spartan territory.

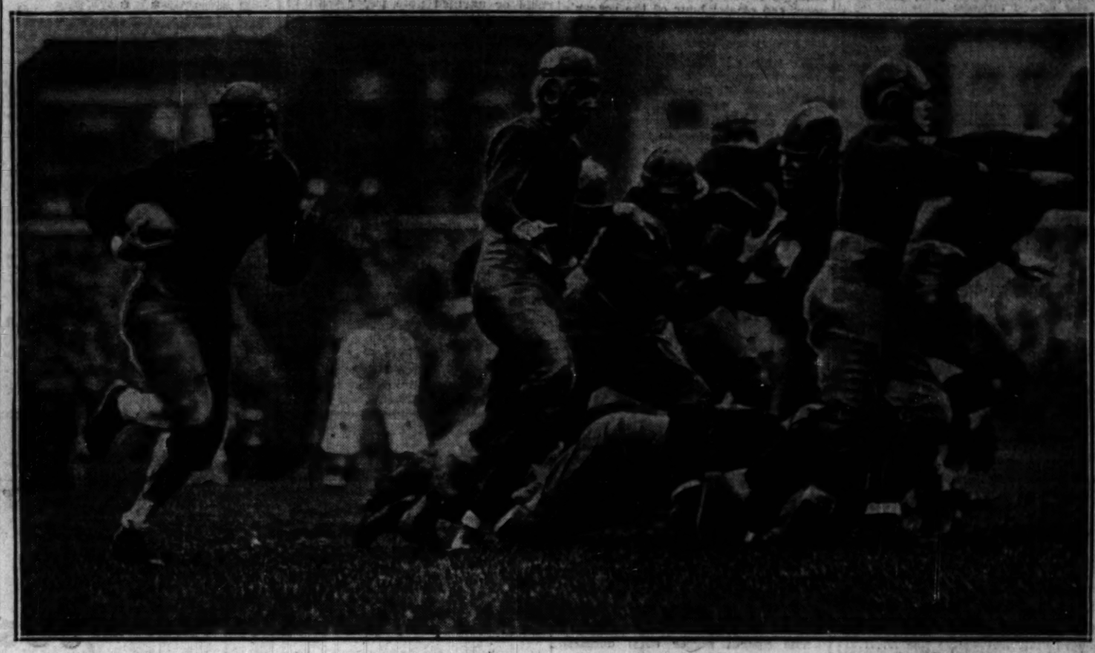
PACKING UP NO. 8 FOR THE PACKERS



Johnny Blood, a leading scorer for the Packers, looks for an opening in the Bears' line, but there isn't a gap to go through. The Bear line was a match for the Green Bay forwards, a factor that kept the visiting ball carriers from dashing hither and yon.

Carl Brumbaugh of the Bears attempts to return a punt in the first quarter of the battle with the champion Packers yesterday at Wrigley field, but three Green Bay players are closing in on him. It wasn't long before the Bear quarter back hit the ground with a pack of Packers on top of him. Green Bay won, 6 to 2, for its eighth victory. [TRIBUNE Photos.]

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Eighty yards and a touchdown. That was Capt. August Michaleske's contribution for victory yesterday at Wrigley field. By his interception of a pass and touchdown run Green Bay's Packers, twice champions of the National Professional Football league, defeated the Chicago Bears, 6 to 2. This play gave the Packers their eighth consecutive victory this season.

Twenty-nine thousand, a record 1931 crowd, watched the combat between Packers and Bears. They saw a battle of brawn, replete with vicious tackling, which was worthy of record as the twenty-second contest between the teams. The victory was the eleventh for the Packers in the eleven year old series and the second this year.

Bears Score in Safety.

Michaleske's run in the second quarter, when the Bears were hammering at the Packer goal line, fired the Bears to other efforts which threatened to find the spot in the champion's defense through which a winning advance might be made, but they were unsuccessful.

The Bears' 2 points came in the third period on a safety by Red Dunn, Packer quarter back. Dunn received one of Dick Nesbitt's long spiraling punts at his goal line. Scarcely had he started to run when Jesse Hibbs, the Bears' left tackle, crashed into Red and tossed him into the end zone. This score, however, availed nothing. It meant victory if a touchdown could be added, but the Packers refused to yield to the Bears' attack.

Nearly the entire third and fourth quarters were played in Green Bay territory. But the Bears, handicapped by their own fumbles and facing a charging line and alert backs, could gain only in midfield. When the danger zone was reached, Green Bay repulsed every assault.

Fumbles on 21 Yard Line.

Until Michaleske's interception and run, the Bears had outplayed their rivals. They had halted an early Green Bay attack and then had countered with a journey of 36 yards which ended when Bronko Nagurski fumbled on Green Bay's 21 yard line. Once more the Bears got under way. Big Bronko provided most of the yardage when he ran through and over the blue shirted defenders for 24 yards.

Bronko's smashing drive carried to the Packers 41 yard strip. Red Grange cut inside tackle for nine yards and Nagurski plunged for six yards more and first down on Green Bay's 26 yard line. The thousands, from the crowded stands along the sidelines to the packed bleachers, roared. The Bears were on their way.

Then, on first down, Carl Brumbaugh called for a forward pass. Taking the ball from Pearson at center, Carl dropped back. He whirled to throw as Big Cal Hubbard, who had replaced Nash at right end, sent his 250 pounds hurtling at him. Hubbard's outstretched hands partly blocked the throw. The ball sailed crazily toward the unprotected area along the west sideline.

Michaleske's Waiting for It.

Michaleske had divined the play. Leaving his position in the line, he was waiting. At full speed and almost before the Bears knew what had happened, he grabbed the ball and was away. His first sprint carried him past all opponents. Down the side line he raced, with only one man in position to stop him. Link Lyman, the Bears' left tackle, was the pursuer and Lyman might have caught Michaleske but for Milt Gantenbein, who quartered across the field to

City Prep Title Contest May Be Arranged Today

Plans to bring together the championship teams of the Chicago Public High School Football league and the Catholic league for the Chicago title and the benefit of Gov. Emmerson's joint emergency relief fund are expected to be completed today or tomorrow.

Lindblom, 1930 league champion, and until Saturday a strong contender for the title, had delayed final negotiations, it was learned yesterday. With Lindblom eliminated, no further difficulties are anticipated. Tilden, Harrison, Parker and Schurz, likely sectional winners, are anxious to meet the Catholic league champions in the event either wins the City league title.

Thus as stated exclusively in THE TRIBUNE on Oct. 23, another city championship game, after a lapse of two years, will be played. The final games of both leagues are scheduled for Nov. 21 and 22, and the probable date for the charity contest is Nov. 28.

Brother Sylvester, president of the Catholic league, announced some time ago that Cardinal Mundelein had approved the game. The board of control of the City league, at a special meeting, also voted in favor of the contest.

Minnesota Perils N. U., Last of Big Ten Grid Favorites

Minnesota, after its defeat of Wisconsin Saturday, advances on Dyche stadium this week-end to meet Northwestern, the only other team which has a perfect conference record. The Gophers' 14 to 0 victory over the Badgers, the exact reverse of the 1930 result, was forecast by an overwhelming triumph against Iowa. Northwestern whipped Illinois Saturday, 32 to 6, for a second Big Ten conquest.

The schedule in early season offered the possibility of Purdue, Michigan, and Northwestern tying for the championship, but that all has been turned upside down. Wisconsin stopped Purdue and Ohio State tripped Michigan. Now it remains for Northwestern to assert its claim in combat with the Gophers. Only Indiana and Iowa bar Northwestern's path thereafter, while Minnesota, if it wins, must dispose of Michigan Nov. 21.

N. U. Content with 32 Points.

Northwestern was a bit more lenient with Illinois than were the Wolverines a week ago. After scoring 25 points in ten minutes, Coach Hanley withdrew Pug Rentner and was content to see his team play on equal scoring terms with Bob Zuppke's warriors, each eleven getting one touchdown in the remainder of the game.

Chicago's gallant battle against Purdue, which failed, 14 to 6, after the Maroons had a half time advantage of 6 to 0, nearly made Purdue victim of an upset for the second occasion this year.

Indiana, which had not been defeated in conference play until Saturday, although it had fought a scoreless tie with Iowa, took the count in its homecoming game with Ohio State. The Buckeyes won, 13 to 6, but they led only by one point until Carl Cramer intercepted a forward pass in the closing minutes to run 70 yards for a touchdown.

Wolverines Whip Tigers.

Iowa defeated George Washington in intersectional play at Iowa City, 7 to 0, by scoring its first touchdown of the year. Michigan traveled to the eastern seaboard and won from Princeton, 21 to 0. The Wolverines tricked the Tigers for the first touchdown with a fake place kick which proved to be a touchdown run by Fay and then used this advantage to pry off two more scores. Princeton did not make a first down.

The Yale-Dartmouth game packed enough thrills into a 33 to 33 tie

St. Mary's Rally in 2d Half Beats Santa Clara, 21-14

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 1.—(AP)—St. Mary's galloping Gaels put on a brilliant fight today and defeated their keenest rivals, Santa Clara, 21 to 14, before 50,000, to maintain their record of the only undefeated, untied major eleven on the Pacific coast this season.

Santa Clara scored first after an exchange of kicks had given them the ball. Two passes, the first from Judnich to Danz and the second from the same thrower and received by G. Dowd, accounted for the touchdown. In the second quarter the Gaels came back to tie the score. From the 23 yard line Toscani passed to Beasley, who scampered over the line.

The Broncos went into the lead again in the third period. After recovering a fumble on St. Mary's 14 yard line, three plunges at the line with Paglia carrying the ball resulted in a touchdown. Paglia was injured soon afterward and taken to an emergency hospital, where it was reported he had suffered a spine injury and temporary paralysis from the hips down.

On the short end of the score the Gaels rallied and Toscani, right half back, raced 47 yards to the Bronco line. The Gaels went into the lead in the fourth period after a thrust from Santa Clara's 33 yard line.

CHICAGO RACING COLONY ON WAY TO OTHER TRACKS

Lewis, Jockey Star, Goes to Pimlico.

Chicago's turf colony, which has been thickly populated for six months, began to scatter to the four corners of the country yesterday following the close of the racing season at Hawthorne.

A special train of 12 cars, carrying horses, owners, trainers, jockeys and racing officials pulled out early yesterday for the Tanforan track in California, just across the bay from San Francisco, where a meeting opens next Friday afternoon.

Another special train of a dozen carloads of horses will leave today for New Orleans, and on Tuesday a special carrying some 300 horses will depart for the Oriental Park track in Cuba. Other shipments of horses will go to Miami within the next ten days.

Lewis Goes to Pimlico.

A number of the better grade horses that have been racing here were shipped to Pimlico in Maryland yesterday. Jockey M. Lewis, the sensation among the riders, left for Pimlico to ride the Coldstream stud stable horses.

The one horse stable of A. C. Bostwick, which consisted of the sensational 3 year old Mate, won more money than any other turf establishment in Chicago during the season. Victories in the Arlington Classic and American Derby, and a second in the Hawthorne Gold Cup, made it possible for Mate to earn $126,325. Mate, of course, was the leading money winning horse of the year in Chicago. He beat Sun Beau for the honors by some $32,000.

R. Jones Leads Jockeys.

R. Jones with 79 winners was the leading jockey of the year here, and R. T. Watts, who trains the horses of Mrs. Emil Denemark, saddled more winners than any other trainer. He sent 29 horses to the post that were able to win.

PIMLICO STABLES FULL

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 1.—(AP)—Every stall at Pimlico race track was occupied tonight on the eve of the track's twelve day autumn meet and many thoroughbreds were quartered at the nearby Timonium stables.

In the weeks since the spring meet much attention has been given the steeplechase course. The most novel feature and one used here for the first time at any course, according to race men, is a layer of brush on the takeoff side to keep the horses from getting too close to the jump before the leap.

The brush is firmly bound together to prevent slips and makes an ideal approach to the obstacles, which have been raised to five feet.

The meet opens tomorrow with the Manly Memorial steeplechase, a $10,000 event on the program. During the twelve days of racing there will be three $10,000 purses, one $25,000 race, and one $40,000 event—the Pimlico Futurity, set for Saturday.

There will be $10,000 purses Nov. 4, the Bowie handicap for 3 year olds, and Nov. 18, the Walden handicap, for 2 year olds. The final day of the meet the Riggs handicap, a $25,000 race for 3 year olds and upwards, will be run.

NATALIE MEETS DUROCHER TODAY IN CUE TOURNEY

Pasquale Natalie of Chicago will meet Peter Durocher, also of Chicago, in the opening game of the special five man pocket billiard tournament at the Kleckhefer Recreation this afternoon. Maj. White of Chicago will oppose George Nuss of Kansas City tonight. Coy Julian of Springfield, Ill., the fifth entry, will meet the loser of the White-Durocher game tomorrow afternoon.

Natalie defeated White a few weeks ago in a playoff for first honors in a special tournament at the Woods Billiard room. Nuss has been made a joint favorite with Natalie in the tournament at Kleckhefer's.

WAUKEGAN BOAT DRIVER BEATEN IN TWO RACES

Lake Elsinore, Cal., Nov. 1.—(AP)—Harold G. Ferguson of Long Beach, Cal., western titleholder, beat out Tommy Estlick, Waukegan, Ill., professional, in two straight heats of the F. class hydroplane event of a regatta run here today under the auspices of the Newport Harbor, Cal., Outboard club.

Ferguson turned 52.941 miles per hour in his fastest heat to defeat the midwest pilot, who, two weeks ago set the fastest mile speed ever made in an outboard speedboat. On the Salton sea of the Colorado desert Estlick turned a statute mile at 56.525 miles per hour.

PAULINO SIGNS TO BOX LOUGHRAN IN GARDEN, NOV. 13

New York, Nov. 1.—[Special.]—Paulino Uscudun, Basque heavyweight, will box in Madison Square Garden Nov. 13, after all. The man whose bout against Primo Carnera was rejected by the state athletic commission against what it termed "step ladder" matches, today was signed to meet Tommy Loughran, Philadelphia heavyweight, in a ten round bout.

The contest will be the first arranged and staged under the direction of James J. Johnston, new boxing director of Madison Square Garden.

Loyola to Hold Harrier Carnival Here on Nov. 28

Loyola university will hold an invitational cross country race Saturday, Nov. 28, at the Loyola stadium course. Invitations have been sent to the Chicago, Illinois, Northwestern, De Paul, Notre Dame, Marquette, and a score of other teams, in Illinois, Indiana, and Wisconsin.

Hunters Up Early to Open 1931 Season

BY BOB BECKER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cuba island, Illinois river, Nov. 1.—A part of Illinois' duck shooting army, which finds its sport along this great stream, unlimbered its guns along the front here today with the beginning of the 30 day duck season.

While many of the open duck grounds to which the day shooters can go deferred their opening bombardment until Monday morning, practically all of the other waterfowl hunters ate early lunches today, donned their rubber boots and other hunting clothes and slid into their blinds before 12 o'clock in order to be ready for their sport promptly at noon, the official hour of the season's opening.

Watches Morning Flight.

We were up early this morning in order to watch the morning flight down where the Sangamon river joins the Illinois. The morning flight is one of the beautiful pictures that rewards the early riser in the marshes.

Long streaming lines of mallards, long necked, inquisitive pintails, the flashing wings of teal, the speedsters of the flyways, handsome woodducks—all passed in review as we paddled around with camera and binoculars shortly after sunrise.

Ducks Are Plentiful.

There are some big bunches of birds here. At least the picture is one that makes you think along these lines. Reports on the numbers of birds along the river are to be compiled from observers in the hope that some conclusions can be made regarding the relative abundance or scarcity of various species this fall.

It was good to welcome the pintails to this particular area. This species doesn't care much for the small or wooded ponds which the mallard enjoys. The sprig prefers bigger and more open water. They have it here this year and these long necked, handsome fellows are again a delightful part of the waterfowl parade.

Shamrocks in Shape; Start Rigid Drills

HAMILTON, Ont., Nov. 1.—[Special.]—The Shamrocks' first week's practice, devoted mainly to conditioning, ended yesterday, and tomorrow Manager Babe Dye will begin sending forwards against the defense in three men shifts. Drills in back checking, scrimmage and wind sprints will compose this week's work.

Eddie Wiseman and Walter Buswell, rookie defense, have been the outstanding performers in the early drill. Mike Karakas also has shown improvement.

Seven men are contesting for a maximum of four defense positions. They are Taylor, Headley, Burland, Mulligan of last year's squad; Carbol, with Minneapolis in 1930, and Buswell and Osler, rookies.

At center four players, Clayton, O'Neill, Mackenzie, and Riley, are seeking the three berths. The veteran Ade Johnson has been shifted from center to left wing, making eight men, Brydson, Burns, Wiseman, McFadyen of last year's club; Ade Johnson and three youngsters, Armand, Prelesnick, and Malone, from whom six men will be chosen.

Only four men are reasonably sure to start the season. They are Riley, Brydson, McFadyen, and Wiseman. Beginning tomorrow chalk talks will be a daily part of the program. No practice was scheduled for today, but Manager Dye led the players on a hike up Hamilton mountain.

BATTALINO FACES EXTRA WORK TO MAKE 126 POUNDS

Mastro, Champion Near End of Training Grind.

Bat Battalino, world's featherweight champion, and Earl Mastro, Chicago challenger, reach the end of their training grinds today. After this afternoon's labors they will confine themselves to light exercises for their 10 round title fight on Wednesday at the Chicago Stadium.

It was learned last night that the champion has been having trouble over weight, and, while he reported last week within four pounds of the 126 pound figure, he has found that last pound and a half a stubborn matter. This may force the champion to adopt a stiff schedule of reducing exercises for tomorrow.

Mastro has had no weight worries. He seldom goes above 126 pounds and on several occasions has found himself as low as 123. He expects to step on the scales Wednesday afternoon within a few ounces either way of 124 pounds.

Progress Satisfies Manager.

Pete Reilly, the somewhat solemn-faced manager for the champion, arrived over the week-end and took charge of Battalino's camp. He expressed himself as well satisfied with the champion's condition and reiterated that he expected himself and Bat to go back to Hartford with the featherweight crown intact.

The champion's style is to depend upon a body attack to wear down his man. He likes to get in close and pound away. He isn't as flashy as Bud Taylor, but his general style is along the lines of Taylor's attack. Boxing fans well remember the thrilling battles Mastro and Taylor indulged in here. They expect something on that order on Wednesday.

Sammy Mandell arrived from Rockford yesterday and established himself at Brown's gymnasium. The former lightweight king at once issued a statement in which he asked that judgment upon his comeback be deferred until after his battle with Ralph Lenny. This is the 10 round semi-windup.

Change Opening Bout.

Matchmaker Nate Lewis has made a change in the opening bout. Joe Corbett and Pat McLaughlin, heavyweights, are unable to go through with their number, so Charley Young and Al Keegan have replaced them. The latter two also are big fellows. They are scheduled for six rounds.

Principals in the other two matches are ready. In one of these Harry Dublinsky, the west side Polish boy, finds himself matched against Louis Kid Kaplan.

game to last for a decade. Albie Booth ran wild in the first half to give Yale a 16 to 10 lead. Yale got five touchdowns and three points afterward for its total, while Dartmouth scored four touchdowns and three additional points afterward, but made up the remaining six points by two field goals, each good for three points.

Syracuse Beats Michigan State.

Cornell remained undefeated by whipping Columbia, 13 to 6, in one of the hardest fought contests in the east. The big red team played its best football of the season. Another undefeated team, Syracuse, came to East Lansing, Mich., and won from State college, 15 to 10.

Oregon, playing New York university in the east, did the unexpected. Oregon lost its last game on the Pacific coast to Southern California, 52 to 0. A week ago, on the first stage of its eastern invasion, North Dakota held Doc Spears' eleven to a scoreless tie. Saturday Oregon was from New York university, previously undefeated, 14 to 6.

Kansas Aggies, tied with Iowa State and Nebraska for leadership in the Big Six, took a hand in international play. The Aggies won from West Virginia, 19 to 0. Army turned back Colorado, 27 to 0, at West Point.

Notre Dame Wins Again.

Notre Dame took Carnegie Tech at Pittsburgh in stride by this same popular 19 to 0 score. The Irish lost additional touchdowns by penalties and inaccurate forward passing, but Carnegie had no offense to offer, as one touchdown would have been sufficient. Pennsylvania, which meets Notre Dame this week, remains undefeated by virtue of a 2 to 0 win from Lafayette.

Kansas, defending Big Six champion, which has not won in league competition this season, was defeated by a Missouri Valley foe, the Oklahoma Aggies, 13 to 7. Two games in the Big Six kept the winners, Iowa State and Nebraska, in a tie with the Kansas Aggies. Iowa State, which won its first league game in two seasons last week from Missouri, added Oklahoma to its string, 13 to 12, while Nebraska stemmed a last minute rally by the Missouri Tigers to win, 10 to 7.

Mount Carmel's football team can begin preparations to play for Chicago Catholic High School league championship. It cleared the hurdle in its path to the south section title with a 13 to 6 victory over Rita, 1930 champion, yesterday before 12,000 at St. Rita field.

Mount Carmel, with four consecutive victories, has only Joliet, which will be played next Sunday afternoon at White City, remaining on its schedule. Joliet is expected to offer little opposition. Even if Joliet should defeat Mount Carmel would not be overtaken by Leo, which holds second place in the south section standings.

St. Rita began its fight to retain championship by outplaying Mount Carmel in the first quarter and in the end of the period marched down to the Mount Carmel 12 yard line, where Art Lang hurled a pass to Le Blanc for a touchdown. Ringhand failed to make the extra point on a line plunge through guard.

Carmelites Go to Work.

Then Mount Carmel's backs began to function. Bart McKernan, Lefty Callahan, and Buddy Gonya drove through the St. Rita line to complete three first downs and reach the St. Rita 2 yard line early in the second quarter. McKernan crashed through to tie the score, and Mount Carmel took a 7 to 6 lead when Bunny Durkin kicked the extra point.

Mount Carmel scored its second touchdown a few minutes later when McKernan intercepted a pass on St. Rita's 30 yard line. On two plays McKernan carried the ball to the 3 yard strip. Gonya then threw a pass to Vincent O'Malley, who was standing on the St. Rita goal line. Durkin failed in the attempt for the extra point.

Hold on 5 Yard Line.

St. Rita threatened in the third quarter when it resorted to passes. Two were completed to put the ball on Mount Carmel's 5 yard line, but St. Rita failed to gain in its three downs and Durkin punted to Rita's 45 yard line. Lineup:

A De La Salle fumble on its own 3 yard line, recovered by Bill McDonough, paved the way for Leo's touchdown in the fourth period. After three plays put the ball on De La Salle's 2 yard line, McDonough drove through for a touchdown. Lineup:

Friendly to the Teeth

Just ask any Old Gold smoker!

A good cigarette is like a good friend. It aims to give you pleasure without causing you any annoyance or regrets.

OLD GOLD is that kind of cigarette... and friend. It is not content merely to give you a finer smoke. But it gives it to you without tainting your breath. Without leaving unsightly stains on your teeth, and with far less tendency to stain the fingers.

That's because OLD GOLD is a pure-tobacco cigarette. Free of clinging, staining, oily flavorings.

FARMERS OF BIG 6 SHARE TOP RUNG WITH NEBRASKA

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 1.—(AP)—The "farmer" members of the Big Six aren't hankering for relief to aid their football forces.

Kansas Aggies and Iowa State college share the conference leadership with Nebraska, which also features education for the agrarian pursuits.

Owning both touchdowns Iowa State scored Saturday and author of the extra point placement kick that beat Oklahoma, 13 to 12, Dick Grefe, Iowa State half back, displaced Ralph Graham of the Kansas Aggies as the leading individual scorer of the conference. Each has scored six touchdowns in five games, but the Iowa stan has increased his point total to 40 with four points after touchdown.

The undefeated Kansas Aggies, who added West Virginia to their string of victories, 19 to 0, at Morgantown Saturday, test State at Ames next Saturday. Neither ever has won a conference football title and neither was regarded as a championship possibility before the season started.

Missouri provided the fireworks Saturday, holding Nebraska to a 10 to 7 score tumble Lyman head over heels in the dirt as he clutched for Michalske.

Red Dunn missed the try for the extra point.

One touchdown was all Green Bay needed. Thereafter the Packers attended to business, taking no unnecessary chances. They kicked on third down and always refused to pass except when in position to cover on interceptions. Their play in general was defensive, calculated to hold their advantage.

Halt Bears' Passes.

The Packers' superior replacements stood them in good stead. They concentrated on a pass defense and so perfect were their plans that the Bears only completed one pass in 18 efforts.

Green Bay's defensive game was continued even when Dunn's error in judgment awarded the Bears 2 points. Dunn, probably confused concerning location of the goal line, caught Nesbitt's kick when he should have let it cross the goal line. But the error did not disturb the Packers. And when the ball passed over to the Bears on Green Bay's 45 yard line after the kick following the safety, the Packers plugged along, slowly wearing down the Bear offensive until it collapsed.

Dick Nesbitt, who played nearly the entire game at right half in place of Joe Lintzenich, was the mainstay of the Bears in the second half. In addition to his work on running plays Nesbitt outkicked Johnny Blood of the Packers. One of Nesbitt's kicks in the last quarter sailed 72 yards to Russ Saunders, who promptly was downed on the Packers' nine yard line. This kick, fully 80 yards from where Nesbitt stood, back of the line of scrimmage, involved no roll and its height permitted the Bears' linemen to race down the field under it.

Molesworth Grabs Pass.

Keith Molesworth, another substitute, who took over Red Grange's job late in the second quarter when a shoulder injury forced the Bears' captain to the bench, produced the thrill of the third quarter. Like Michaleske, Molesworth intercepted a forward pass. But Molesworth, starting near midfield, had all his opposition in front of him. With help of his mates Molesworth came down the east side line ten yards. Then his path was blocked. So he ran laterally, twisting out of tackles, turning, continuing on and on, until his run finally was halted on the Packers' 25 yard line on the opposite side of the field.

But the Bears could not come through in support. Molesworth and Nesbitt gained four yards and then two unsuccessful passes lost possession of the ball.

The collapse of the Bears' pass attack probably cost victory. The failure, of course, was traceable to a Packer secondary which only once permitted a receiver to run uncovered. This pass, from a kick formation, was from Molesworth to Walquist for 19 yards. All other passes started from a standard formation with the quarter back taking the ball from the center. Aggressive Packer linemen hurried all the throws.

One Pass Ruled Complete.

The Bears tried 18 passes. In addition to one successful throw, another was ruled complete for interference. It gained 22 yards. Three passes were intercepted, while 13 were incomplete.

The Packers called for eight passes. Six were incomplete in the first half. Molesworth's interception came in the third period. In the last quarter the Packers completed their only pass for a gain of 18 yards.

U. S. AMATEURS DIVIDE 8 BOUTS WITH FINLAND

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Nov. 1.—(AP)—The United States gained an even break with Finland in their two day amateur boxing tournament completed tonight.

Today Steve Salek, Boston 135 pounder, defeated Vakeva, and Harry Burns, Boston 112 pounder, outpointed Dickman. Koivunen of Finland, however, stopped Joe Melham, Kansas City 175 pounder, in the first round.

Finland had taken a 3 to 2 lead yesterday, but the two American victories today made the final count 4 all.

Horton Smith Not to Play in British Open This Year

Springfield, Mo., Nov. 1.—[Special.]—Horton Smith, internationally known professional golfer, will not play in the British open championship next season, he announced here today. He soon will sign a contract with a large country club, which will make it impossible for him to compete abroad, he said.

Former Yale Grid Star Reaches Mexico Golf Final

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 1.—(AP)—John H. Joss of Indianapolis, Yale football star of half a dozen years ago, and Raymond R. Billings of Washington, advanced to the final round of the amateur golf championship of Mexico today. Joss, who eliminated Percy Clifford, three times holder of the title, defeated L. J. Ryan of San Antonio today, 5 and 4. Billings defeated Francis Nisbet of Minatitlan, the medalist. Both Joss and Billings now reside in Mexico.

Russell Ready When Wildcats Battle Gophers

Prospects of Reb Russell returning to the lineup yesterday boosted Northwestern's stock for its homecoming game with Minnesota at Dyche stadium Saturday. Russell was injured in the opening contest of the season against Nebraska.

It is not likely that the hard hitting full back will play even half the game. Russell, since rejoining the squad, has done nothing more than run signals. He hasn't been needed thus far in the Big Ten conference title chase, but his line smashing power may be required against the Gophers, undefeated in the conference, who stand in the way of another Northwestern championship.

Escape Serious Bruises.

The Wildcats emerged from the brush with Illinois in good shape physically. None of the players suffered more than the usual bumps and bruises. The game was the first this season in which the Wildcat regulars were able to retire from the scene and let the reserves carry on.

Coach Hanley was pleased with the improvement shown by the Wildcats in all phases of the game against Illinois with the exception of forward pass defense, a laxity which permitted the Illini to score their lone touchdown.

Fumbling Habit Disappears.

The fact that the Purple ball carriers did not commit a single fumble was a big improvement. It was the first game this year in which loose ball handling did not occur. The Wildcats also appeared more adept with the forward pass, the ends finally being able to hang on to Pug Rentner's tosses.

With the conference title hinging upon Saturday's game, Coach Hanley does not fear a letdown on the part of his players this week. However, starting this afternoon the Wildcat regulars as well as reserves will resume practice. A heavy week's work is in prospect.

MAROONS SEE VICTORY

Full of the feeling that they have passed through the trough of their football depression, and that prosperity may be just around the corner, the University of Chicago Maroons will assemble today for the week's drill in preparation for the invasion of the Midway by the University of Arkansas next Saturday.

The conviction that they are on the upgrade arises from the surprising stand against Purdue last Saturday and the fact that the next two opponents, Arkansas and Illinois, are not as tough as the last four have been.

It was spirit and determination, and that only, Coach Stagg said yesterday, which enabled the Maroons to hold Purdue to a one touchdown margin rather than to the five or ten touchdown margin which had been predicted. All of the Chicago players came out of the battle unscathed.

Both Arkansas and Chicago have lost their last four games, but the Maroons' opposition has been in a harder league than that of the southerners, and the impending game may give the Midway squad its first victory of the season over a full blown university. At any rate, Coach Stagg indicated yesterday, there is no reason for a letup in the program of strenuous practice every day.

ILLINI ON UPGRADE

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 1.—[Special.]—Illinois sophomores showed an improvement against Northwestern, compared to their performance against Michigan a week previously, despite their decisive defeat by the Wildcats, Coach Bob Zuppke said today.

"Although we were far below par in all departments, still we did charge and tackle somewhat better," Zuppke asserted. "Wisconsin will be another tough one for us, but if the Illini work hard this week I believe it is not impossible for us to win."

On Saturday Wisconsin will make its first appearance at Illinois since 1923, the last gridiron meeting with the Badgers. The occasion will be Dads' day.

The Illini came out of the Northwestern game in good physical condition. Bernon Perkins probably earned a regular guard position by his playing. Dick O'Neill is another lineman who is developing.

NAVY NEXT FOR OHIO

Columbus, O., Nov. 1.—[Special.]—Ohio State will celebrate homecoming when it entertains the Navy eleven in the Ohio stadium Saturday. This year's game with the Navy terminates a two year home and home agreement. The Buckeyes won last year in Baltimore, 27 to 0.

All of the Ohio players emerged from the Indiana game last Saturday without serious injuries. The first string players who saw service against Indiana probably will be excused from practice tomorrow with the second stringers taking on the freshmen in scrimmage.

Comiskey, Johnson Break National League's Reign

[This is the seventh of a series of articles on the life of Charles A. Comiskey.]

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The idea that there was room for a second major league originated while Charles Comiskey still was a club owner at St. Paul and Ban Johnson was president of the Western league, or association, with offices in Chicago. The possibilities of putting another circuit into the field to challenge the monopoly of the National was discussed in a meeting held at Chicago as early as 1898. One of the men willing to go ahead in this project was Ted Sullivan. Lack of financial support probably was the reason nothing ever came of it.

CLARK GRIFFITH.

Learning of the contemplated league, Comiskey and Johnson began to busy themselves. They knew a new league would encroach on their territory as well as on the National. They wanted to put a club in Chicago, which was strictly National league territory. What they would do after that, they themselves didn't know. Comiskey's St. Paul club was the one selected for removal here, but the transfer was made only after the most stubborn opposition from James Hart, the owner of the National league club on the west side.

Commy and Ban Beat Hart Back.

After having killed off the Brotherhood league, to which Comiskey had jumped, the National expanded to a twelve club circuit so as not to leave open any desirable cities for rival leagues. This arrangement was costly and unsatisfactory and the agreement under which it operated expired in 1900. In January of that year the meeting from which the American league blossomed was held in Chicago. The league, however, for that season operated much as it had under the name of Western. It wasn't until the following season that it really expanded and took from the National the cream of its players.

Hart backed up gradually in his stand against invasion of his Chicago territory. His first stipulation was that Comiskey would have to keep his team on the south side and not use the name Chicagos. Then Hart demanded that he be permitted to draft two players from Commy's team each fall. This had been done in previous seasons and Commy as well as Johnson realized that to accept would keep the new league in the class of a minor.

It never has been known exactly how much money Comiskey had when the transfer was made between 1899 and 1900. It has been said that he was in debt at St. Paul and also that he had accumulated a nest egg of approximately $30,000. The latter, however, was only a small part of what was needed to lease grounds and erect a park in Chicago. Assistance was soon forthcoming from Charles Somers of Cleveland, whose fortune also helped to establish several other clubs in the league when it really expanded into a major.

Once in Chicago, the Godess of Fortune beamed on Commy for a stretch of years. In his first year [1900] as an owner in his home town, his team, playing at 39th street and Wentworth won a pennant with Commy in the manager's rôle. It wasn't much of a team that Commy possessed. There had been little time to build, what with the transfer and all such details taking up the winter period. But he brought down his St. Paul club. The team was made up of such as pitchers, Roger Denzer, Jack Katoll and Roy Patterson; catchers, Sugden, Wood and Buckley; infielders, Isbell, Padden, Hartman, Shugart and O'Leary; outfielders, Hoy, Dillard, McFarland and Brodle.

Sox Popularity Grows Tremendous.

The south side immediately rallied to the cause of the White Sox and the foundation of the Comiskey fortune began to be laid. It was this support that to a certain extent encouraged the league to go ahead the next year with its player raids which brought on two years of real war with the National. When this war ended the American league held the whip hand and the National was far from the powerful, domineering organization it had been. It was the American league's turn to dominate and Ban Johnson did it.

Intimate contact with the public made the Sox following grow at an amazing rate. Under the wooden stand at the old park was a bar in front of which, when the Sox were at home, Comiskey kept strict office hours. He was always there with a hearty greeting for any and all, and possibly a little beer on the side. In this way the group which later became the Woodland Bards, began to form. The select ones would gather at the bar after the game. They'd talk over the day's play until darkness made it necessary to move. Then, frenquently, Commy would take them to some cafe and the debating on baseball would continue far into the night.

Gets Four Managers in Player Raids.

Commy had no partners and there were no income taxes to report, so there was no necessity to keep track of the earnings. The Old Roman met expenses as he went along and spent as he saw fit. What was in the bank at the end of the season was profit. And there always was something left. Comiskey never liked to talk of club finances, regarding that as something of a private matter, but it is fairly certain that in his many years as a big league owner he never finished a season in the red.

In that old park Commy held forth for almost 11 seasons. The league and his personal fortune were growing all the time. When the raids opened on the National league the Sox had taken such as Clark Griffith and Jimmy Callahan from the Chicago Nationals. Catcher Billy Sullivan and Fielder Jones, outfielder, also were grabbed. All of these men in time served as Sox managers. The team reached its peak in 1906 when after winning the American league pennant, it vanquished the supposedly peerless Cubs in the world series. The same team, with a few changes, also was in the 1908 pennant fight until the last day of the season when it lost to Detroit. The Sox then went into a long decline so far as winning teams were concerned, but Commy's popularity as an owner continued to grow.

BOY SCOUTS TO SEE ST. JOHN'S MEET CULVER

Boy Scout troops of Chicago, in full uniform, will attend the St. John's-Culver second annual service football game and military pageant at Soldiers' field on Nov. 14.

Paul G. Armstrong, commander of the Cook County post of the American Legion, said yesterday that a special section would be set aside for the youngsters, who have been invited to the event as guests of the American Legion.

The infantry battalions of both black horse troop will join in drilling exhibitions before the game and beschools, their bands and Culver's tween halves.

The American Legion and the Joint Emergency Relief Fund of Cook County are sponsoring the game.

PACIFIC COAST STANDINGS STAY UNCHANGED

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 1.—(AP)—October's gridiron cleanup saw no change in the Pacific coast standings but the two conference games decided yesterday furnished unexpected thrills.

Overwhelming pre-game favorites, Stanford was pressed to the limit to beat California at Los Angeles, 12 to 6. The score was tied and nine seconds were left to play when a high pass floated over the goal line to Don Colvin, Stanford end.

Washington State upset predictions to beat out Oregon State, 7 to 6, at Portland. California and Washington, who will meet at Berkeley Saturday, scored easy nonconference victories yesterday.

Triplett Wins 100 Lap Race at Los Angeles

RECOGNITION OF BULLISH FACTS BOOSTS WHEAT

World Conditions Force Change.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

A tardy recognition of a marked change in the world's supply and demand situation is the trade's general explanation of the advance of 16¾¢ in the price of wheat during the last month. The facts which are now to hand for what is now regarded as a bull movement have been known practically every operator for many weeks, but the speculative interest to start the market upward was lacking until recently.

Official figures of the world's supply and demand situation suggests a total of around 4,250,000,000 bu wheat, or about 250,000,000 bu less than in 1929-30. The loss is practically all in exporting countries. To the deficit in supplies must be added between 75,000,000 and 150,000,000 bu more to make up for the abnormally poor quality of the European crop and the small amount of old grain on hand at the end of the crop year. It was estimated earlier in the season that about 50,000,000 bu wheat in Germany and France alone was unfit for milling.

Exhausts Old Supplies.

Europe went into the new crop year with practically exhausted supplies of old wheat, the reduction abroad being almost at 80,000,000 to 100,000,000 bu. According to estimates made by the department of agriculture the world's disappearance of wheat in 1930-31 was 3,328,000,000 bu, the largest on record, and this despite every effort made in Europe to curtail consumption through high import duties and milling quotas, as well as regulations calling for the extraction of more flour from the wheat.

With wheat prices at a record low figure for many weeks it is only natural that the trade would feel that the consumption of wheat during 1931-'32 might be unusually heavy, and this is expected to be especially true in the United States where the price of wheat was lower than corn, pound for pound, over a wide area for some months.

Report Rye Shortage.

Not only is the supply of wheat short as compared with the previous year, but there is also a deficit of 100,000,000 bu rye, according to the last reports to the department of agriculture. The aggregate reduction in the two bread grains in consequence is at least 320,000,000 bu, as compared with 1930-'31, without any allowance made for the poorer quality and the limited amount of old grain on hand at the end of the season.

Despite the reduction in the wheat supply there is no indication of scarcity, and the figures point to only slightly below a normal world's carryover on July 1, 1932, even on the basis of the International Institute of Agriculture's figures on world's import requirements of 880,000,000 bu for the year.

See End of Depression.

Estimates on the winter wheat acreage in the United States for the 1932 crop suggest a decrease of around 16 per cent as compared with last year. This would give a total of around 36,000,000 acres. If there is normal abandonment during the winter the area for harvest would be around 32,000,000 acres, the smallest with two exceptions since 1913, and in both instances the loss during the winter was well above normal. Estimates on the yield at this season are practically worthless. Approximately 25 per cent of the total area for the country is in need of rain at the present time.

Economists regard the sensational advance in wheat prices since Oct. 5 largely in the way of a warning to the world that the downward trend of the business cycle has been definitely checked and that the latter has turned upward, with commodities leading the way back to normal conditions. Taking a broad view of the situation they feel that a decline of 50 cents or more in wheat would mean little more than checking bullish enthusiasm regarding it as improbable that wheat will sell as low again as it did early in October.

Wheat closed at net gains of 4¾@5c for the week, with December finishing at 61½c on Saturday; March, 61.66½c; May, 65⅞@66c, and July at 63.66¾c. Range of prices the past week follows:

Dividends Payable Today on Over 600 Stock Issues

New York, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Dividends payable Monday on more than 600 stock issues make up one of the major items in a turnover of more than $1,200,000,000 of investment funds scheduled for the month of November.

Dividend payments for the month are estimated at around a quarter of a billion dollars, and interest due on bond issues will exceed that amount by around $50,000,000.

Tomorrow there will fall due a $60,000,000 issue of United States treasury discount bills, which will be refunded with a new issue of similar size. Such maturities during the month, in five issues, aggregate $320,000,000, with corresponding new issues expected.

Payments in October.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 1.—[Special.]—Dividends declared by 924 corporations during October were about three-quarters of the disbursements announced in the same month last year, totaling $224,023,007, against $310,112,902 dividends declared by 1,159 corporations in October, 1930.

There were only 23 extra dividends declared during the month, slightly more than half of the 44 extra dividends of October, 1930. Sharp increases were shown in the numbers of dividends reduced or omitted; 90 dividends were cut in October, comparing with 24 the year before, and 128 dividends were omitted, against 84 last year.

There was an increase in the amount of dividends declared by department stores in October, the figure being $3,742,825, against $2,529,516 in the same month in 1930, all other groups showing reductions. Small declines appeared in bank and insurance company dividends, which were $15,167,754 against $18,859,873; in food and packing company dividends, which totaled $14,729,190 against $15,925,000, and in tobacco company disbursement, which were $9,933,888 against $10,091,029.

Utility Volume Largest.

Sharp declines appeared in the dividends announced by copper companies, which were $2,345,687 against $7,329,734; by mail order houses, which were $44,867 against $921,613, and by motor equipment manufacturers, which declared $1,583,316 against $2,541,459.

Public utilities contributed the largest volume, declaring dividends of $62,169,767, against $79,553,723 a year ago, with railroads next, with declarations of $26,184,557 against $35,998,674. Steel companies were third, with $20,150,852 against $32,137,535.

Substantial reductions, amounting to between 50 and 25 per cent, were announced by the directors of chain stores, motor companies, oil corporations and railroad equipment makers.

Stirrings in Steel Industry Raise Hopes of Awakening

New York, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Business swung into the eleventh month of the year today with stirrings in the mighty steel industry suggesting a belated autumn awakening of some consequence.

Trade conditions generally were characterized as "spotty" for the final week of October, and that month came to a close having recorded an unusually slight seasonal upswing in the volume of general business, although it ordinarily registers the autumn peak in such freight.

None the less, commentators generally agreed that confidence seemed to be steadily returning. The last week saw some uneveness in the security markets, but a good undertone was maintained, and wheat extended further its sweeping advance from the low levels of the early part of the month.

Conservative Optimists.

Among those who joined the ranks of the more conservative optimists during the week were Eugene G. Grace, president of the Bethlehem Steel corporation and James A. Farrell, president of U. S. Steel. President Grace found that "steel sentiment has improved" and President Farrell said that the percentage of employment in his corporation was beginning to start upward, thus "reflecting an improvement in business."

Further encouragement was also seen in the continued if irregular advance of commodity prices. In wheat markets prices reached the highest levels for the season for present deliveries. While some of this advance is attributable to pool speculation, recent surveys have indicated reductions in winter wheat seeding from 20 to 25 per cent in the middle west and from 20 to 25 per cent in the southwest.

Freight car loadings disclosed a slight decrease from the previous week. Some of the roads reported increases, but the traffic generally was irregular. Electric power output also registered a slight setback.

Wholesale and retail trade was extremely irregular being very much below that of last year but somewhat better on the whole than the previous week. Winter merchandise movements have been below normal and those gains that were registered were generally attributed to special sales and extensive advertising. The weather continued too warm in many sections to encourage the distribution of heavy wearing apparel.

A slight improvement from week to week is being reported by smaller retail dealers, particularly in some of the stores handling medium and low priced merchandise. A feature of the last week has been the demand for home furnishings and electric labor saving devices. Merchants are beginning to prepare for the holiday trade and much emphasis will be placed on practical gifts this year with more attention being given to quality than heretofore.

Affords Quicker Turnover.

The wholesale and jobbers markets have been on a hand to mouth basis and orders are small, compared with last year. However, orders are more frequent than formerly, due to the fact that retailers have reduced their stocks and are making a turnover oftener. The present rule seems to be "quick sales, less profit and more advertising."

That confidence has not been altogether lost in the future wool markets is shown by the fact that various dealers during the week refused bids because of the low prices offered. The Boston and Philadelphia markets were comparatively quiet.

Fur sales were considerably depressed, but here again the weather was blamed to some extent. Many bargain concessions were being granted for the sake of a faster turnover. Leather markets were slow due to the small demand from shoe manufacturers.

Some better activity was reported in the textiles trade with business equaling if not exceeding that of the previous week.

But Month Upsets Defeatism.

Stock exchanges, commodity markets and all banks and financial houses will be closed in New York tomorrow because of the state election. Trading will be suspended on the New York stock and curb exchanges. Chicago markets, including the Chicago Stock Exchange and the Board of Trade, will be open as usual.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Nov. 1.—The events of the last week bearing on the financial position were of highly varied character and an attempt to appraise their significance by watching the stock market's response to them was more than usually unprofitable.

Tuesday's extremely unfavorable quarterly statement of the Steel corporation, followed next day by reduction of the Pennsylvania railroad's dividend to a lower rate than the lowest of the 1921 "deflation period," were certainly not agreeable developments, yet neither was much discussed on the stock exchange or had more than passing influence.

On the other hand, two outstanding incidents of large international significance, the formal statement regarding the White House conference of Laval and Hoover and the sweeping victory of the British party pledged to financial reconstruction, met a cold reception. Wall street described the one as "disappointing," the other as threatening our export trade through a British tariff.

Reaction to Trade News.

Probably most people of intelligence will conclude from this that they had better pass on current news in the light of their own plain common sense and let the matter go at that. As the steel production and railway traffic figures show, there is plenty of depressing news in current trade developments.

It was not very long ago, however, that it seemed as if no other news was to be expected. The financial markets appeared to be confronted, during the four or five months ending last September, with an absolutely unbroken series of alarming occurrences. To thousands of observers, the picture was presented of a breakdown of the financial organism, pro-

STEEL WORKERS BACK ON JOB IN PITTSBURGH AREA

Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 1.—(AP)—The "back to normalcy" movement in the steel industry received added impetus in the Pittsburgh district today when between 2,500 and 3,000 men resumed work in the Edgar Thompson plant of the Carnegie Steel company at Braddock. With these men at work the mills will be operating at approximately 70 per cent of capacity, officials said.

The Davison Coke and Iron company reported today that it expected to reach 90 per cent of capacity production in its Neville island plant during November.

Since Aug. 1 the output there has jumped from 60 to 80 per cent of the plant's peak. Between 500 and 600 men are now employed on a seven days a week basis. Officials said a few more would be hired during November.

The Union Car Wheel works plans to recall 100 of its former workmen to its Thompson Run plant during the coming week. The Homestead steel works this week increased its employment considerably, recalling furloughed men and placing those already working on a longer hour schedule.

The Union Car Wheel and the Homestead and Braddock mills are all subsidiaries of the United States Steel corporation. At Braddock plant officials said a large rail order was responsible for the acceleration of activity there. It was of sufficient size, they said, to keep the plant running at 70 per cent of capacity for at least a month. Additional orders, anticipated before the end of November, probably will keep the plant busy for another month or perhaps indefinitely, they said.

SHOW EVIDENCE OF PICKUP IN SMALLER INDUSTRIAL CENTERS

Consumption of electricity in 5,000 communities served by the Middle West Utilities system is running 6.3 per cent ahead of last year, without including companies acquired during the year, according to figures announced yesterday by Martin J. Insull, president. Output was 397,308,000 kilowatt hours in September, 1931, against 374,265,000 kilowatt hours in September, 1930. Including new companies the output was 406,585,000 kilowatt hours in September, an increase of 8.1 per cent over the same month last year.

"Analysis of these reports," Mr. Insull said, "leads us to the belief that the first evidences of business revival are to be found in the medium sized and smaller manufacturing centers. The superior flexibility of the smaller industrial plants has enabled them to adapt themselves to changing conditions more rapidly than the larger but less flexible plants in the densely populated industrial centers."

The gain over 1930 output has been greater each month since the first of the year, Mr. Insull said, beginning with a 1.3 per cent increase in January and growing to a 6.3 per cent increase in September.

Sales of electricity to residential customers in September totaled 44,604,000 kilowatt hours, an increase of 16.9 per cent over September, 1930. Sales to industrial customers in September totaled 155,966,000 kilowatt hours, an increase of 5.9 per cent over the same month last year.

HOLIDAY ITEMS FEATURE TRADE ACTIVITY HERE

Buying of holiday merchandise, especially toys and giftware, constituted the principal activity in local wholesale merchandise markets during the last week, according to the Chicago Association of Commerce.

Retail trade suffered slightly as a week of intermittent cold rain reduced the buying urge to bare necessities. A few spots in the retail picture showed up well, however.

Aided by special sales, furniture stores did better than the usual run of business during the last few weeks. An unusually large number of inquiries also were made, indicating the public's intention of making long delayed purchases soon.

Owens-Illinois Glass Co. Reports 12 Months' Income

Owens-Illinois Glass company reports net earnings of $2,792,840.87, or at the rate of $2.51 per share on the 922,173 common shares outstanding for the twelve months' period ended Sept. 30, 1931. The company reports earnings each quarter for the twelve months' period ending with the last day of the quarter in accordance with the plan suggested by the New York Stock exchange. On this basis the company earned $2.42 a share for the twelve months ended June 30, 1931 and $2.45 per share for the twelve months ended Dec. 31, 1930.

President William E. Levis has announced the purchase of an additional $500,000 of the company's outstanding 5% ten year debentures. The original issue dated Jan. 1, 1929, of $5,000,000 of debentures is being rapidly retired and the present purchase leaves only $2,000,000 of the debentures outstanding.

REPORT HEAVIER GRAIN SHIPMENTS FROM MONTREAL

MONTREAL, Que., Nov. 1.—(AP)—Grain is pouring out of Montreal elevators at a pace far in excess of last year. The October total of 10,834,401 bu delivered by the harbor commission elevators in October was more than 2,000,000 bu more than the figure for the corresponding month last year and approximately the same total above the September deliveries.

The total deliveries of 74,000,000 bu for the first ten months this year are more than 6,000,000 bu greater than for the corresponding period in 1930. Orders on hand are 1,211,136 bu against 511,256 on Nov. 1 last year. Fifteen tramp steamers are chartered to load here while only four were chartered at the end of October last year. Deliveries from Montreal during the last two months of 1930 were 13,000,000 bu, a total of deliveries, the harbor commission believes, may be nearly doubled during the next two months.

Pennsy Vice President Retires After 50 Years

Edward T. Whiter, one time newsboy who rose to the position of vice president of the Pennsylvania railroad, retires today after 50 years and eight months of continuous railroad service. After serving as regional vice president at Chicago and then in Pittsburgh, he became a Pennsylvania railroad system officer when he was appointed vice president—Pittsburgh, four years ago. Today he retires from this office on a pension. Mr. Whiter stepped into railroad work by way of the telegraph key.

Schedule $32,515,740 New State and Municipal Bonds

New York, Nov. 1.—(AP)—New state and municipal bond offerings scheduled for award this week amount to $32,515,740 and represent the needs of 65 states and municipalities. The weekly average of new offerings in this class for the year to date totals $35,709,467. Louisiana has asked for bids Monday on $12,000,000 highway obligations; Minnesota has asked for tenders on Tuesday for $1,400,000 highway bonds, and on the same day Missouri will receive bids on $5,000,000 road bonds. Jersey City, N. J., has asked for bids on Friday for $4,359,000 in bonds.

NATIONAL CITY FINDS FAITH IN BANKS RETURNS

New York, Nov. 1.—(AP)—The return of public confidence in banking power and credit is seen by the National City Bank of New York as a distinct indication that better times are in the offing.

In its monthly survey of economic and financial conditions, the bank stresses the liquidity of the larger city banks which, it says, possess about 40 per cent of the country's total banking resources and are in such excellent condition that they are enabled to extend valuable assistance to smaller institutions where they can safely do so.

Discussing the epidemic of bank suspensions, the survey says: "The fundamental cause of the widespread bank failures goes back to the war time rise of commodity prices and wages, and to the inflation of credit made possible by the rapid increase of our bank reserves, which likewise was a consequence of the war."

Trading in Butter, Eggs and Potatoes Set Record

Trading in butter, egg, and potato futures on the Chicago Mercantile Exchange set a new record monthly total for the year during October. There were 6,901 cars of the three commodities sold. Egg trading and potato trading was also the heaviest for the year, although butter fell off somewhat from the September total. Egg sales were 4,060 cars, butter 2,109 cars, and potatoes 732 cars. The combined total was considerably under the October, 1930, trading, last year's sales being 10,721 cars. There was one less trading day during the month than during October, 1930.

HUNGARY SEEKS CUT IN INTEREST RATE ON DEBTS

[Copyright: 1931: By the New York Times.]

BUDAPEST, Nov. 1.—That Hungary has asked American, British, and other bankers for a reduction on interest rates on foreign debts was revealed today by Premier Count Julius Karolyi. He said Hungary would carry out to the limit of her possibilities the recommendation of the league of nations finance committee that such charges should be met and would carry on for at least three months on the present basis, but that in the long run she must have a reduction of these charges.

The league committee also recommended economic coöperation with Hungary's neighbors as the best way out of her difficulties and is understood to have had in mind a customs —or at least a preferential—union among Hungary, Austria, and Czecho-Slovakia. Dr. Edouard Benes, Czech foreign secretary, intimated in a recent speech that his country is prepared to coöperate with Hungary. Count Karolyi today, while insisting that economic coöperation must promise the attainment of a political modus vivendi, said he considered the chances of such economic coöperation is brighter than it has been for years.

October Auto Sales Off in Chicago and Illinois

New automobile sales in Illinois for October and for the first ten months of 1931, in comparison with the same period in 1930, do not offer students of economics any encouragement, although the low volume of sales seems to indicate that new car replacements will come as soon as conditions warrant. This is the conclusion of the research department of the Illinois Chamber of Commerce, which today reported 5,413 new car sales in October, as compared with 7,597 for September and to 7,648 for October, 1930. The ten months' total of 111,592 sales is 44,462 cars less than for the same period in 1930. The average monthly sales for 1931 are 11,159 cars, as compared to 15,605 cars for last year.

Sales for October, 1931, were divided nearly equally between Cook and downstate counties. Sales in Cook county totaled 2,641, a decrease of 1,243 cars compared to September, and downstate sales totaled 2,771, a decrease of 942 cars compared with September.

LOEW'S ANNUAL PROFITS EQUAL $7.46 A SHARE

Loew's, Inc., earned a net profit of $12,163,282, equivalent to $7.46 a share, on its 1,464,205 shares of common stock after preferred dividend requirements in the fiscal year ended Aug. 31, according to the annual report made public yesterday. This is after all charges, depreciation, and federal taxes.

These earnings compare with $14,600,332, or $9.85 a share, on 1,413,574 common shares in 1931 and $11,756,956, or $7.91 a share, on 1,363,993 shares in 1929. Total dividends of $4, comprising $3 regular and $1 extra, were paid during the past year.

The balance sheet shows total current assets of $40,028,397, of which $5,766,635 represents cash and call loans and $644,830 cash reserved for construction. Total current liabilities were $7,651,967, leaving net working capital of $32,476,430.

TELEPHONE SECURITIES

Now at attractive prices

At present telephone securities are selling far below their intrinsic worth, due to the depressed security markets. The telephone business—unlike most industries—has suffered but little during the current depression. Income has been maintained practically at previous high marks and with reduced operating expenses, made possible by existing conditions, profits in some instances are larger than heretofore. Securities of sound, well-managed companies, such as

Associated Telephone and Telegraph Co.
and Telephone Bond and Share Co.

are selling to yield most attractive returns; and they are inherently safe because of the demonstrated depression-proof character of the telephone industry. For facts and figures of these desirable investments please request Circular A-202.

Significance of Events Is Discussed.

ceeding rapidly towards complete disintegration.

The results were what might have been expected. Experienced investors began to talk of complete loss of their accumulated fortune. Description of the "precipice" ahead of us became commonplace conversation. Individuals who had once been credited with common sense began to convert their whole investment into cash and hoard it in safe deposit vaults. As a consequence, investment securities which had given no indication of default, went to prices such as acknowledged insolvency and impending forced reorganization would not have warranted.

An Eventful Month.

Exactly what, then, is the actual situation? There is enough that is unpleasant. We have very lately had to reckon with startling deficits in company earnings, with continuing home bank failures, with very low bond prices, with a depreciated British currency. Fluctuating constantly in gold value, the consequent fright of European markets and their panicky run upon our gold. But the eventful month just ended has resented also a list of occurrences very different in character, of a kind which the lately despondent markets had apparently expected never to see again. They have come from so different directions and have touched on problems so divergent that the public mind has not yet grasped them as a whole.

The strong home banks are about to apply in concerted form the White House program of relief for weaker and hard pressed institutions, to avert forced sale of their securities. The commerce commission has proposed a plan of relieving hard pressed railways through rate advances and the judicious distribution of the proceeds, the railways are preparing their assent. The French premier has at the White House committed France in principle to cooperation with the United States. In vital measures for restoring international financial confidence, and foreign bonds have risen.

Repays Credits.

Abroad, the sweeping nationalist victory has ensured the return of England to sound fiscal policies and possibly to trade recovery; the Bank of England is repaying the "emergency credits" extended by foreign central banks. America has stood four square during the raid of frightened Europe on its gold, has met all demands and assured the world of its ability to continue meeting them.

In so doing, it has allayed the foreign panic, vindicated the soundness and prestige of American finance, and possibly averted surrender of gold payments by other European countries, and the drain of gold is near its end. Within a week, signs that the hysterical hoarding of cash in this country was going out of fashion have become plainly visible.

While all this was happening wheat had risen 15 cents a bushel since Oct. 9, with all other agricultural products following. This is the other side of the past month's economic picture; it is not overdrawn. How much or how little weight Wall street will grant to this series of developments, as the solution for our troubles, doubtless still depends on Wall street's mood, and Wall street is as obstinate in drawing gloomy inferences as it was when in 1929 it interpreted everything in the news as meaning a greater boom. But even Wall street would probably admit that the sequence of events does not suggest the "precipice."

Report Chase Officials to Visit Cuba on Loan Question

HAVANA, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Information, Spanish language newspaper, said today officials of the Chase National bank of New York would come to Havana next week to discuss how Cuba may pay $20,000,000 owed the bank on short term loans made for public works projects.

The loan, due early this year but several times extended, is guaranteed by $40,000,000 worth of government bonds now held in the treasury. Thirty days' extension, granted this month, expires Nov. 14.

MEN

THIS ADVERTISEMENT IS ADDRESSED TO THOSE WHO ALREADY ARE TRAINED AND EXPERIENCED SALESMEN AND AS WELL TO AMBITIOUS MEN WHO WOULD LIKE TO LEARN HOW TO SELL AND HOW TO SECURE A PERMANENT POSITION WITH OUR COMPANY.

IF SEEKING A POSITION of actual and present opportunity to make money if you think you could do so by this work successfully and would like to identify itself as our man like it—our Chicago executives invite you to interview with them for the following facts and the reasons for them:

1. OUR BRANCH OFFICES were extended into the principal trading centers throughout the United States and our business became of national importance in 1924 and 1925; yet this is by far our most successful year, this month will be our largest year, this month will be our largest month, and it will be our twenty-second successive record sales month.

2. CANCELLATIONS are the lowest percentage in our history, and in Chicago this is a record low month; in one of our largest and in several of our smaller cities throughout the country last month and in April there were not but a single cancellation or repossession.

3. OBVIOUSLY our men are making money—and they are making more this month in Chicago than ever.

4. OUR MEN thoroughly enjoy this work and membership in the forward-stepping organization. They take pride in their positions and achievements. By doing their work successfully they are secure in the permanency of their opportunity in an unlimited and unending market.

THE REASON for the above facts may be given in a single statement: A product of incomparable service, superiority, universally needed and marketed under intelligent organization policies.

THIS PRODUCT, the present model of which was introduced in the market less than two years ago, has won the confidence and love of the men who sell it to an extent never before in the experience of the company—not from the amazingly powerful demonstration covering the full operation of interesting and startling surprises but from the genuineness of its service; its freedom from the natural practicability and ready sale in the hands of the customer in the same kind of success as under the practiced manipulation of the salesman.

TO THE MAN LOOKING for permanent employment, these things are very important, for while the present earnings may result fortunately, the future and growing prosperity as a salesman and growing prosperity as a company only result from established and widespread customer confidence.

RECENTLY we have received over 800 letters from enthusiastic men, of whom one, the man who earned over $1,500.00 the month his letter was dated and then over $1,800 the following month wrote as follows: "I desire to say my duty to express my thanks to you for bringing into this business I was either in business of my own or held good positions. Having been a salesman all the wonders of your product from the house-to-house salesman. I decided to handle this specialty unit. To my surprise I found selling it is not hard work, but rather a pleasure, and has gained for me a greater popularity in all walks of life. People take real delight in sending me to their friends, which in turn is making me far more money than I thought could be possible."

WE COULD fill this page with such facts and evidence. You will see these truths reflected in the interest, earnestness, and confidence of the men of our powerful Chicago organization.

IF YOU QUALIFY in character—if you would like to secure a position with our company, and if you have the adaptability to learn the basic principles of the industry to apply what you learn, come in for personal interview with our Chicago executives. Prove, by your complete interview with our Chicago executives, that you are the kind of man we like it—the reasons for them:

Why pay more than Household's low rate?

The Nationally known Household Loan Plan offers cash loans of $50 to $300 to husbands and wives at reasonable rates.

Household's rate on all loans above $100 is almost one-third lower than the maximum permitted by the small-loan law. We voluntarily established this low rate in 1928, and our customers have benefited ever since. This rate remains the same until the loan is paid off. It does not increase as the unpaid balance decreases.

For example:
The average monthly cost of a $200 loan, repaid in 20 equal monthly payments, is $2.68. This is the lowest cost in Chicago.
